Unapproached females, who have been featuring the love-in-a-cottage conversation on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings see their prospects of facing the parson fading fast. Instalment houses, baby carriege builders, landlords, butchers, bakers and grocers are only a few of the business interests which view with apprehension the attempt to discourage matrimony.

What the new firm will do to a man's wardrobe for ten cents a day is indeed plenty. Here is a partial list of the promises which are guaranteed to "love to cases in other cities where a subscriber tried to ring in three or four of his brothers on a single dime. "Let us be a mother to you for 10c a day."

"All the comforts of married life without a mother-in-law."

"We do the work your wife has kicked on doing, and we don't talk back."

These extraordinary inducements offered by a first-ald-to-the-bachelor concern uptown are calculated to put rust on the wedding bells in the neighborhood of Longacre-square. The success of the scheme means that as far as New York is concerned Cupid's usefulness is at an end. (Saturday Evening Post.)

There was a time when the only women in Wall-street were the visitors and a few who ventured down with their savings to be shorn like ordinary lambs. To-day you will find them competing with men on the same equality of brains and shrewdness. Some of them have demonstrated the remarkable fact that they know how to keep secrets better than men.

fact that they know how to keep secrets better than men.
One of the best known and most capable is Miss Katherine Harrison, who has been for some time the secretary of Henry H. Rogers. She is his confidant and knows, perhaps, more about his business affairs than any other person, including the Rogers lawyers.
No one has ever been able to see Mr. Rogers in business without seeing her first. She makes all his engagements and arranges practically all his time. She is more than a mere private secshe is more than a mere private sec-retary; she is an adviser. She receives a selary of ten thousand dollars a year. Another one of the highest-paid wo-men in Wall-street is Miss Giles, who is a cotton expert and who is in the employ of a large brokerage house. Her reports and forecasts affect the market and are easerly awaited and read all over the country. Another woman has mastered the difficult technical details of foreign exchange and makes a specialty of this in a big banking house. Samuel Nordheimer. Mrs. A. F.
