

ADVERTISEMENT.

---

THE reasons which induced the Author to take public notice of the much lamented event which gave occasion to this discourse, are assigned in the discourse itself. It is printed to gratify the wishes expressed by some who heard it; and to give an opportunity to others, who were necessarily absent at this season of the year, to read, what if circumstances had permitted, they would have wished to hear.

A few copies are left with the bookseller for sale.

Hackney,
October 22, 1806.