PROVINCIAL REPORT

Hundred Thousand Bushels Increase in the Yield of Beans.

Statistics of the field crops of Ontario for the 1917 season, compiled from individual returns by farmers to the Ontario Bureau of Statistics, and the probable yields estimated by an experienced staff of correspondents, were issued in a report yesterday by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. According to the report the crop conditions in the province are highly satisfactory, the acreage under cultivation being much greater than a year ago. It is estimated that including the hay and pasture land there are 275,000 more acres producing this season than a year ago.

A feature of the report is the increased acreage of land devoted to beans, the yield this year being estimated at approximately 100,000 bushels more than a year ago. This crop will be a source of revenue to the farmers, as it is stated that contracts were closed by dealers early in the spring for beans at 35 and 36 a bushel. ## NEW IDEAS IN FARM BUILDINGS AT THE EX.

When labor conditions make building on the farm almost out of the question, there is something wonderfully interesting about the modern building ideas demonstrated by the Metal Shingle & Siding Co. Limited, at the fair grounds.

This is the company that aroused so much comment a few years ago when the introduction of the steel truss barn—a model of which is still at the Ex. This fine type of barn, modern to the last detail, can be built in from ten days to two weeks' time. It is a boon to the farmer with a building problem to face.

This year they will introduce another wonderful building idea—the sectional implement building, which, as they show at the grounds, can be put up by two or three men in two hours. This is a good-sized building of the highest type of construction. Every farmer should see this. It may save him a great deal of trouble if he has to provide storage for implements, etc.

There are sectional garages, too, the company shows some as low as $70—a complete building of the latest design and ready to set together.

An invention of the greatest interest to farmers is the Preston lighting and ventilating ridge. This device combines the finest type of lighting with the very complete ventilator. It can be fitted to any type of roof. It is being fully explained by the manufacturers at the Exhibition.

In the splendid Western Canada territory served by the Grand Trunk Pacific, are depicted, and there are samples of soil, dairy and farm products and specimens of the mineral wealth of British Columbia. The new route of Alaska is shown in an attractive manner, while the Transcontinental route, via North Bay, Cochrane and Cochrane, connecting Eastern and Western Canada and offering opportunities for thousands of homeseeekers in North America, has a prominent place. Representatives competent to give all information concerning the territories served by the Grand Trunk System are in attendance.

EXHIBITION WORTHY OF JUBILEE YEAR

Given Good Weather and Support of Citizens Will "Beat the Million."

PARK TRANSFORMED

Workmen Hustling to Complete Scenery for Grand Stand Spectacle.

When the gates of the Canadian National Exhibition open at 10 o'clock Monday morning the visitors will be introduced to the greatest fair yet produced by the directors. It has made wonderful progress in the last decade, but this year it can be truly said it will be greater than ever. No effort has been spared to accomplish this, and no detail has been overlooked that counts in the aggregate on success. The exhibitors and the Dominion and Ontario Governments have given the directors valuable support in making "Confederation Year" historic, and the exhibits will far exceed those of any other year. Good weather and the support of the citizens are all President Marshall and Honorary Manager Kent ask to "beat the million" and keep Toronto in the forefront of annual exhibitions.

With an army of workmen hustling at top speed, exhibitors busily engaged in preparing their show cases and stalls and concessionaries making arrangements to provide for the amusement and the wants of the visitors, the Exhibition is fast rounding into shape. Inside the gates is a hive of industry, and the finishing touches are being given to the numerous buildings, while Parks Commission Chambers has excelled himself in arranging the walks and flower beds on the spacious grounds. What recently appeared like a large waste has been transformed into a veritable flower garden, with beautiful green lawns and well-kept avenues.

As the plans are on a greater scale than ever, they necessitate a greater amount of labor and energy, and in order to have everything in readiness for the opening day the workers will be practically engaged night and day. Hundreds of them have been provided with sleeping accommodation on the grounds, so that the work may be finished with the least possible delay. None are working harder than Miss Frances Loring and her two assistants, Miss Kingsford and Miss Foster, to complete the great statue facing the entrance to the grounds, which symbolizes the "Spirit of Canada." It stands 25 feet in height and shows Canada in the form of a woman, using her arms to battle while at her feet are the lion and cub representing the British Empire. These young women, who are sculptors' work and bloomers, have been working early and late for about a week to prepare the statue for the opening day, and it is fast nearing completion. Asked if it would be ready in time, Miss Loring said it would, but they would require to work all day Sunday.

Great Spectacle.
Cully Ross, who is in the midst of a huge task in perfecting the grand stand spectacle, which shows the ramparts and fortification of old Quebec with the Indians bow-vowing on the banks of the St. Lawrence, is leaving for overseas while thousands of men and women represent the march of the provinces from 1667, promises the greatest panoramic entertainment ever staged at the fair.

Given favorable weather and the support of the citizens, the Exhibition promises to "beat the million" and all records.

Mayor Church yesterday announced that he intended to nominate James W. Somers as manager of the Exhibition. He said Mr. Somers had been the city's chief adviser and executive in connection with conventions and the entertainment of visitors, and was regarded as one of the ablest men at the city hall. In his opinion he would be a splendid man for the position.
