

been unable to provide evidence, but they claim this has been confirmed to them in private by Indonesian officials. Some also feel they have been adversely affected in third countries, where their reputation as a "reliable supplier" has been harmed by Canada's protests.