Resolutions Supported. In concluding, Dr. Shearer put all these suggestions in the shape of resolutions, and it was unanimously agreed to support them and ask that legislation be obtained to deal with the cases not already covered.

The members also supported a resolution that the last Sunday in June be set apart as a patriotic Sunday when special addresses may be delivered in the different Sunday schools on the work of social and moral re-

Rev. Dr. Battesby inquired if this City and District resolution regarding temperance reform meant that any party advocating resolution regarding temperance re- plish, and urged upon the synod the temperance reforms should be supported, and stated that he was unwilling to acquiesce if such were the case, as one party often used another as a cat's paw to suit its own ends.

The Liquor Traffic. Mr. Alex. Stuart, K. C., advocated a system of control by which the regulation of the liquor traffic might be more effectively accomplished than was being done by local option where the element of private profit too often creeps in. State ownership in all cases where it is not already applied to inland revenue and licenses which go to the Government or municipalities, was suggested by him. He thought one of the strongest forces now operating against universal temperance reform by which their neighbors' property will be affected. If temporary state ownership were introduced, in a short time sufficient revenue would be ob-I tained to purchase all private inter-

Supper Served By Ladies.

A number of committee reports relating to matters of routine business were passed, and then the members adjourned to the tea-room, where they the Poultry Review; Prof. W. Graham were invited to a dainty supper by the ladies of St. Andrew's. For the next two hours a most enjoyable social time was spent, and many expressions of gratitude to the ladies of St. Andrew's were heard. Dr. Ross, who presided, called upon the following for short addresses: Reverends John Johnston, Dr. McMullen, C. Sawers, R. McLeod, J. G. Inkster, J. S. Hardy and W. McGillivray.

Dr. Gray spoke particularly of the growth of the college and the fine class of men it was sending out. The present building was entirely unfitted, both in site and equipment, for the large body of students that Toast "Sister Associations" ...... were now in attendance. He urged that more suitable arrangements be made as soon as possible for the health Start Now if You Intend of the students, as the present building is sadly dilapidated.

The aim, he said, was to make Knox College one of the greatest theological institutions in the world, and Presbyterians would be recreant to a great trust if they failed to support a college doing such great work and turning out so many fine men.

All over the country the cry comes for men, and Knox College is alive to Foreign Missions.

Dr. Smith, in presenting the foreign mission report, said the real problem of foreign missions today is in the home church, which never needed the co-operation of its entire membership more than at the present time. It is the mission of the whole church to give the whole gospel to the whole world. Is it not pitiable that after

In the past this has been due to a lack of men and money, but now the church must train her guns on the indifferent ones both in the pulpit and congregation, and show them their responsibility. It is no longer a question of can or cannot, but of will or will not.

A Noble Work.

The Women's Missionary Society have been doing a noble work, and deserve tremendous credit for what they have accomplished, but it is not generally understood that their entire subscriptions are devoted to Christianizing woman and children. This year there is a deficit of nearly $14,-000. All that is needed to raise the required amount is 60 cents a year, just one ice cream a month, in order that the word of Christ may be given to the heathen. Is there a member so sum for such a great cause. The spiritual, intellectual and moral welfare of many million people is at stake. It is now or never in China, where a transition of the most startling character is taking place so rapidly, that it is bewildering. A few years and the opportunity will be gone.

This is a great result, when it is taken into consideration that the average working man in Japan receives but 121/2 cents a day for wages. The last church built was the McKay Memorial Church, and is entirely selfsupporting. Dr. McKay's last instructions were that more attention be given to educational work than evangelization, if the church wished to make the progress it should. At present we need very urgently in Formosa a high school, a women's school and a hospital, as the influences of the present institutions of this nature are decidedly anti-Christian. In concluding, Mr. Gauld spoke of the splendid results Dr. R. V. McKay's recent trip around the world would accomnecessity of pushing the laymen's missionary movement energetically in the districts, adopting a system by which weekly offerings for missionary purposes should be obtained.

Dr. McKay's Address. Dr. R. V. McKay was given a rousing eception as he stepped to the platform. His remarks were on China, and were of the most optimistic nature.

"People here in the west little know of the change that is coming over the great ston, R nation of the east," he said. "There is a Budge.
