C. Wintele of Toronto, Canada, Re-ceives Attention at the Hands of Agent Brooks of New York. Agent Brooks of New York.

A mysterious individual who gives his ame as "E. C. Wintele of Toronto" is uner the surveillance of United States Secrit Service Agent Brooks at New York. He is upposed to be one of a band who have defised a scheme to defraud the Canadian

Engraving Company at No. 104 Chambersstreet, New York, and asked how long it would take to have a plate made of a design which he would furnish. He then produced a Canadian 20-pound tobacco revenue stamp and said that it was the article he wanted duplicated.

After some further talk he was told that the plate would be ready for him Tuesday noon.

and—to go back to the last century—Samuel Foorie.

His musical sketches—the line in which he will appear in Toronto—touch upon and burlesque modern society and fads and are marked by delicate satire of irresistible humor. He sings, recites poetry and mimics the absurd people who are to be much on all sides. He is also a clever plantst, and even his accompaniments contribute a lively quota of amusement.

the anniversary of the King's birthday. Bangkok has often been called the Venice of the East by thoughtes globe-trottens, who see most things Siamese through the glasses of excitement, forgetting or ignoring that the cholera-stricken creeks of Siam can ill afford a comparison, with the Sea Cybele of the Adriatis, "through of Siam can ill afford a comparison," for on this day the dirt, fifth and squalor of Bangkok are hidden under garlands of blazing tropical flowers, featoms of dainty colored lamps, grotesque figures of Siam's royal monatrostities, and flag of the king-dom. There is in the character of the Siamese a strong love of pleasure and excitement. They are essentially gamblers, as much in the coin of the redin as in the pleasures of life. They are withal of good taste, and hence it is that one forgets the state of the city, in admiring the skill with which they decorate it, and the elegant simplicity of their designs.

But it is at night that the city is an idea eastern picture, full of poetry and romanes. The realities are unseen, and all that picturesque stands out boldly on the light bear of the city, in admiring the skill with which they decorate it, and the elegant simplicity of their designs.

legal profession next week.

The changes in the profession during the past year have been very numerous, which will make this issue of this valuable annual more than ever indispensable to the lawyer and the business man. There have been 600 changes during the year, caused by deaths, and left country, etc., 100. Solicitors admitted 140, and changes in firms and agency make up the balance.

Among the prominent dead were: Sir Alexander Campbell, K.C.M.G., Q.C.; Chief Justice Ritchie of the Supreme Court, Philip Low. Q.C., county attorney, Prince Edward; William Sherwood, Brockville; L. D. Raymond, county attorney, Welland; George W. Badgerow, county attorney York; N. Gordon Bigelow, Q.C., M.L.A., Toronto; Dr. D. A. O'Sullivan, Toronto; S. B. Burdett, M.P., Belleville; Salter M. Jarvis, Chatham; Ashton Fletcher, Woodstock; J. G. Holmes, Toronto; R. G. Dalton, Q.C., master in beers; J. H. Esten, secretary Law Society; Adam H. Meyers, Toronto; T. H. Stinson, C. A. Sadlier, W. Lynn Smart and E. E. Kittson of Hamilton, Charles Hutchinson, county attorney Middlesex; George H. Douglas, Toronto, Appointments made: F. S. O'Connor, sheriff, Bruce; H. H. Dewart, J. W. Cufry, county attorney, York; James Fleming, Brampton, inspector legal offices; John Winchester, master, in chambers; J. A. Me. Andrew, Toronto, taxing officer; D. H.
