The first session was considered as being more than satisfactory. As a result of this success, the idea of erecting a building for occupation by the School was mooted and seriously discussed. There were difficulties in the way—financial difficulties, of course. These were soon relieved by a generous offer on the part of Dr. Godfrey, our Professor of Surgery, to erect such a building as the School required, on the Faculty agreeing to pay interest on the cost. I need hardly say that this offer was accepted. Plans were prepared and discussed and finally adopted. That such an idea had very early in the history of the Faculty taken root, is proved by the fact that Dr. Hingston had secured for this purpose a lot of ground on the corner of Mance and Ontario Sts. This land was purchased by Dr. Godfrey, and work was commenced on the building. Although not completed, yet it was in such a forward state, that the second session opened on time within its walls, the introductory lecture being delivered by me. The session showed a registered class of thirty students, being an increase of five over the previous year. This was considered a satisfactory showing, seeing that this faculty was competing for students on an advanced schedule. By this I mean that we were teaching subjects which up to that time had not been included, as distinct branches, in any Medical School in the Dominion. These were, Pathology by Dr. Wilkins, Hygiene, by Dr. Leprohon, and Practical Chemistry by Dr. J. Baker Edwards. Subsequently—within a year or two—Dr. Wilkins took up Practical Physiology and Histology. In 1877, Dr. O. C. Wood of Ottawa, through his son, Dr. C. A. Wood, a graduate of the College, offered a
