

BRINGING CANADIAN GEOSCIENCE TO THE WORLD

The geological Survey of Canada (GSC) is one of the international geoscience community's most respected voices and dynamic innovators. It has been the catalyst for numerous collaborative research initiatives on a global scale, and has strong linkages with sister organizations and professional groups around the world, particularly on a nation to nation basis.

Within Canada, the GSC's mapping program provides a comprehensive base for Canada's mineral wealth. New geoscientific concepts and better exploration technology are key areas of expertise that contribute to the efficiency and productivity of Canada's mineral exploration.
