

Page 64. The population of Greenland is about 7000. Lieut. Peary thinks there may be towards 750,000 square miles in Greenland with four-fifths covered by inland ice.

Page 66. It is stated that the mountains of the west coast near Umanak Fjörd, north latitude 71° , are 5000 to 7000 feet high, and some travellers have reported peaks at Cape Farewell, on the south coast, 8000 to 10000 feet high. The Petermann peaks have been calculated at 7000 to 11000 feet above the sea.

APPENDIX—PART THREE.

FROM THE MORAVIAN HISTORY OF GREENLAND, BY DAVID CRANTZ, THIS LIST OF THE BISHOPS OF GREENLAND IS TAKEN.

1. Eric, even before 1120, was appointed by Pope Paschal II, but he was not regularly installed bishop, neither had he any episcopal seat. He mostly went up and down the country edifying the churches and at last went to Wineland to convert the heathen there, North America, as is mentioned in six different vellums.

2. Arnold, 1121. He was afterward the first Bishop of Hammer in Norway.

3. Jonas I, 1150.

4. Jonas II, 1188.

5. Helgo, 1212.

6. Nicholas, 1234.

7. Olaus, 1246. Under this bishop three Greenland deputies, Odd, Paul and Lief, either made peace with, or submitted to, the Kings of Norway. This bishop also assisted at the consecration of Hakon, archbishop of Drontheim.

8. Thordar or Theodorus, 1288.

9. Arno, 1314.
