> Mineola, N.Y., January 8 .- Four army airplanes under the comma of Major Albert D. Smith, landed at Hazelhurst field at 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, completing the first trans-continental flight ever made. Although the planes started from San Deigo, Cal., on December 4, the actual flying time for the 4,200 mile trip was only fifty-three hours. Major Smith explained that the squadron had been compelled to remain, inactive for three weeks because of adverse weather conditions.

One thing the war examination make imperative is that every go ernment should have a health depart ment, with larger support and powers than any such now existing, and that, under competent physicians, paid by the government, a systematic health census should be made of every community. It will cost money but t will be well expended, much better than to spend large sums in bringing diseased adult aliens into our country. It is the first duty of the State to conserve the best interests of its native population. It is not only a duty but it is also an economic procedure making for the national wealth and welfare of the country.

Another demand should be forced n the attention of government ofcials, namely, the rigid inspection fall tenements, especially in crowded as and towns and cities, and the bliging of landlords to keep them in a sanitary condition. Failing to do this voluntarily, or under their own direction, the health officers should be required to take the matter out of their hands and having the work done at the expense of the owners, collected as a first charge from the rentals, to be paid to the health officers and not to the owners. ## When Foch Was Fired.

Speaking in London the other day, emier Clemenceau, of France, referred to Marshal Foch, and said: "I saw Marshal Foch one day when, suddenly and without any reason, he mployment list. It was a day I shall never forget, when he came to me and said: 'See what has come to

"He did me the honor to ask my advice. I said to him, 'Go home. No retions. Say nothing, and before many weeks are passed you will be wanted.' He had no need of my advice. Perhaps he had already guessed what it would be. His conscience would have suffered to prevent him running the risk of adding quarrels to the great national crisis through which the country was passing at that sad hour.

"He went home without a word o ation, and I believe that not a fortnight had passed before he was We had seen him on the Yser we wrist with a long tight cuff. had seen him in the St. Gond marche and we can only say by the single effort of that valiant soldier the ene my was stopped, and his soldiers, who wer not all French soldiers, were constrained when they appeared to hesitate to march to the attack,

"It was in these circumstances that e spoke those splendid words, when they came and told him, 'General, we Well, then, I attack.' He attacked,
