The suggestion has been thrown out by a veteran of the police force that the men on patrol duty in the suburbs be furnished with bicycles. The silent steed, would, it is claimed, be of immense service and worth an additional man in each case, for it would enable the officer to report fires quickly, run down offenders and cover his territory twice or thrice instead of once a night and with greater ease. At any time the officer could m an instant look his wheel by the roadside and leave it safely until he had use for it again. The suggestion merits consideration.

WINNIPEG COMMERCIAL, Aug. 21: "An Ottawa telegram says that S. Wilmot, superintendent of fish culture, to day received a report from the inspector relative to the fisheries in Lake Winnipeg. He says the fisheries in Lake Winnipeg. He says the fisheries have had a remarkably good assoon. Usually the catch of white fish lasts till the first week in October, but this year sufficient have already been caught to supply the market for the season, and the fishermen have all been dismissed. This is due to more severe restrictions on fishing which prevented the depletion of the lake by outsiders to the extent to which it was practised in former years. Very wonderful, to be sure; but as the catch of fish has been increasing right along, only an interested official can see how 'the severe restrictions' have had anything to do with the success of the catch this season." Perhaps the modest superintendent will take credit to himself.
