

- ii. 251; his inspiring influence, ii. 251; his plans for America, ii. 253-255; ii. 266; letters from Amherst to, ii. 287; calls on the provinces for twenty thousand men, ii. 289; a ready response, ii. 289, 290; Pownall's report on Massachusetts to, ii. 290; his estimate of Howe, ii. 296; ii. 331, 338, 343, 349, 363, 364, 365; iii. 31; names Wolfe to lead the expedition against Quebec, iii. 31; iii. 33, 35, 45, 76, 77, 78, 82, 84, 93, 111, 112; Wolfe's last despatch to, iii. 113, 116, 130, 167; iii. 177, 191, 211, 216, 217, 220; disliked by George III., iii. 237; supports the Continental War, iii. 237; rising opposition to, iii. 238; letter from Stanley to, iii. 240; arrogance of, iii. 241; rejects Choiseul's overtures, iii. 241; divines the secret treaty between France and Spain, iii. 243; his plan to humble the House of Bourbon, iii. 243; not supported by the ministry, iii. 243, 244; resignation of, iii. 244; Granville's reply to, iii. 244; iii. 247, 249, 251; his speech on the preliminaries of the Peace of Paris, iii. 253, 254; iii. 280, 283, 286.
- Pitt, Fort, built by Stanwix, ii. 368.
- Pisiquid, i. 98; Daudin, priest of, i. 253.
- Pisiquid River, the, i. 278.
- Pittsburg, site of, i. 49, 64, 148, 215; ii. 368; iii. 77; Stanwix sent to the relief of, iii. 78; the French plan to recover, iii. 86; in imminent danger, iii. 87. See also Duquesne, Fort.
- Place de la Concorde, the, i. 16.
- Plassey, the great victory of, won by Clive, ii. 251; iii. 255.
- Plymouth colony, i. 255.
- Pococke, Admiral Sir George, sails against Havana, iii. 248; captures Havana, iii. 248.
- Pointe-aux-Trembles, ii. 223; Carleton lands at, iii. 66; Murray repulsed at, iii. 106; iii. 121; garrison of, iii. 187; Rochbeaucourt stationed at, iii. 207.
- Point Levi, the heights of, iii. 54.
- Poisson, Jeanne, see Pompador, Madame de.
- Poland, King of, see Augustus the Strong.
- Polson, Captain, killed in the battle of Monongahela, i. 236, 238.
- Pomeroy, Mrs. Abigail, iii. 79.
- Pomeroy, Rev. Benjamin, on the expedition against Ticonderoga, iii. 79.
- Pomeroy, Daniel, in Shirley's expedition against Crown Point, i. 302; killed in the battle of Lake George, i. 322.
- Pomeroy, Mrs. Daniel, letter from Seth Pomeroy to, i. 322, 323.
- Pomeroy, Lieutenant-Colonel Seth, in Shirley's expedition against Crown Point, i. 302; his letters to his wife, i. 302, 316, 317, 323; writes to Israel Williams, i. 304; on the march to Lake George, i. 306; on Dieskau's ambush, i. 314, 315; on the battle of Lake George, i. 316, 317; his letter to Rachel Pomeroy, i. 322, 323; on the French losses in the battle of Lake George, i. 324; journal of, i. 328.
- Pomeroy, Seth (son), i. 302.