

(E) June 1950 until his retirement. Dr. Doré played a leading role in UNESCO and was chairman of the Executive Board for the first two years of its organization and remained a member until 1951. He served on Canadian delegations to many international conferences, including the United Nations Conference on Trade and Employment, the Interim Commission of the International Trade Organization, the International Copyright Union and the International Refugee Organization.

-----