ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

The Late Mrs. James L. Kelly

On Sunday, February 3rd, there passed away quite suddenly Frances Martha Kingston, wife of James L. Kelly, of Brooke. Mrs. Kelly had been suffering for about three weeks with heart trouble, but was apparently slowly recovering, when on Sunday afternoon after partaking of her dinner, complained of a slight weakness and soon passed away.

The late Mrs. Kelly was born in Toronto 59 years ago, but some years later came with her parents to Brooke, where she was an efficient school teacher for some years prior to her marriage to Mr. Kelly. The deceased leaves to mourn her death, her husband, three sons, Alex., James and William, and four daughters, Mrs. W. Watson, Mrs. E. H. Lucas, Misses Nora and Nina, also one brother, Mr. Paul Kingston, and several sisters.

Mrs. Kelly will be deeply missed in the home and the community, as she was exceedingly kind and of a genial disposition, never thinking of self but of others, and always ready to help those in need. The sympathy of the whole neighborhood goes out to the sorrowing family in their loss.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon and in spite of the intense cold weather was very largely attended. The service was conducted by her rector, the Rev. S. P. Irwin, B.A., who spoke feelingly from I. Cor. 15:49,—"As we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly." Interment was made in the family plot at St. James' church cemetery. Many beautiful floral designs were placed on the coffin. The pall bearers were the three sons, Alex., James and William, and Clarence Coke, Paul Kingston, Jr., Fred Kingston, Wallace Watson, Ed. Lucas.

CHILDREN IN WAR TIME.

Future Citizens Become Valuable Asset of Country.

War work for babies which resulted in lowering the infant death rate in Great Britain, France, Belgium, and Germany is described by Dr. Grace L. Meigs in a paper on infant welfare work in war time which the bureau has just made available for general distribution.

The special features of the work have varied in the different countries. In England there has been a striking increase in the number of health visitors employed to help and to instruct mothers in the care of their babies and young children. An act providing for Government aid to local agencies had, as it happened, been passed in July, 1914.

"The local Government board (the central supervising and administrative body) has taken the stand that in war time, in spite of the general need for economy, no economy should be exercised in this direction. There is evidence that in a good many communities, on account of the lack of money and private support, the authorities or voluntary agencies have been slow to increase their work or to undertake new work. These difficulties the local government board has largely overcome. It has gone on with the greatest determination towards its acknowledged goal—to have systematic supervision through the work of health visitors for all babies born who need care."

The available information for Germany concerns only the first eighteen months of the war. Dr. Meigs refers to the emphasis placed on enabling mothers to care for their own children. A special committee of the Red Cross, for example, was organized in Berlin for the care of mothers and infants. The committee had a fund for needy mothers which it used for those mothers who brought their babies regularly to an infant-welfare station and who took care of them in their own homes.

The outstanding feature of the work in Paris seems to be the increased provision for maternity cases; and in Belgium, the establishment of canteens for the feeding of mothers and of young children.

Dr. Meigs speaks of the important part played by the military separation allowances which are granted by foreign governments to the wives of enlisted men, either, as in Great Britain and Canada, to the wives of all soldiers, or, as in France and Germany, to the wives who are in need because the family's wage-earner has been called to the colors.

Furthermore, in each of these countries except Belgium a maternity benefit from Government funds, provided before the war to certain mothers, has now been extended to include either the wives of all enlisted men or all women who are receiving the military separation allowance.

The chief preventive measure for protecting babies is to insure their intelligent care and nursing by healthy mothers in their own homes. Nothing should be considered more important in war time than the strengthening and extending of preventive work already established for infant and maternal welfare.

Who Opened Lusitania's Safe?

When the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland, with the loss of 1,100 lives, she carried with her, among other rich freight, a consignment of diamonds in transit from New York to London, upon which the Union Insurance Company of Bangor, Me., carried a risk of $13,000.

The company promptly paid the claim, and entered the $13,000 in its loss account. But, it now appears, long after the great disaster, the insurance company received a London draft for the full amount of its risk, with the information that the diamonds had been recovered.

An Irish fisherman, upon hauling his trawls, found that he had hooked the most valuable fish in his career—a small package, which bore plainly enough the address of a firm of London jewelers, and which upon examination was found to contain diamonds—the gems upon which the Bangor Insurance Company, among others, carried risks. The fisherman got his due amount of salvage, and the diamond merchants were glad to return the insurance money.

The puzzle is: Having presumably been locked up in the purser's safe, how did the diamond packet get loose so that it came up on the fisherman's trawl?

Marry or Pay Penalty.

Any male or female person who after having reached the age limit has not contracted marriage, or any married couple who after living together for a certain number of years has not had any child, or children born to them, shall pay a certain amount of contribution to the Government, if the bill presented by Representative Ponciano Morales from the second district of Isocos Sur is enacted into law in the Philippines.

This bill has for its object to require and oblige all those persons who are of age to contract marriage in order that they may help enlarge the population of the islands. As a matter of fact, many people of this kind purposely evade marrying to escape maintaining a family and work for their living.
