> The work is done. The Liberals, aye, and a large number of old-time Conservatives, have welcomed home the guardian of Ontario's rights.

The great gathering on the 16th of September, is after all a reminder to the Hon. Oliver Mowat, that deep down in the heart of the people of his native province is a warm spot for the man who has proved himself to be one in whom they could trust in the hour of trial and in the day of need. The "Welcome Home," of the tens of thousands in Toronto was the greatest ovation ever tendered a public man in Canada, but great as it was, it was only a foretaste of the glorious "cead mille faitha," which is today his portion amongst the loyalhearted Untarians who know of his devotion to his province, and his adherence to the principles of right, of equity and of justice.

Long may he live to guide the destinies of Ontario, and to hold a first place in the hearts of her people.

the Liberal Opposition in the Province of Quebec, is forty-three years of age, and first entered public life, as a parliamentarian, in 1872. In appearance he is quite youthful, and looks as if he were on the sunny side of thirty. During the past two sessions he has broken two Conservative administrations, and at the present time the Ross Government is tottering to its fall. He is of medium height with dark hair and moustache, closely trimmed. He speaks English quite fluently, although with a decidedly French accent. He appears to be full of enthusiasm and vigor. His address at the Granite Rink, Toronto, on Tuesday evening last, had the true Liberal ring about it, and was well listened to by the great audience present, and loudly applauded during its deliverance.

SCOTT ACT IN HALTON.—Clerical bulldozing was successful in defeating the repeal of the Scott Act in Halton. Over seventy preachers were on the war path, and with the most of them no story was too strong. In many sections where the Anti-Scott Act voters were largely in the majority they made piteous appeals to them to stay away from the polls.
