John Dixon and his daughter, Mrs. Frances McConnell, filed a claim for damages against a G. T. R. employe, M. Tracey, to-day. It alleges that under the promise of marriage Tracey accomplished the widow's ruin, and that a criminal operation was afterwards performed, from which the plaintiff never recovered her health. Tracey says that it is all blackmeil.

Reception to a Bride.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church gave a reception in the school room to-night to by Mersames and Macherson, the bride its pastor recently brought home. The school was beatifully decorated with flowers, and Rey. Mr. Gourlay presided. A capital program of music was contributed by Mesdames McArthur and Wickstom, the Misse sMullen, Vallance and Mackenzie and Messrs. Barlow and Bellhouse. Last evening Mrs. MacPherson received the pleasant surprise of a handsome case of silver knives and forks, given by the Ladies' Association of the church.

Berryman pructachly admits that the above is true, and says he did not describe the pure of the formation of the formation of the formation of the provided th was towards a sancper division between the sacerdotalism of the high church and the progressiveness of the non-conformists. What were known as the Free Churcnes had contributed more towards accommodation for public worship since 1851 than had the Anglicans, although the latter had prospered from the Oxford movement. The non-conformists outnumbered them also in communicants, as well as in Sunday schotars, in spite of the fact that Anglicans had accused them of favoring godiess schools, because they opposed the introduction of the priest into the Public Schools.

The trend of thinking along the line of Biblical criticism was to the effect that the higher criticism dreaded 20 years ago had proved a friend to the Church of Christ. As a radical whose party had been turned out by a combination of clergy and publicans, he was not so hopeful of the political situation in his native land. DEAD BABY IN A BASKET

Found on Dundas-Street Early Yesterday—
Inquest Adjourned for a Week.

Coroner Lynd last night opened an inquest on the remains of an unknown child found on Dundas-street early yesterday morning by Angus Walker of 152 Brockavenue.

Mr. Walker was walking along Dundas-street at about 6.30, and when near the corner of St. Clarens-avenue saw a basket covered with paper lying near the sidewalk. His curiosity led him to examine the basket, and on taking off the cover he found in the basket. The nipple was in the dead child's mouth, and the bottle was found in the basket. Three more elk were placed in the enclosure at High Park last night. One solitary animal has had the full run of the place since last Thursday, and apparently did not take kindly to its new abode and separation from the rest of the herd, for he made the park echo and re-echo with his weird calls, terrifying bicyclists, who were not accustomed to such wild roars. All the elk, presented by Mr. Stothers to the city, have now been safely landed. They are fine, large animals, and originally came from the Lake Winnipeg district. Mr. Stothers has had them on his farm near Pine Orchard for two years, and those which were brought down last night are comparatively tame. Elk in High Park.

Mr. Gage's Offer of Swimming Baths Acceptable - The Rosedale Ravine Drive - What Labor's Representatives Did Last Night.

The course advocated by The Toronto pal buildings was approved of by the Trades and Labor Council last night. Delegate Timms reported that the Municipa Committee viewed with suspicion any sud den acceptance of a tender $10,000 below den acceptance of a tender $10,000 below that of other tenderers, and, furthermore, stated that the interests of Toronto workmen would be well served if, in the case of close figuring, the contract was awarded to a Toronto firm. The report mentioned stated that in the interest of citizens of Toronto local tenderers should be awarded the contract on account of the money put in circulation among workingmen.

A somewhat warm discussion ensued before the report was adopted. Delegate Timms quoted figures showing that out of four tenders for the elevators, three were in the neighborhood of $40,000 and the fourth dropped to $30,000, an amount which called for a certain-amount of circumspection.

recommended to communicate to the Dominion Government that, in the opinion of this Trades and Labor Council, the regular police and military forces of Canada are ample and capable of dealing with the situation and are the only forces which should be recognized as officers of the law, and employed in its execution." This was carried unanimously.

Mr. Gage's offer Acceptable.

The council sanctioned Mr. W. J. Gage's offer regarding public swimming baths and heard a report that the civic foremen asregard the Civic Employment Bureau. G. W. Dower called attention to the fact that the people who had benefited by the construction of Rosedale Ravine-drive wanted the cost of the local improvement thrown back upon the city. Mr. Dower pointed out that originally Terontonians had voted against the drive, but, through the clever scheming of interested parties, it had been engineered, costing in all some $70,000. Of this sum $48,000 was assessed against the property-owners as local improvements, and now they wanted all Toronto to pay this sum. The council decided to oppose this. Mr. Gage's Offer Acceptable. Mr. John Appleton, President of Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council, addressed the meeting.
