THE WOMAN'S CORNER

BLOUSE IN CASHMERE DESIGN.

Thin voiles, cloths and sating in rashmere designs and colors are decidedly leading in popularity for separate waists. There is usually touch or two of black trimming to emphasize the rich cashmere colorings

FASHIONS

The pretty cotton voile frocks are martly trimmed with bands for the hems and as finishes for Many little Persian bow and cravat plaited net and lace frills are border-of the prettiest cuff and colhave flat bands on collars embroidered linen with laited frills bordering them, there are close stock collars frills running around their ower edge just at the base of the the season's novelties is the allover to do my own mending? (3) I have a Persian designs printed on white and very dark complexion and some peoblack net. It is used for overdrapple call me "squaw." This annoys me exceedingly. What can I do to make in mild salt water and leave for a

It is economy to make white in-

Do you know what to do with father's shirt when it is worn around the collar band, but otherwise good?

Make it into rompers for the yearold child by using the buttoned front of the shirt for the back of the rompers, shaping the smaller arm size slanting down to sides of the shirt. Shape the bottom for legs and gather stead of colored cotton frocks for children's playtime. It soils scarcely more than ginghams, does not fade, and stains are easily removed.

It will need no pressing.

CYNTHIA GREY'S

Dear Miss Grey: Please tell which is correct, to part the hair on the right or left side. 2. Can you give a remedy so as to have rosy cheeks or with a lady, which side of the path

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Is it proper to strangers. go out walking with a young men on Sunday evening, after church? 2. Do do your parents think about it? 2. Wear short dresses and low shoes? They may not be wrong, but are extremely foolish. 3. The elder.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. What material would you suggest for a thin summer dress? 2. How should it be made for a girl of 14? 3. Would a wide girdle belt be too old? 4. What kind of a light skirt would be nice to wear with white waists? 5. How can blackheads be removed without injuring the face? EX-SCHOOLGIRL.

1. Pongee voile, foulard or crepe de chine. 2. Call at our office and ask to see issue of May 14. The pattern, No. 8703, on page 5, would be a pretty style. 3. I would suggest a soft ribbon effects are shown, and some of the sash instead; knot loosely at the left side or behind. 4. Any preferred shade of mohair, henrietta or panama. 5. Try holding your face over a bowl of steaming water for ten minutes; then massage gently, but firmly, with a soft towel. Afterwards rub in a quantity of the best cold cream you can buy. Give this treatment once a week and avoid eating pastries and greasy foods.

Dear Miss Grey: I am sixteen; could you tell me a pretty way to arrange my hair? It is straight and very long. One of the daintiest fabrics among (2) Do you not think I am too young completely veil the gowns them stop? (4) Is it wrong for me to accompany my young man, who is

To take brown stains off the neck for seven or eight hours. After several applications, the ugly mark poultice, renewing when it dries.

should disappear. - ball player, to the match games, and cheer for the team?

SWEET SIXTEEN.

Answer.—(1) Part in front, bringing back loosely over the ears; roll up behind and fasten with a ribbon bow. A more girlish way would be to braid down the back in one or two braids, tying at the back of the head and near the ends with ribbon. (2) Not at The sooner you learn the better. Why not relieve mother this much? Why worry over such a trifle? Try not to resent any teasing remarks should the gentleman take?

A READER.

1. The left. 2. Get and keep your system in good order; eat plain food—not too many sweets, or pastry; get plenty of fresh air and sleep, and do not forget the daily bath. 3. The outside usually.

joke about it yoursen.
will soon stop. If you are sweet and obliging no one will think about your complexion. (4) "My young man"—and you just 16 years old? Well! I think you ought to have someone else along—your older sister, or girl friend; I should not think you would wish to sit alone among made. Turn the tables, instead, and joke about it yourself. Then others

Dear Miss Grey: (1) I am seventeen. Am I too young to be engaged? (2) you think it is right to play such am I too young to be engaged? (2) games as "Wink" and "Clap-In-Clap-Could you tell me a pretty way to do Out, where the forfeit is a kiss? 3. my hair? It is curly, but very thin. If two girls (sisters) are at an enter- Could you also tell me how to make it tainment in the evening, which, the grow thick? (3) I want to wear short older or the younger, should break it dresses, but my ankles are very large JANETTE G. and I don't like to do so. Do you 1. You do not state your age. What think it would be all right for me to > WORRIED. Answer.-(1) Frankly, I think you are too young. In seven or eight years you will know your own mind better. It is a serious thing to tie palanquin, or litter, in which he was yourself up to a man for life. Don't be in too big a hurry. (2) I think the present mode of parting in front and combing it over a turban pad at the back would suit your hair. Bind the head with a row or two of black velvet ribbon. Ask your druggist for a good preparation, and after washing, rub in with tips of the fingers. Continue the massage each night. This ought to help your scalp and hair. (3) Do not wear low shoes if your ankles are large; they make the ankle bones appear larger. You might do with short skirts and high shoes, but wear a long skirt with low ones.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

To set blue 'n ginghams, chambrays is a little different from the ordinary and linens, soak material over night design is always a welcome change. is a little different from the ordinary in water to which turpentine has been China silks and challis, lawns and of this kind. The design here shown If moths get into a carpet wet a may be finished with bell or bishop clean towel with clear water and lay sleeve and with turnover collar, or it over the spots that have been at-36-inch size.

celpt of 10 cents.

Measurement—Bust Waist Age (if child's or misses' pattern)......

chulton—Be careful to inclose above illustration and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure you need only mark it 32, 34, or whatever it may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26, or whatever it may be. If a skirt, give waist and length measure. When misses or child's pattern, write only the figure veneragenting the configure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "years." Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents in cash or in postage stamps.

LONDON ADVERTISER.

DAILY MENU BREAKFAST. Bread and Milk.

DINNER.

Veal Cutlets Breaded. Mashed Potatoes. Spinach. Date and Rhubarb Pie. Small Coffee.

Scalloped Potatoes With Cheese. Orange and Grape-Fruit Salad. Rolls. Chocolate Cake, Tea

Advice to the Cook To make bread and milk, cut stale bread into squares, cover wih cold milk and allow to soak five to ten minutes. See that there is some milk over and above what the bread has soaked up. Put on to boil, and when it is just comes to the boil dish into bowls and serve with or without sugar. The bread must not soak too long, it must dlp in egg beaten with two tablepoonfuls of water, then in sifted read crumbs, and drop into a plentifully greased pan. Turn. Serve with omato sauce.

THE MESSAGE

Author of "The Wings of the Morning,"

"The Wheels of Fortune." CHAPTER XI. The Blue Man-and a White. When Warden came to his senses he found himself lying in impenetrable darkness. A half-formed belief that he was blind impelled him to put his hands to his face. Then he awoke to realities. His wrists were bound tightly, move-ment was painful and almost impossible yet he seemed to be strapped to some thing that moved. By using his eye-lids he soon succeeded in convincing himself that his eyes were uninjured, but the cold sweat of fear induced by that first horrible suspicion revived him more speedily than any stimulant. Straining his cramped limbs to test both his bonds and his injuries, he was not long in and his injuries, he was not long in reaching a fairly accurate estimate of a disastrous plight. His head and left shoulder were stiff and sore, and he be-lieved he had been rendered unconscious by a blow that caused a slight concurs sion of the brain. There was a bitter taste in his mouth which he recognized as poppy-juice, a preparation of opium widely used in Northern Africa as a soothing tonic. This, in itself, was somewhat reassuring. It suggested a crude effort to revive him. Again, though tied hand and foot, he was lying comfortably and the inversion representations. fortably, and the irregular swaying mo-tion which puzzled his waking thoughts was quickly explained by the shuffling

Turn and twist as he would, there was no glimmer of light, and the most closely-woven fabric that ever left a loom could not altogether shut out the rays of the tropical sun rising over Morocco when last he saw its beams. Then a gust of cool air blew in on his clammy cheek through a slit in the litter-cloth, and the astounding knowledge that it was already night was forced upon him. Now, he was almost certain that he suffered from no injury grave enough to entail fifteen or twenty hours of complete insensibility, and the only reasonable concusion was that he had been diversed. cusion was that he had been drugged.

That was a displeasing explanation of the taste of poppy-juice, but he felt too sick and weary to care very much what strange hazard had brought him to his present state. It sufficed that he was a captive, that the Water Witch would sail without him, that he would be discredited in his service for missing an appointment of the utmost importance. These ills were obvious. No matter what other misfortunes the immediate future might have in store, his visit to Hassan's Tower had proved unlucky in all save its direct object, the recovery of the

Its direct object, the recovery of the ruby.

Perhaps even that slight recompense for these positive evils had been taken from him. His revolver was gone, and the chisel, as he could determine by rolling a little from side to side. Probably his pockets were emptied long since. He tried to raise his body ever so slightly, but failed, yet he fancied he could feel the pressure of the ring against his ribs. And in fact it was still in his possession, for those who had robbed him, though for those who had robbed him, though they unfastened his waistcoat to learn if he wore a money-belt, had missed the hidden rocket. He was deadly tired. The nauseating drug with which he had been dosed was still powerful enough to render him. dosed was still powerful enough to render him almost incapable of reasoned thought. After the effects of the first thrill of restored, vitality had passed, he listened idly to the pattering feet and muttered talk of his bearers. Then he resigned himself to fate, and fell asleep. When he awoke he was still in the palanquin. But the curtains were drawn apart, it was daylight, and a Moor was unfastening his bonds. The man spoke to him in a jargon that was incompreunfastening his bonds. The man spoke to him in a jargon that was incomprehensible. Warden sat up. He felt cold and stiff, and a twinge of pain in his shoulder drew from him a stifled exclamation in English. The Moor spoke again. This time it was dimly discernible that he was asking in execrable French if monsieur wished to eat and drink.

Warden answered him in language. "Why am I here?" he said, glancing round a rough camp pitched in the shade of a grove of tall trees, "You must address the ever-to-behonored Nila Moulluh. I am only a servant," was the reply "I am not French," am an Englishman." began Warden, " The man growled an oath in Arabic, and repeated the request about food. It was useless to question him.

"What is on the menu?" said Warden, with a wry smile.
He was not to be starved, it seemed.

Perhaps some explanation of his present predicament would soon be forthcoming. At any rate, his wits would be clearer after a meal. He had eaten nothing during twenty-four hours at the lowest reckoning. He saw now that a new day was well advanced. The trees opposed a dense screen to the sun, but that luminary was high in the heavens, and he was sure he had not dreamed of the night journey in the palanquin. A dezen Moors, all armed to the teeth, lolled on the grass or sat on the gnarled roots of trees in the glade that sheltered the bivouac. At some little distance there was a palanquin similar to his own, save that its trappings were more gaudy, and the bearer-poles were painted a bright blue. The curtains were closed. but the color of the paint, added to the title of the moullah to whom the Moor referred him for information, accentuated a notion slowly taking shape in his brain. He had not forgotten the extraordinary being who gazed at him so threateningly from the top of the tower. It was a fair assumption that the man had dropped a stone on him at the very instant he took the downward leap that would have secured his safety. Was he a prisoner in the hands of this fanatic? And for what purpose was he brought into the interior? That he was far away from the coast was determined by many signs. The keen, invigorating mountain air, the hardy types of trees and shrubs, the absence of the myriads of insects that would have made a grove on the plains a place of anything but rest at that hour—these things were an open book to one accustomed to life in the jungle. He reflected bitterly that if he had practiced the first rudiments of the scout's art the previous day, he would now, in all likelihood, be on board the steamer. Then he remembered the ring, and pressed a he remembered the ring, and pressed a hand to his breast while ostensibly rubbing his injured shoulder. Yes, it was there—the one article left him. Watch. money, revolver, even a handkerchief and a box of matches, were stolen, but the ring remained. He wondered dully how the Blue Priest would have accounted for the piece of tattooed skin—with its Arabic-Latin quotation from the Epistle of St. Paul to the Hebrews and its Portuguese announcement of the secret hoard of Hassan's Tower—if it had happened to be in his pocket. But it reposed in a portmanteau in his cabin, together with portmanteau in his cabin, together with the canvas bag containing the gourd. When he was missed, would the skipper examine his baggage to discover some clue to his identity? If so, that weatherclue to his identity? If so, that weather-beaten tar's remarks when he looked at the face of M'Wanga, one-time king of Benin, would be interesting.

The Moor came back with a dish of pillau, chicken stewed with rice. It was exceedingly appetizing. Some coarse bread must not soak too long, it must not be boiled at all, only come to the boil, and if it is stirred at all only in the most careful way, so as not to mash the bread and make a poultice of it, and it must not wait or be reheated. Otherwise, you may not like what is really a simple and delicious dish.

For the veal cutlets, have the butcher cut them rather thin, trim neatly, and cut in individual helpings,

Saturday's Great Millinery

More of Our High-Grade Trimmed Hats in the Saturday Clearance. Irresistible in Style, Beauty and Price.

Word pictures are out of the question in such a limited space as this, but come and view these exquisite creations. Many are to be sold at half price. The following list shows how limited the quantities are at some prices. The earlier you come the better your choice.

9 Hats—Worth $8.00 to $10.00, for .. $5.00

13 Hats—Worth $1.50 to $2.00, for...$1.00 | 18 Hats—Worth $5.00 to $6.00, for...$3.00 17 Hats—Worth $3.00 to $4.00, for...$2.00 8 Hats—Worth $7.00 to $8.00, for...$4.00

Saturday's Ready-To-Wear List

This list of Ready-to-Wear Specials shows how we are prepared with new styles in seasonable garments for Saturday purchasers, and the prices are very low. See these:

Ladies' White Tub Skirts

In seven gore panel, tucked effect. Lengths from 36 to 42 inches. Special for.....$1.50

Ladies' Tailored Skirts

Made of White Indian Head, thirteen gore, pleated style, all sizes. Special Saturday for $2.00 and $2.25

Ladies' Cotton Repp Skirts

Trimmed with embroidery, close-fitting hips, pleated style. Saturday $3.00, $3.50

Ladies' Wash Suits

Made of fine cotton repp or duck, in all shades, plain colors or stripes. Saturday, only $5.00

Princess Wash Dresses

Ladies' Wash Dresses in princess effect with belt in check and striped gingham. Brown, blue, grey, white and

Tailored Linen Waists

Front made of large and small tucks, shirtwaist sleeves, laundered cuffs and collar. Regular $1.75, Saturday $1.35

Ladies' Fine Lawn Waists

Front made of embroidery and lace, Dutch neck, sleeves trimmed with insertion. Saturday's special price $1.50

Ladies' White Lawn Waists

Embroidered front, long sleeves, open back, finished with tucks. Sale price

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS.

PHONE 1182.

150 DUNDAS AND CARLING STREETS.

June Inventory Sale of Pianos and Organs

Each instrument has been thoroughly repaired and in first-class condition, and now guaranteed for five years. After using for six months, if not as represented, you may return same and we will refund moneys paid.

The following instruments must be sold this month, and we have CUT THE PRICE TO ONE-HALF their real value.

McLeod Organ

Low top, 5 octaves, 5 stops. Good value. $10, payable $1 per month

Bell Organ

Cabinet style, 5 octaves, 5 stops, fine shape. $15, payable $1 per month

Thomas Organ

High top, 5 octaves, 10 stops, elegant shape. .$20, payable $1 per month

Dominion Organ

Cabinet style, 5 octaves, 11 stops, extra fine shape....$25, payable $2 per month.

Thomas Organ

Beautiful style, 5 octaves, 11 stops. Special value.......$30, payable $2 per month.

Karn Organ

Handsome top, 5 octaves, 10 stops, Special value......$35, payable $2 per month.

Dominion Organ

Cabinet style, 6 octaves; good as new.$45, payable $2 per month

Berdan Organ

Piano case, 6 octaves, 10 stops; fine shape. $50, payable $2 per month

Berlin Organ Piano case, 6 octaves, 11 stops, extra good shape$60, payable $2 per month. And about 50 other Organs to select from, equally as good. Dunham Piano

6 octaves. This Piano is fine for practicing. $50, payable $2 per month Stoddart Piano

7 octaves, ebonized case; good condition...$65, payable $2 per month Harris Piano

7 octaves, rosewood case, fine shape$75, payable $2 per month

Great Union 7 octaves, elegant rosewood case, very fine ... $85, payable $3 per month

Fisher Piano

7 1-3 octaves; very fine condition. Special. .$100, payable $3 per month And about 15 other Pianos at same price to select from.

This is your chance to save money. Write for full particulars

Heintzman & Co.

242 Dundas Street London, Ontario

PLAYTIME STORIES

added.

ALL AROUND THE HOME

A good way to shrink cotton or keeps the work smooth without in-half hour or so. Lay the material try this: Cut and chop a ripe cucumin the same creases in which it is ber until it forms a fine paste. Spread finen materials is to put it in a tub juring it in any way.

acked; then iron these places with a

This yet will not injure the carpet.

[By George Jacob Spinner.]

"Now," Sweet Slumber said, "no doubt | Some boys don't believe in me, Here's a place you've read about; This is where the North Pole grows-Where they have eternal snows: Santa Claus also lives here-Over there are his reindeer." Just then Santa came outside. And when he saw them he cried: "Hello, boys, why, how-de-dol Really, I'm glad to see you!" As he showed them all the Toys-Ev'rything for girls and boys-He turned 'round to Tousel Head, Laughed real hearty, and then said:

el, you're the first lad who

'Cause they're smart-or think they

Then to his Reindeer he cried-"Donner! Blitzen! Dasher! Pride!" Quickly they ran to the sleigh-In jumped Santa, laughing gay.
And said, "Now, boys, for a spin! Hurry up and tumble in!' Loudly then he cracked his whip! (Say, that was a dandy trip!) Santa smiled and softly said,
"Now, see here, young Tousel HeadWhen the boys and girls you see, Tell 'em that you rode with me."

form, use raw potato. Scrape and plaster on soft linen and apply like a 8700—A For a Dressing or House Sack. negligee or dressing sacque that dimities are often used for garments is cut in 6 sizes, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inches, bust measure, and requires 2% yards of 44-inch material for the Pattern sent to any address on re-

PATTERN DEPARTMENT OF THE ADVERTISER.

Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to

CAUTION-Be careful to inclose above

PATTERN DEPARTMENT,

Brown Bread Toast, Marmalade. Coffee