Colonel Wilfrid Bovey ,

My dear Colonel Bovey:-

I had a long interview with the Deputy-Minister of Agriculture this afternoon.

He explained to me that twelve years ago the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Quebec decided to send graduates of the Agricultural School of Quebec to Europe, that is to France, in order to take Post Graduate Courses.

Two years after, they sent some to Cornell. At that time, McDonald College was not fully equipped to meet the requirements. They gradually stopped sending them to France, because conditions were different and they sent them to Cornell and to Iowa where the results have been very satisfactory.
