Members of the with its crimson cross, were draped on either side of the church, and the tattered colors of old wars fluttered responsiyely from the dim arches above. The service was fully choral, and the boys sang with thrilling clarity and sweetness. Rev. Derwyn Owen preached from the text, Luke xxii. 27 "I am among you, as He that serveth." Had it been left to man to picture the life of God on earth, He would have been represented as a great king lording it over human kind. Jesus gloried in the title and form of a servant. There was no more appropriate subject on which to speak to members of the St. George's Society than the glory and dignity of service. Often and plainly the Lord had spoken on the need of it. Men were met by the persistent temptation to attempt to get from their brothers what would make them great, but the only qualification for greatness was service. Toronto has been waiting for nearly two years to see the much talked about production, "The Red Mill," in which those eccentric comedians, Montgomery and Stone, have been appearing in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. This evening at the Princess Theatre, this attraction will be presented for the first time in Toronto. It is undoubtedly one of the best and most unique musical offerings of the day. The engagement will be for one week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Mrs. Fiske's engagement will be played this season at the Royal Alexandra Theatra, commencing this evening, for one week. She will be seen in "Rosmersholm," the drama by Henrik Ibsen, which she recently acted in New York. The reviewers were practically a unit in declaring it to be Mrs. Fiske's best offering, and her portrayal has at once taken place among the memorable figures in the modern drama. Two of its most powerful scenes are Palesca's releasiless. erful scenes are Rebecca's relentless inquisition at the hands of Kroll and inquisition at the hands of Kroll and her confession. Even these are surpassed by the great demouament of the drama. The Manhattan Company again proves itself the best of dramatic organizations, and Bruce McRae.
