HERE is evidence enough that an unrest really exists in the City as it exists in our industries that employ large numbers of men. hear that The Advocate is eagerly read by these a General Election the coming Fall. THE UNREST men, and that it would be a great surprise to policy which this paper advocates. The mismanagements of Government matters have showed these men completely that new policies are CHARLES OKE urgently needed, and that the industrial and economic system which produces such results, such as the thousands who are not receiving a living wage, and others who are withheld from the necessaries of KEN. LUDLOW healthy physical life, should be changed.

This living wage problem is really at the back of the struggle be- FRED ROWSELL tween Capital and Labour, and it is a problem that must be faced in ED. BARTLETT the coming period of reconstruction. It vitally affects our prosperity SAML. ROWSELL as a producing and distributing community, and it is of almost equal importance to the future of religion. Sound and healthy religious life is impossible in a country where so many people are living under un sound and unhealthy conditions—conditions which cramp the develop- JONOTHAN DAWE ment of their bodies, and also their minds.

There may be some capable of rising above their circumstances and claiming their due in spite of them. But a great many cannot do this, because their energy is absorbed in the struggle for physical existence, or in the effort to mitigate the intensity of that struggle for themselves and their fellows.

Of course the living wage is not going to solve the great problem at one blow. It will help men to live better, but it will not always follow that they will make full use of opportunities to make themselves better citizens, as for instance, there are many rich men who have no money worries, but that does not say that as citizens their here and the following resolutions were passed unexample is one which should be emulated.

But without going into that phase of the question, which is properly one for the Churches to tackle, there is no doubt whatever that considerable unrest prevails throughout the Country as a result o the unrestricted methods of profiteers, who have been permitted to add to the burdens which alrealy lie on the people by reason of high this Fall; and prices abroad, and the increased duties which the Government have been able to collect thereby.

Unrest is all to the good when remedial measures are forced by Party supported him; and It, and the time has come in this Colony for strong and drastic action. A month has passed since the report of the Food Commission was presented. No action has been taken, and apparently the Commission itself is at a standstill. How long is this intolerable state of things to continue? When is an enquiry to be made into the profiteering on

The service was taken by Rev. Dr. Bond, Rev. W. Swann, Rev. F. R. Matthews, and the preacher was Rev. H. Arnup, one of the visiting clergymen from Canada to the Annual Conference.

Mr. Arnup spoke of the anniversary which Canada also celebrates on July 1st, as its Birthday, and made suitable reference to the great drive which proved so disastrous to the Nfld. Regiment. Basing his remarks on "the things that cannot be shaken," he showed that after all, the war has not made any appreciable difference mining properties arrived back by the to the attitude of the heathen toward Christianity; it has even drawn them closer to the work of the Missionary. The coming together of the two great Anglo-Saxon peoples will have a tremendous effect upon missionary enterprise in the future. The cooperation of England and America will mean much to the missionary cause. The preacher spoke of a generous bequest which Capt. Eric Ayre left for mission work. Special prayer for our boys on
