

THE BEST ELEMENTARY TEXT-BOOK OF THE YEAR.

GAGE'S PRACTICAL SPELLER,

A Manual of Spelling and Dictation. Price, - - 30 Cents.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS:

It is very suitable for the object in view.—Canada Presbyterian.

It is gotten up on common sense principles and will prove useful in our schools.—Chatham Planet.

Valuable Adjunct to Class-room.

Exceedingly useful little work, and one seemingly well adapted for use in our high and public schools. From an inspection of its contents we can cheerfully recommend it as a valuable adjunct to the class-room.—Victoria Warrier.

Is a Necessity.

We have already had repeated occasion to speak highly of the Educational Series of which this book is one. The "Speller" is a necessity; and we have seen no book which we can recommend more heartily than the one before us. We invite to it the attention of our Educational authorities.—Presb. Witness, Halifax.

Good Print.

The "Practical Speller" is a credit to the publishers in its general get up, classification of subjects, and clearness of treatment. The child who uses this book will not have damaged eyesight through bad print.—Bowmanville Observer.

Best Arranged and Most Convenient.

It is certainly one of the best arranged and most convenient works of the kind we have seen, and should come into general use—more especially as bad spelling is one of the most common defects to be met with in our school pupils.—Owen Sound Times.

What it is.

It is a series of graded lessons, containing the words in general use, with abbreviations, etc., words of similar pronunciation and different spelling, a selection of the most difficult words in the language, and a number of literary selections which may be used for dictation lessons, and committed to memory by the pupils.—Strathroy Age.

Every Teacher should introduce it.

It is an improvement on the old spelling book. Every teacher should introduce it into his classes.—Canadian Statesman.

Teachers will welcome it.

It treats the important subject of spelling in an easy and practical manner. Teachers will welcome it as a valuable aid to their labors.—Stratford Beacon.

The best yet seen.

It is a very head of any "speller" that we have heretofore seen. Our public schools want a good spelling book. The publication before us is the best we have yet seen. We would ask our educational authorities to seriously consider the propriety of placing it upon the prescribed list of school books in Nova Scotia.—Colchester Sun.

Spelling Instruction on a new basis.

The author claims that the present spelling books now in use in schools are radically defective, and in their stead, supplies one which is free from present defects, and which supplies spelling instruction on a new basis.—Perth Courier.

A Necessity in every school.

Having carefully examined this little book, we have no hesitation in saying that it is admirably adapted to the purpose intended. Until we adopt the phonetic mode of spelling which so many distinguished educators advocate, a book like this one is a necessity in every school.—Napanee Standard.

OPINIONS OF SCHOOL INSPECTORS AND TEACHERS.

Great Assistance.

D. JENNINGS, Prin. P. Schools, Uxbridge.

The Practical Speller is an excellent book, whether we regard its matter or arrangement. It contains just such a course of spelling as an experienced practical teacher would put his classes through. It will afford great assistance to inexperienced teachers, who will find in it very useful hints on teaching spelling, a subject hitherto surrounded by many difficulties.

An Excellent Compendium. ALEX. McRAE, Prin. Academy, Digby, N.S.

I regard it as a necessity and an excellent compendium of the subject of which it treats. Its natural and judicious arrangement will accord with its purpose. Pupils instructed in its principles, under the care of diligent teachers, not fail to become correct spellers. Its great value will, doubtless, secure it a wide circulation. I have seen no book on the subject which I can more cordially recommend than "The Practical Speller."

Supply a Want Long Felt.

JOHN JOHNSTON, L.P.S., Belleville.

The hints for teaching spelling are excellent. I have shown it to a number of experienced teachers, and they all think it is the best and most practical work on spelling and dictation ever presented to the public. It will supply a want long felt by teachers.

Plan Ingenious.

J. S. CARSON, L.P.S., Strathroy.

The Practical Speller is a superior little work, and should find its way into every public school. The plan is ingenious, and for aught I know may be original.

Very Happy Arrangement. W. J. HENDRY, Fr. Co. Mod. School, Yorkville.

The plan is an excellent one. The groups of words are nicely arranged and graded, so that common words, or those that are most frequently used, are to be learned first. It is a very happy arrangement that of the reviews at the end of each part, and the selection of extracts containing sentiments of moral worth, and possessing literary excellence, to be used for dictation and also for memorizing. On the whole it is the best I have met with.

Practical and Fresh.

E. Q. OWEN, Prin. Academy, Lunenburg, N.S.

The preface is capital. I am charmed with the practicalness and freshness of the first four parts. I have at least a dozen different treatises on spelling, and not one of them comes up to my idea of what a spelling-book should be as you does.

Admirably Adapted.

COLIN W. REECOR, I.P.S., Wolfville, N.S.

The arrangement and grading of the different classes of words I regard as excellent. Much benefit must arise from committing to memory the "Literary Selections." The work is admirably adapted to our public schools, and I shall recommend it as the best I have seen.

Preface Endorsed. N. M. CAMPBELL, H. M. Co. Egin Model School

I am well pleased with it. I endorse every word in the preface. Would like to see it introduced into every school.

High Character.

G. D. PLATT, Co. School Insp., Pictou.

Having looked through Gage's Practical Speller, and being an unbeliever in the doctrine that oral spelling is a useless exercise, I find much in the book to merit commendation. I am particularly pleased with the arrangement of exercises and the choice of words in everyday use, as well as the high character of many of the literary selections. As a hand-book, both for oral spelling and dictation, the book merits a place in every school.

Decided Improvement.

W. F. BITTENHOUSE, St. Catharines.

I am favorably impressed with the plan of the work, while the typography is excellent. I think it a decided improvement upon the present text-book.

A General Favorite. GEO. E. CROSCUP, B.A., H.M. M.S. Fredericton, N.B.

It possesses, in a marked degree, the necessary elements of such a work. There are several features, notably the well-arranged lists of words and names in common use, with the accompanying exercises for review, and the choice literary selections, which must make it a general favorite, and materially aid in securing for it a place among our standard text-books.

Preferred to others.

W. P. SHAFER, Prin. Pub. S., Wolfville, N.S.

I am much pleased with the general scope and arrangement of Gage's Practical Speller as a text book for our common schools. I propose to introduce it into our schools in preference to others examined.

Complete.

J. F. GODFREY, Prin. P. Schools, Windsor, N.S.

I have examined the Practical Speller and consider it excellent. The arrangement is complete. I handed the book to several of our teachers for their inspection. They all wished it introduced into the school as soon as possible.

Admirable Work.

HOWARD MURRAY, Prin. Academy, New Glasgow, N.S.

I consider it an admirable little work. The chapter on Similar Sounds is a particularly valuable one.

Collection of Gems. M. L. FIELDS, Prin. Graded School, Bridgetown, N.S.

I have carefully examined the little book, and must express my hearty approval both of the natural arrangement and contents of it. Your Practical Speller at once relieves me from doubtful selections, and gives me, in convenient pocket compass, the groups of words which I might spend much time in collecting. Your Hints on Dictating and Examining are valuable. I can commend them from actual practice. Perhaps the most pleasing feature of this little book is the collection of Gems in part 5.

Well Prepared.

H. HUBBARD, I.P.S., Sherbrooke, Que.

It seems to me to be well prepared, and well adapted for general use as a manual, particularly in dictation exercises.

Classing of Words.

E. J. LAY, Prin. Academy, Annapolis, N.S.

I am much pleased with it. I like the plan of grading the lessons, and also the classing of words pertaining to certain trades, professions, etc. I have found it very useful in dictation exercises. Have recommended it to several teachers.
