The High Cost of Living

Canada is a land of countless fertile acres, and yet there is much complaint over The High Cost of Living.

Potatoes are being imported into Canada from Ireland! Meat, butter and eggs, are at top-notch prices. Many efforts are being made to ascertain the cause of these ascending prices.

But the potato is not a perfect food for man—neither are eggs, butter or meat. The only complete, perfect food for man is the whole wheat grain. It contains all the material needed for building and nourishing the perfect human body. It is brought to its highest perfection as a food in the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk or cream and a little fruit will supply all the nutriment needed for a half day's work at a cost of four or five cents. Always heat the Biscuit in the oven to restore crispness before serving. Your grocer sells it.

French Method of Developing the Bust

Mdme. DuBarrie Explains Free How the Bust May Be Developed 2 to 8 Inches in 30 Days.

"I am explaining for the first time to the ladies of America," says Mdme. DuBarrie, "the French Method of developing the bust. It is much more effective, the results appear much more quickly, the breasts become more firm, plump and symmetrical."

"Remember my face—you'll see me again."

cal, the method is more simple, the effects more lasting, and altogether beyond comparison with the results produced here.

"By this French Method, the breasts may be developed from 2 to 8 inches in 30 days. This applies to women of almost any age from young girls to elderly matrons, whether the bust is absolutely not developed at all, or has grown weak and flabby, and hangs, no matter from what cause. We suggest to our lady readers that they write to Madame DuBarrie for particulars of this remarkable French Method, enclose 2 cents in stamps for the illustrated booklet and address it to Mdme. A FAVORITE RETURNS TO THE OPERA HOUSE

Helen Grayce Company Proved an Excellent Holiday Attraction at Both Performances in Opera House Yesterday.

Presenting Wildfire, a story of the racetrack, the Helen Grayce Company inaugurated their second season in the Opera House yesterday afternoon. The opening was most auspicious, and for the next two weeks St. John theatre patrons are assured of an exceptional treat when Miss Grayce and her players will be seen in a number of the best plays produced in this company's characteristic style. The reception accorded to Miss Grayce and her associates on their reappearance was of the most cordial nature, and there is every promise that they will duplicate their success of last year.

That the Helen Grayce Company have firmly established themselves in St. John was well evidenced at both performances yesterday. Both the audience and the enthusiasm with which the players were greeted were most encouraging. As each of last season's favorites made his or her appearance he or she, was cordially received. Miss Grayce was accorded an ovation which could not fail to convince her of her popularity in this city.

Appearing in the cast yesterday were a number of last season's favorites in addition to Miss Grayce, there being Lawrence Brooks, Edwin Abbey, Gavin Harris, William McCarthy and others. A few new members have been added since last year and with their work of Friday as a criterion it is safe to predict that they too, will wig a host of friends during their stay. Altogether, Miss Grayce has grouped around her for her present engagement, a capable company who will compare very favorably with last year's organization.

In the presentation of Wildfire, yesterday afternoon and of The Squaw Man last night, there was displayed the same superb consuming, elaborate stage settings and investiture as well as that careful attention to detail which characterized the productions of Miss Grayce last season, and which won for her and her company such a high reputation. The costumes worn by Miss Grayce and the other ladies of the cast in Wildfire were among the most handsome seen here on the stage this year. The scenery, always an important factor in the company's productions, was most elaborate, adding much to the pleasure and success of the plays.

Although on their last visit Wildfire was included in the list of plays produced by the company, it proved a good selection for the evening bill yesterday, and as presented was a decidedly enjoyable holiday offering. The play in which Lillian Russell scored a great success, offers much that is of value, and is one which, when successfully presented, is capable of arousing an audience to the time of enthusiasm, especially in the second act portraying the horse race, which is the axis on which the play revolves.

No greater evidence of the success of Miss Grayce in meeting the exactions of the play could be desired than the degree of enthusiasm with which the audience yesterday entered into the spirit of the piece, and the unstinted applause meted out during and at the close of each act was ample proof of the merits of the offering and of the company.

In the role of Mrs. Barrington, Miss Grayce gave a pleasing performance. Having a charming stage presence, and performing with the grace and finish of an artist, her work was one of the features of the performance, and during the afternoon she was accorded frequent applause.

Lawrence Brooks, who during the company's stay last season, created such a favorable impression, was seen in the role of John Garrison, a lover of horses. Although not cast in a very exacting role, his work was consistently good, and he won new laurels.

Another favorite who was given a royal welcome was Edwin Abbey, whose work last year was well remembered. As Fred Sanderson, an automobile enthusiast he gave a capable portrayal of his role.

Gavin Harris and William McCarthy, two other familiar members of the company, were seen in good roles and won more friends.

Among the ladies, Caroline Morrison, in the role of Hortense, a colored maid and Rita Knight as Myrtle Wentworth, gave excellent support. Other members of the cast were well up in their respective parts.

The Squaw Man was the attraction last evening, and although a very familiar piece on account of being produced last season, the attendance was very large, and the performance was greatly appreciated by all. The several roles were well played and the scenic effects were a feature. The company will be seen in two productions daily during their stay here and as all the pieces in the repertoire have been chosen because of their merit as interest producers, it is certain that the engagement will be both a pleasurable and profitable one. This afternoon and evening a Royal Romance, a society play giving opportunity for elaborate costuming, will be the bill. On Monday and Tuesday evenings and at Tuesday and Wednesday matinees, Charley's Aunt, one of the greatest laugh producers in the history of the stage, will be produced, and the company is certain to give an excellent rendering of it.

Hot Cross Buns!

They certainly are delicious when made with Purity Flour. Simply because any food, or delicacy you can make with flour, is tastier far and finer flavored when made with Purity Flour. You just make a dozen hot cross buns with Purity, and the folks will tell you that you have surpassed yourself as a cook.

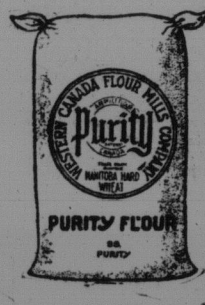

PURITY FLOUR

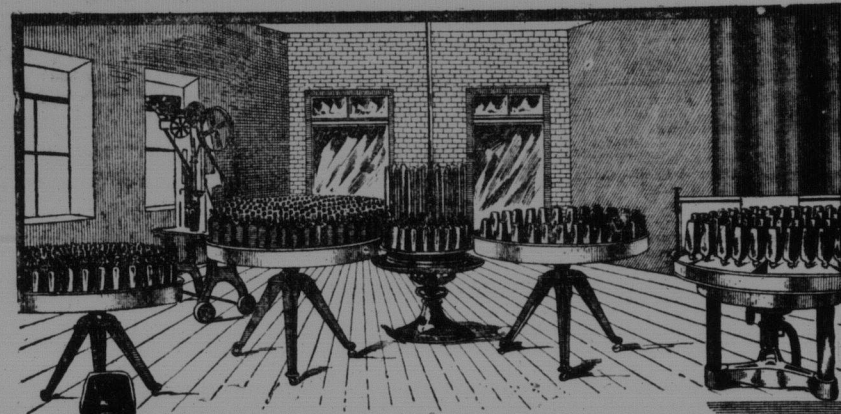

Make Hot Cross Buns with

You should always use Purity Flour because it is the best of all flour for the woman who delights to do her own baking. The mere fact that 97% of the women who give Purity a fair trial always continue to use it and speak in the highest terms of its excellent qualities—that, surely is better evidence of the Superiority of Purity flour than any others we could publish.

Purity Flour makes rare and appetizing home-made bread—delicious flaky pie, crust and light dainty cakes. You can always rely on uniformly good results when you use Purity Flour.

Add Purity to your grocery list if you want the flour that "makes more bread and better bread." It costs a little more than ordinary flour but those who know its excellent qualities best, would be willing to pay a great deal more for it.
