Enthusiastic Response to Call to Arms Cheers Free State Proponents.

LONDON, July 7.—The Irish Free State government, by its substantial victory over insurgent Republican forces in Dublin is believed to have taken a long step towards establishing itself firmly and bringing peace to Ireland.

The ready response to the national call to arms is regarded as in every way encouraging, and as further proof that the great majority of Irishmen are back of the new government and opposed to the Republican extremists.

Indications are not lacking, however, that Michael Collins and his colleagues will need all the support they can get to crush the remaining resistance, which, according to reports from Dublin, is of an important character. The arrival in Cork harbor today of a squadron of British warships lends additional color to these reports, as it is believed the vessels have anchored there in anticipation of serious trouble in that district and possible attacks on the British naval station there.

Cathal Brugha Dies. Cathal Brugha, one of Eamonn de Valera's chief lieutenants, died this morning from wounds he received on Wednesday while trying to fight his way clear at the surrender of the insurgent garrisons in the Sackville street area in Dublin.

Cathal Brugha (Charles Burgess) was one of the most prominent of the Republican leaders who opposed the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty from the start, and fought against it to the finish.

Brugha was de Valera's minister of defence in his first Dail Eireann cabinet, directing the rebellion against the British in South Ireland up to the time the truce was signed in July last.

When the terms of the treaty negotiated by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and their fellow-delegates who met the British representatives in London late last year became known, he declared his opposition to the pact, and fought against it in the Dail debates and in public speeches.

County Roscommon was taken today by National troops under Major-General McKee, after an attack lasting several days. The Republic Turn to Page 13, Column 2.

LEGAL TO MAKE WINE AT HOME

New Regulation, However, Bans Product From Imported Fruits.

New Rulings On Sales Tax Explained by Customs Authorities.

Several new rulings have been received at the customs concerning the sales tax imposed by the Federal budget, and other matters pertaining to parliamentary legislation recently passed on customs and excise and temperance matters.

Considerable misunderstanding, it has been discovered, has arisen over the sales tax on automobiles for demonstration purposes, which are used by salesmen. The ruling on this is, that if they have been driven 1,000 miles or over they may truly be called demonstrating cars, and are therefore exempt. This ruling is retroactive to May 24.

Manufacturers of ice cream who dispose of their product over their own counters must take out a license costing $2 and pay a 4 per cent sales tax.

Soda water fountain owners and confectionery stores who dispose of drinks over their counters not made by bottling works establishments must pay a license fee of $2 also, and turn over 5 per cent sales tax to the excise authorities. This order came into effect July 1. Under this latter regulation, purveyors of soft drinks of their own make who sell at summer resorts are held liable.

The inland revenue officers also announce that they are prepared now to issue the license now required by retail druggists. The fee on the license is $2. Bonds of $1,000 must also be held by retail druggists. A license must be held, they state, by each store, and one license does not cover four or five stores with a single owner.

Graydon Refuses To Adjust Scales Of Justice in Labatt Brewing Case

Attorney-General Raney May Be Asked To Appoint Magistrate To Try Company For Alleged Violation of Temperance Act.

Who will try the case of John Labatt, charged with transporting liquor on a public highway contrary to section 70 of the Ontario temperance act? Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, who is interested in the Labatt Brewing Company, declared in police court Friday morning that he would not act.

On the police court blotter the case was entered for Friday morning's court, but was adjourned one day by Magistrate Graydon.

Licence Inspector J. E. Keenleyside, who made the arrest, was present. Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett will be asked to decide the case, but if he does not care to take the bench, Magistrate Graydon will write to Attorney-General W. E. Raney asking him to appoint a magistrate for the trial.

Two weeks ago Inspector Keenleyside seized a truckload of beer en route from the Labatt Brewing Company's plant to the C. P. R. station. According to the latest amendment to the temperance act, liquor cannot be transported on the highways of the province, but it can be transported by rail. The Labatt Company is so situated that it is impossible to run a railway siding to the plant,

Demands Showdown On City Tax Exempted Property

ASHTON OPENS WAR.

ALLEGING that certain institutions in London are being exempted from taxation, without reasonable cause being shown, Ald. John Ashton, chairman of No. 2 committee, is preparing data, which will be presented to the city council by him, with the object of obtaining further revenue for the city.

Ald. Ashton also finds fault with the assessment system employed in determining the valuation of churches and similar buildings exempted from taxation, declaring that these structures are undervalued, thereby reflecting upon the efficiency of officials responsible.

He has obtained a list of exempted property in the city, and while reticent regarding his plans, states that there will be "something doing" before he is through.

"Some of these institutions are revenue producers, and as such, have a right to be taxed. I am not finding fault with the exemption of churches, because that is within the law. I do find fault with the system of valuing these churches away below what they are worth."

Are Revenue Producers. "Some of these institutions are revenue producers, and as such, have a right to be taxed. I am not finding fault with the exemption of churches, because that is within the law. I do find fault with the system of valuing these churches away below what they are worth."

"Take St. Peter's Cathedral, for instance," continued Ald. Ashton. "It is assessed for $92,000. That church building is actually worth one-half million dollars. This does not lose the city any taxes as church buildings are only assessed for local improvements, but it shows that somebody is getting out in valuation."

Asked to name the institutions which he considers are escaping payment of taxes, Ald. Ashton said: "There is the London Institute of Musical Art. It is a money-making concern and yet is exempted from taxation. I don't care if the court of revision did exempt this property; it is not right, and I am determined to remedy matters."

Should Be Assessed. "Then there is St. Angela's College on Queen's avenue. It is a similar revenue-producer, and as such should be assessed for city taxes. The Labatt property on Queen's avenue is another instance. I am not after any particular organization or institution, but want all that should be enrolled for taxation."

"It will run into thousands of dollars, which the city is being denied," charged Ald. Ashton. The entire exempted property in Queen's avenue is millions of dollars, and that which Turn to Page 2, Column 2.

SEES FOUR-FOOT SAILING SHIP HEADING FOR IRELAND

Captain Jago of Caledonian Sights Odd Craft Off Coast of Sable Island.

Boston, Mass., July 7.—A four-foot model of a full-rigged ship, with all sails set is heading across the Atlantic in the general direction of Ireland, according to Capt. Thomas E. Jago of the Caledonian liner, which docked here yesterday from Manchester and Liverpool. Capt. Jago reported that he sighted the strange craft Tuesday morning 85 miles off Sable Island. When sighted the model was making about five knots an hour, with a spanking westerly wind and her body, arms and legs burned so badly she was unavailing. George W. Payne, who tore away the child's burning garments, is doing nicely, though painfully burned.

TO REDUCE RAIL RATES IN BRITAIN

LONDON, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—It is understood that as a result of a conference of the railway companies trading organizations, a further reduction in rail rates on certain classes of commodities will shortly become effective. The companies, it is believed, favor a reduction in goods rates, but maintain that it is impossible yet to reduce the passenger fares.

The traders assert that the railway companies are building up large reserves instead of trading like ordinary parties, who, in special economic conditions, are obliged to use their reserves and reduce prices, although the costs may not justify this.

Fifteen representatives of gas companies attended the meeting and nine others voted by proxy.

Legislation enacted by the provincial government last session transferred the control of natural gas in Western Ontario from Referee Henderson to a board of referees, one to be nominated by the producers, the second by the members of the legislature representing the constituencies affected, and these two will select a third.

The meeting of the M. L. A.'s to select the representative of the consumers will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

WOMAN DEFIES RAIL STRIKERS

Holds Attackers of Home at Bay With Revolver Until Police Arrive.

Mobilization of State Troops Ordered to Guard Property of Roads.

Chicago, Ill., July 7.—With E. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shop crafts, still maintaining the conciliatory attitude he assumed after the strike was under way, but declining to make the first move towards negotiations for peace, an increasing number of outbreaks and disorders marked the closing hours of the first week since shopmen throughout the country walked off their jobs last Saturday.

Federal injunctions restraining strikers from interfering with railroad operations, molesting workers and unlawfully picketing shops, were issued at East St. Louis, Ill., and Shreveport, La., today.

Mobilization of state troops was ordered by Adjutant General Black of Illinois following disturbances in the Wabash yards at Decatur. Governors of Alabama, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa were asked to send troops to scenes of disorders, and where peace was threatened in their states.

Chicago in the past 24 hours experienced its first outbreaks of violence in connection with the strike. A mob of strikers and sympathizers, which included many women, attacked and attempted to burn the homes of two Illinois Central employees at Burnside, who refused to join the walkout.

Police dispersed the mob after Mrs. Julia Gabel, 55, wife of one of the Illinois Central men, held the attackers at bay with a revolver when they attempted to storm her home.

Railroads, meanwhile, continued to employ new men to take the jobs left by strikers, and the ultimatum to return to work next week or forfeit all seniority and pension rights stood effective in shops throughout the country.

Strikers were reported at various points to be straggling back to the old jobs in small numbers, but these reports reflected no weakness in statements from union headquarters, where Mr. Jewell reiterated his announcement that the strike was virtually 100 per cent effective.

MAY INVESTIGATE RATES ON OYSTERS

Ottawa, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—Express rates on fish are likely to be investigated shortly. This was intimated by the chief commissioner in his hearing upon the complaint of the Connecticut Oyster Company, Limited, of Toronto, upon which judgment has been reserved by the railway commission.

Oysters in glass jars are classified in the Canadian classification as first class, and the company asked for a change to second class, which they asserted was the American practice.

Governor Hard Put For Laborers When Jail Population Dwindles

Perchance County Officers Will Speed Program of Alterations by Judicious Increase in Number of Arrests.

It is claimed that one can secure employment of some nature if one actually desires to work, no matter how hard the times may be.

Now as an instance, Byron Dawson, in charge of operations at the Middlesex county jail, explains that while for the first time during his administration he finds real need for workmen, both skilled and otherwise, it happens that the population of the institution has declined so rapidly within the past few weeks that there are at this moment but four prisoners available for active service.

There are eight persons, confined, four of whom are females, and the governor explains that this number is well below the average, and the smallest collection of inmates that has been noted in months.

In the meanwhile, there is much work to be done by the prisoners. One important item is the removal of the wooden floor in the kitchen, and its replacement by a cement surface, to coincide with the remainder of the lower cell block.

Several other odd jobs are under contemplation, in addition to the usual routine grass-cutting, floor-manicuring, etc.

County officers in a humorous vein Friday stated that they would view the situation narrowly with a view toward a solution of the unemployment problem.

SHERIFF FINDS LIQUOR CACHE OFF COAST OF MAINE

Portland, Maine, July 7.—A cache of liquor, believed by the authorities to belong to an international "smuggling by air" ring, was found yesterday on the eastern end of Bushy Clapboard Island, off this port. The find included 15 cases of whiskey, many empty cases and a supply of burlap bags.

The liquor was discovered by Sheriff King F. Graham in the course of a motorboat cruise off the shore. According to the sheriff, the whiskey is shipped by airplane from a Canadian port, transferred to the motorboat off Half Way Rock, 15 miles east of Portland, and hidden on the lonely island, to be landed by motorboat for further shipment by automobile.

Nears Bereft, Quit City In Which Daughter Was Slain

ANOTHER chapter has been written in the tragic love of 15-year-old Christina Near for George Dilsdale, who is now in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of slaying his sweetheart. The Near home at the corner of Adelaide and Grosvenor streets has been deserted.

Shortly after "Chrissie" was buried in Woodland Cemetery last month, her family prepared to leave London. Two weeks ago the father and the children moved to Windsor, and the mother went to visit relatives in Hamilton. Now she has gone to Windsor to join her husband, and help establish a home far from the scene of the brutal murder of their daughter.

NARCOTIC SQUAD SEEKS TO HALT OPIUM TRAFFIC

Hunt "Will o' the Wisp" As Leader of Gang in Western Ontario.

CHINAMAN "AT THE TOP"

Hundreds of Addicts in Detroit Stimulate Smuggling of "Dope."

Where is the mystery leader of the Western Ontario drug ring, whose pursuers have christened him, "Will o' the Wisp"?

A few days ago he was reported in London. But that does not excite federal and provincial agents, for at times he has been reported in two, and even three, cities simultaneously. That he is an Oriental has been established, but his place of residence has never been discovered.

Meanwhile many London citizens and residents of Western Ontario towns, Windsor in particular, are slaves to the "junk," as they call it, this Chinaman's agents sell.

Montreal to Windsor seems to be the main highway for the "dope" runner. Opium, morphine, cocaine and heroin in large quantities are brought to Montreal by boat, and turned over to these peddlers, one authority told The Advertiser today. Then the drugs are smuggled through to Detroit, where hundreds of addicts keep the various drugs in good demand.

White men as well as Chinamen engage in the dangerous business of carrying the drugs to the border. However, these agents do not cross the line. In Windsor the decks of "dope" are turned over to young women, who make a business of crossing the border with it.

Jail Addicts In City. Within the past few years quite a number of addicts have been arrested in London and sent to reformatories and penitentiaries. One prisoner, just before leaving for Kingston Penitentiary, told an officer that a number of young men, well dressed, attended dances, and often succeeded in giving young girls drugs. He stated that after a dance, the addict would give a girl a powder, telling her that it was to banish the tired feeling but follows an evening of dancing. The effect on the girl would be such that when she was offered the powder the next time she would accept it, and finally after she had received several "shots" she would develop a craving for the drug. Finally
