BRUTAL ASSAULT BY

POLICE IS CHARGED

and Sam Tobe struck him on the face.
The man returned the blow. That was the brute who was over Tobe's eye.
"Who was the man that was hit by Tobe?"
"I don't know."
"He was employed by the police, wasn't he?"
The sergeant admitted that he was.
He further said that as Tobe dealt the first blow, the policeman intended to arrest him for assault.
"They told me they did not touch him," said the sergeant. "They said Tobe was merely pretending and by so doing fell into a fit, a faint, or something like that. This Belmont Hotel was raided not long ago. There is a charge of keeping a house of ill-fame now pending against Solomon Tobe." No one appears to have seen the alleged manhandling of Tobe, save members of the Tobe family. Fanny Dorstein, aged 9 years, said that she saw one policeman strike Mrs. Tobe on the face.
"I am going to lay a charge of assault against the police," said Solomon Tobe to the World.
Last night Sam Tobe was in bed. According to the attending physician he is recovering from the bruise and shock, and will soon be able to leave his room.

Police Deny Charges.

The story related by the Tobe family and friends is flatly contradicted by the police constables and the officers.
They claim that the Tobe clique have stretched the tale in an attempt to get revenge on the police for recent vigilance as a result of which the proprietors of the establishment found themselves in court.
Sergeant Duncan and Patrol Sergeant Reburn both gave The World their version of the Tobe episode. The side of it is that the two spotters were sent into the store and secured their goods. When they got outside young Tobe followed, slightly finding out who they were. He rushed at one man and gave him a black eye. Then he turned to the other man. The plainclothesmen ran up and Tobe disappeared into the building. The officers pursued. The old couple, Mr. and Mrs.
Tobe, then took a hand. They used the officers' heads as targets for bottles, glasses and anything that came handy. The young man was also putting up a stubborn resistance and more noise was created by none to selectly gathering, who the police say, generally did their way to Tobe's.
Finally Police Constable Grimes (282) appeared on the scene and took a hand. Tobe, it was pulled to the door. He said that this time he would go to the station and collapsed in his door. The doctors were summoned and the police claim stated that the man suffered from a bad heart and that it would be dangerous to move him in his present condition. Accordingly, he was allowed to go to bed. But a charge of assaulting the spotters was laid against him this morning. The police said the man's condition was brought about by his own wild actions and the fear of going in the patrol wagon.

BRIDGE CLUBS ONCE MORE.

Tide Sweeps Back With Closing of Gaming Houses.

LONDON, June 7.—The closing of private gaming houses has had the effect of tilting the game of bridge, which was practically deserted.
When the "joints" are in full swing there is no chance against the delicious of gambling, and the deter, where women are concerned.
It is said information about the existence of gambling houses was first given to the police by a woman who was interested in a well-known mixed bridge club when she found its members were deserting bridge for chemin de fer.

J. H. PETERS IS NOW

GERMAN CONSUL

Local Business Man Appointed to Succeed Late S.

Nordheimer.

BEEN HERE EIGHT YEARS

Document of Appointment

Bears Autographs of King

George and Kaiser.

J. Henry Peters of 7 Sherbourne street, manufacturer of textile specialties, has received notification from the German and British governments that he is appointed to succeed the late S. Nord-heimer as German consul for Ontario.

He succeeds the late S. Nord-heimer, who died in his city eleven months ago. Since the death of Mr.
Nordheimer, Mr. Peters has been acting consul and his appointment was not altogether unexpected.

The documents confirming the appointment bear the autographs of King George V. and Emperor Wilhelm.
The consul is one of the few German officials to whose selection the emperor gives his personal attention. In the case of Ontario the consulate is honorary in character, as no salary is assigned to those who hold it.

It will be the duty of Consul Peters to promote trade, commerce and shipping interests and to give advice and assistance to any German citizen or any citizen of a state friendly to Germany in his own person or through the institution of the consulate.

The newly-appointed consul was born in Barmen, Germany, in 1865. His education included training in a military institution in addition to the regular academic studies. At the age of nineteen years he migrated to New York and some time later to Toronto.

He afterwards organized a business in dress trimmings. In 1903 he opened a branch in Toronto and in 1905 he was resided here. A daughter married Dr. Gordon Hyland of this city. Three of Mr.
Peters' sons are at present connected at Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines.

Mr. Peters is a member of the C.M.A. of the Toronto Society of Commerce and the Ontario Society of Commerce. He holds membership in the Ontario and National Clubs. He is also connected with several German clubs, among them the Deutsche Gesellschaft, which he reorganized, the Deutsche Verein, the Toronto Liederkreis, the Germania Club, Montreal, and the Deutsche Verein, New York.

Unique Position.
Consuls appointed by the British and German governments hold a somewhat unique position inasmuch as each represents in his own person the institution of law and order in his province. Mr.
Peters will not be allowed to leave Ontario for any considerable length of time without first receiving the consent of the Imperial Chancellor of Germany, and he will be held personally responsible for any miscarriage of justice or other serious occurrence which may take place in his absence.

In conversation with The World Mr.
Peters expressed his confidence that the so-called German crisis is past and gone.
"It has always been my opinion," he said, "that the intimacy of blood relationship existing between the royal houses of Britain and Germany would prevent matters coming to the extreme stage. The fact that King George and Queen Mary visited Berlin some weeks ago on the occasion of the marriage of the daughter of the Kaiser, and that the Duke of Cumberland seems to indicate that the bonds of friendship will be restored."

Mr. Peters in his official capacity will not concern himself with political disputes, but will be charged with the diplomacy. That branch of imperial service is handled by a consul-general resident at Montreal.

BUFFALO BILL RECOVERING.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 7.—Col.

William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) is much improved tonight following a partial collapse and a narrow escape from nervous prostration on Friday following the afternoon performance of his show here.

Col. Cody after appearing at Friday afternoon's performance went to the home of his cousin, Charles O. Ward, for a short visit. It was while there that he became suddenly unconscious, but a physician was called and he was soon restored. Tonight he was in excellent spirits and said he expected to leave on Sunday for Atlanta to join the show.

DROPPED DEAD IN CAVE.

John Faye, a well-known Toronto restaurantier, dropped dead in his cave last night. He was 58 years of age and had been in fairly good health. Mr. Faye owned what is familiarly known as Romero's restaurant on King, near Bay.

He was a well-known figure in the city, and was a railroad contractor. He is survived by five daughters and one son, William Faye of Toronto.
