The Farmers' Movement in Ontario is Gaining in Strength

ALL great reforms or movements have depended for their final success upon the enthusiasm and willingness to sacrifice themselves for the common cause shown by a few men. Judged by this test the movement now so well launched in the province of Ontario for the organization of the farmers of the province should prove a distinct success. Behind it are men who are determined to make it a success if this is humanly possible and who are willing to sacrifice their time and means to that end. The great success the movement has met with to date is largely due to their efforts as well as to the fact that the farmers of the province are rallying splendidly to their support.

Recently, an editor of Farm and Dairy called at the head office of The United Farmers' Cooperative Co., Ltd., at 100 Church St., Toronto, and was privileged to act as part of a meeting of the executive committee which had been in progress a good part of the day and which was nearing its conclusion. Facts that came out during the discussion were a revelation to him of the indomitable spirit that is behind this movement.

Secretary J. J. Morrison, of Arthur, Ont., is the man who has been carrying the greatest share of the load so far, and fell away in winter he worked for months arranging for the big meeting which was held in Toronto last March, when the decision to organize on a provincial basis was finally reached and the movement fully launched. On that occasion Mr. Morrison broke down under the strain and was unable to attend the sessions on the second day, and did not fully recover for some weeks after the meeting. At that time also, he refused to take any stated salary, stating he was willing to leave it to the farmers behind the movement to pay him whatever they thought his services were worth whenever they could afford it. Since then Mr. Morrison has been working almost night and day completing organization. The greater part of his time during the past two months has been spent travelling day and night addressing farmers' clubs and subordinate granges in different parts of the province. His expenses have been paid by the provincial organization, but his salary has been nothing. Recently the strain has been telling on him again. This is shown by the fact that he broke down recently while addressing a farmers' club meeting.

At the meeting of the executive referred to the officers were taking stock of the situation. They found that in spite of most rigid economy the expenses of organization, including the important items of printing, stationery, travelling expense, postage, and the rest of a modest budget had been considerably higher than had been expected. It was decided, therefore, to find how much funds would be required to conduct the affairs of the province under the best estimate possible. The United Farmers of Ontario and of the United Farmers' Cooperative Company can be held, probably about the middle of next February, after their first annual audit. The audit was carefully gone over and finally adopted and the total estimated expenditures for the next three months thereby arrived at. One of the officers present expressed his willingness to work for wages that made our editor wonder how he could possibly manage to exist on them. Then an estimate was made of the probable receipts. When the first estimate of probable receipts was completed it was found that there was likely to be a shortage of several hundred dollars. This is

Great Interest in United Farmers of Ontario

THE success that is attending the efforts of the United Farmers of Ontario to organize the farmers' clubs and subordinate Granges of Ontario, and to induce them to affiliate with the provincial organization, is remarkable. It shows how general is the realization among the farmers of Ontario that the time has come when they should be organized in a central organization as are the farmers in the Maritime Provinces and in Canada.

While in Toronto recently, an editor of Farm and Dairy succeeded in catching Secretary J. J. Morrison, of The United Farmers of Ontario, while he was in the city between two of his frequent trips of organization. When asked what success had been achieved by his recent trip to eastern Ontario, Mr. Morrison replied that it had been most gratifying. The by-laws of the United Farmers of Ontario require that when a local farmers' organization becomes affiliated with The United Farmers of Ontario if it wishes to have the privilege of purchasing supplies through The United Farmers' Cooperative Co., Limited, it must hold at least one share of stock in that company. This requirement is being readily complied with by local organizations.

Successful Meetings
"In Grenville county," said Mr. Morrison, "I attended a meeting of the Mainville and Shanly Farmers' Club. This club orders a carload of feed. At Spencerville I organized a branch of our association with John Henry, president, Wm. Clarry, vice-president, and W. J. Connall, R. R. No. 6, Spencerville, as secretary. This club decided to buy stock and gave an order for a car load of feed. At Roebuck it was raining hard, but we held an enthusiastic meeting. The farmers present decided to unite with the Spencerville Club.

"At Charleville a new club was organized, with Oscar L. Carson as president, and H. O. Bass, of Donville, R. R. No. 1, as secretary. Mr. John Carson, the township treasurer, was elected, honorary president. At a later meeting of the club, which was addressed by Messrs. Wily and Newman, the members decided to buy stock in our company and also to buy feed through us.

"At Athens, in Leeds county, a joint meeting of all the clubs of the county was held. In this county the clubs are being organized on a county basis. Mr. W. J. Water, of Lansdowne, is the prime mover.

"At Ellisville or Seeley's Bay, R. R. No. 2, I formed a new club, with Henry Pommel, president, and T. J. Pritchard, secretary. This club will take stock, and has ordered a carload of feed. The Crosby Club, by a standing vote, decided to take stock. We held a good meeting at Lansdowne, where the club had previously decided to affiliate with the provincial organization.

Dundas County Organized
"There are some splendid farmers' clubs in Dundas county. The Riverside Club, of which E. A. Van Allan, of Aultsville, is the secretary, bought stock and gave an order for goods. Before I attended their meeting they had ordered goods since last spring to the amount of $8,000. The Aultsville Club, of which Blake Heagle, of No. 6, Spencerville, is the secretary, had bought stock before I had attended their meeting. They have done business
