Naples, April 13.-The period of danhas passed, and only extreme desoion and slowly declining panic remains. Mount Vesuvius has ceased to show any signs of life. The leviathan seems to have spent itself in one enormous convulsion. Director Matteucci, who heroically holds his position in the bservatory, believes that the eruption as ended, and every outward indicaon confirms this view. No more rumings come from the bowels of the earth, giving terrifying warning to the inhabitants.
