

McGILL COLLEGE.

The Fourth Session of this University, under the amended charter, will commence in the autumn of 1856. The classes in the Faculty of Arts will open on the 10th September, those in the Medical and Law Faculties, on the first Monday of November, and those in the High School Department on the 20th August.

Erected on a basis of the broadest liberality, to the exclusion of all sectarianism and party spirit, and with the view more especially of meeting the educational wants of the protestant population of Lower Canada, this institution now offers a literary, scientific, and professional education, not inferior to that conferred by any similar institution on this continent, and it has the power of granting all the usual degrees in its several faculties.

The Faculty of Arts as now organised, possesses the means of giving a sound mathematical, classical, and scientific education; and by permitting options in the more advanced classes, by admitting occasional students, and by providing special courses of study in practical science, provision has been made for developing the special tastes and aptitudes of students, and for affording facilities to those who are desirous of studying the applications of science to the useful arts. By these arrangements the University endeavours to adapt itself to the tendencies of the age, and to the practical business of life as it presents itself in this country, while it preserves the completeness of its regular undergraduate course.

The Faculty of Medicine, the efficiency of which has been long tested and widely acknowledged, continues to maintain that high standard of professional education on which its reputation is founded.

The Faculty of Law will enter on the ensuing session with an increased staff of professors, and it now offers a liberal and thorough education to students in that profession.

In the High School Department, the course embraces a good English education in all its branches, with the French and German languages, and the Classical and Mathematical attainments necessary to entering the University. The arrangements in this department have been improved, additional instruction in French has been provided; and at the opening of the next term the school is expected to assemble in a new building fitted up with all the modern appliances of education.

Details of the terms and course of study, in the several Faculties and in the High School Department, will be found under the proper heads.

A limited number of boarders will be received into the families of the resident Professors;—terms £50 per annum. Board can be obtained in the City at from $12 to $16 per month. The Principal, the Deans of the several Faculties, and the Rector of the High School, will do all in their power to aid students in procuring suitable lodgings, and generally to promote their comfort and welfare while connected with the University.
