Mrs. G. Freer was the hostess at the regular monthly meeting of the Wo-men's Institute which was held recently and was well attended. During the afternoon an excellent program was heard, including an instrumental duet by Miss Gladys Johnston and Miss Irene Eastabrooke; a reading by Mrs. Athelford Edgar, an interesting paper on "St. Valentine," by Mrs. H. Watson; a splendid vocal solo by Miss Eastabrooke, and a reading, "St. Valentine's Message," by Miss Alice Johnson. Two contests, in charge of Mrs. J. Johnson, proved to be very interesting and amusing and the meeting was brought to a conclusion after a social hour had been spent and refreshments had been served by the hostess and a committee. The resident was in charge of the meeting.
