First Measure Of Democratic Failure Of Commissionites To Supply Necessary Information As To Their Proposals Turning Many Votes.

They Do To Reciprocity?

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The house of representatives by a vote of 296 to 16 passed early this evenling the Rucker resolution proposing a constitutional amendment for the direct election of U. S. senators. This is the first of the democratic programme measures passed by the house. Backed by a solid democratic phalanx, it went through without modification and with a speed that brought protests from the republicans. The resolution as the house approved is in the form of the Borah resolution reported out a senate judiciary committee in the closing days of the last congress. Republican opposition to the Rucker resolution in the house today was based upon the fact that it did not contain the changes afterwards made in the fight in the senate, which assured to congress continued control over elections in several states.

After six hours of debate all but 15 of the republicans voted for the passage of the resolution.

Encouraged by the smooth working of their new legislative machine which today began to grind Democratic leaders of the house are planning to extend their tariff revision programme. Until this time the only tariff tinkering determined upon included Canadian reciprocity, the free list to benefit the farmers opposed to the reciprocity bill as it stands, and the wool and cotton schedules, but now it has been determined to revise the agricultural schedule. Chairman underwood of the ways and means committee stated tonight that the house, at the rate of progress set to day, would complete the business out the reciprocity bill as it stands, and the wool and cotton schedules, but of the republican work of the republican work of the republican work of the republicans work of the

Another man who does business not far from the head of King street and who also contributed to the commission fund said yesterday that he was more dissatisfied with the way the Citizens' Committee had conducted the campaign than he ever was with the aldermen. "I expected better things from the business men at the head of the movement," he added. "They were loud in theig expressions of dissatisfaction with the present aldermen. Why then didn't they butt in and put some of their good men in the field "It is idle to say that the system is everything, and that we cannot get good government under the pre-

Comparative Calm Now Pre- Report Of Chief Inspector Of vails In Marne, But The Rioting Was Very Bad While It Lasted.

Rheims, France, April 13.—Each day the rictous demonstrations in the stape growing region of the department of Marne, which began on Tuesday following the action of the senday following the action of the senday following a resolution favoring the suppression—for the territorial delimitations of the wine producing area grow more serious and the government is taking severe measures to quell the outbreak. Pilage and the destruction of property is going on to an alarming extent throughout the disturbed area and the skies are darkend by the smoke from the smouldering ruins of the burned and sacked wine property. Millions of bottles of champague already have been destroyed.

Troops estimated to number 12, 7000 men Tanve been concentrated in the department of Marne, which region resembles a great armed camp.

ering ruins of the burned and sacked whie property. Millions of bottles of champage already have been destroyed.

Trocpa estimated to number 12-000 men mave been concentrated in the department of Marne, which recision resembles a great armed camp. The soldlers are being openly defled and on several occasions have been compelled to charge with drawn sabres before the rioters were dispersed. At Vinay the troops were actually held at bay while the mob of hundreds of discontented wine growers sacked and burned several huge wine presses and a large amount of stores. Epernay, April 13.—O ting partly to the unrelaxing vigilance of 15,000 troops, and partly to the vote in the chamber of deputies last night, mulifying the action of the senate with reference to the delimitation of the champagne district, comparative calm now prevails in the department of Marne, and there is every indication that the populace will act with more moderation from this on.

The fury of the wine growers has subsided as suddenly as it rose. The manifestants are now offering no resistance to the troops. The last marrauding band from Rillly-La-Montagne, which was marching in the direction of Rheims, was intercepted and problem in the department of their adherents to await in calm confidence the deliberation of the council of state, to which Premier Monis decided to refer the question. They are making profit out of the direction of the council of state, to which Premier Monis decided to refer the question. They are making profit out of the disturbances they created.

The leaders also declare that the march to Ay and the subsequent scenes of vandalism were instigated and directed by some unknown persons, who make fraudulent use of the grower's league in order to induce the people to follow.

Opposes Five Man Rule

Speaking to The Standard William Shaw, ex-M. P. P. and one of the best known and highly respected residents of this city, expressed himself yesterday as strongly opposed to Commission government for St. John. "I am opposed," he said, "to the principle of five men having absolute control over the city's affairs. Once in control and with the patronage in their own hands it would be difficult to disiodge them.

"From 1885 I devoted the best ten years of my life to the city, giving my whole time to the work of the Common Council, and I am convinced that the plan which it is now proposed to force upon the people would be no improvement on the present system.

"I do not believe," added Mr. Shaw, "that one working man in ten would vote for a Commission if he looked carefully into the question and realized what he was voting for. If I were a young man I would get out and work actively against it."
