

A. No, I could not. I think the building :
centre of the lot.

Q. You spoke of some cultivation, a small piece o
on which side was that cultivated?

A. Just where the house was.

Q. You dont know which side that was on. Was the clearin on the part sold to Porter or on the part sold to McPherson?

A. I could not tell you, I dont know. There is a kind of a little point higher ground, and there is a slough comes in and they dont build here, they are building away back, the building was on this point and the improvements was there.

Q. There was a house there at the time of the transfer?

A. At the time of the transfer.

Q. Was it occupied? A. A little while after treaty it was an old building you see and they pulled it down.

Q. Who occupied it? A. Just Mrs. Rat.

Q. At the time of the treaty did anyone occupy it?

A. Nobody at the time of the treaty.

Q. Then a year before the treaty who occupied it?

A. Mrs. Rat.

Q. A year before the treaty Mrs. Rat occupied it?

A. Several years before the transfer, I could not say hardly, the survey was made a long while after the treaty.

Adjourned until to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock June 6, 1907, when resumed as follows- (Continuation of evidence regarding claims Nos. 46 and 47.)

WILLIAM HENRY PRINCE; Recalled;

Mr. Clark-

Q. How long is it since you saw this lot?

A. A long while before treaty.

Q. Have you seen it lately? A. Oh yes.

Q. Who is in occupation of it now?

A. Commencing north, Thomas Fiddler, the next to the south