

e, 29; classes; independent, 19-29; un-

use and mood phrase-
m of conjugation, 161;
ive phrase-forms, 162;
rticiple, 136, 162.

verbs, 81, 119; origin of, sonification, 199-200.

; verb, 144-164; infini-157-158; noun, 188;
active, 223-224, 226, 230, 252, 255, 256, 297-298; junctions, 36, 277; in-position and preposi-354.

ry, 334.

83-84, 181-185; history,
-107; of pronouns, 202-
e, objective, appositive, valents, 184; falsely
-45; pronoun, 203, 231-partitive, 203; archaic, are and complete, 20, 25, 94-97, 189, subjec-tment with subject, 291; predicative com-

3; 78-89.

27, 264-265; construc-
5, 269-270, 310; formar words, 266-270;
ion phrase, 36, 111;
adjective and adverb,

39; parts of verb, 119.

phrases, 220-221; in-2, 204, 205, 207, 221; 8; demonstrative of possessives of first,
s, 202-203; compound
exive, 203-205; other
interrogative, 207-
conjunctive or, rela-
ve, definite, 209-213;
3-214; simple inde-
interrogative, 214-215; 5-216; other definite indefinite pronouns, tives, number and parative, reciprocal,
finite pronouns, 219-3, 105, 110, 196, 209-

re, 117-118.

so passim.

Learning): 13, 234,

and negative, 33, 256-

Roman: missionaries, 13, 328; Romance: languages, 11; plurals, 172; multiplatives, 233.
Roots, root-words, radicals: nature, 78.

S.

Selective use: interrogative and conjunctive pronouns, 208.

Sentences: nature, 18-19; classes: according to composition; simple, 38-39; compound, 39-41, 90-91; compound member of, 301; complex: noun, adjective, adverb, 37, 41-43; compound-complex, 43; according to form: assertive, 18, 44; interrogative, 45-47, 49; imperative, 47-48, 49; exclamatory forms, 48-49; modal, 255. Sentence: words: 33, adverbs, 254-257; infinitive, 291.

Sounds: 16; how produced, 50; classes: consonants, 51-53; vowels, 54-57; in combination, syllables, 57-58; changes in, 59-66, 119, 226;
in inflections, 119-120, 170-171.

Spanish: in vocabulary, 334.

Specialization, or contraction of meaning: 62, 67, 325.

Stem, or base of inflection, 86, 78; or root in verbs, 86.

Stress: word-stress (or, accent) 59, 60-61, 76, 317, 325; sentence-stress (or, emphasis), 59, 61-64.

Subject: nature, 18; government of, 91; reported, 91; representative (or, grammatical) 200-201; logical, 201; impersonal, 201; indefinite, 202; bare and complete, 94; objective subject of infinitive, 288-289; clause, 188.

Subordinate (or, dependent); subordination:
nature, 42; clauses: noun, 188-191, 367; adjective, 243, 244, 247; adverb, 259-263.

Subjunctive mood: nature, 82, 157; simple, 140-144, contrasted with indicative, 140, 143; optative, 144; phrasal, 151-155.

Suffix: nature and use, 70, 71, 78-79.

Superlatives: nature, 86-87; absolute, 226; relative, 226; double, 230.

Synonyms: production of, 332.

Syntax: nature, 16; how shown, 90; first rines of, 91; Old English, 319-320; Middle English, 323-324; Modern English, 326. See also under the parts of speech.

Syllables: nature, 58; classes, 58.

T.

Tenses: nature, 81, 82; simple forms, 138-139; phrasal forms, 144-156, 159-164; nature and relation of tenses, 156-157; sequence of, 193, 260; primary and historic, 157.

Tentonic: sub-family and divisions, 9-10, 316-318; tribes, where settled in England, 318; in vocabulary, 9, 13, 332; inflections, 317.

Thing: definition, 18.

Tongue-stop pasts: nature, 116-117; origin of tense suffix, 118; modifications, 123; with mutated presents, 125; tongue-stop suffix of perfect participle, 136, 263.

Transitive verbs: nature, 20, 97; without objects, 97, 113.

U.

Understood: definition, 300, 99-100.

V.

Verbs: nature, 19; agreement of, 91-94; in Old English, 88-89, 120-122; principal parts, 119; classes: copula, adjective, reflexive, reciprocal, middle, causative, impersonal, 98, 113-116; conjugations, 116-119; paradigms: simple, 118; Old English, 121-122; be, 130; can, 132; simple and phrasal: active paradigm, 158-159; passive paradigm, 161; tense and mood forms: simple, 138-144; phrasal, 36, 89, 144-157; derived forms: simple, 133-137; phrasal, 157-158; unclassifiable verbs, 130-133; adjective, 113; defective, 131; of incomplete predication, 20, 94-95; forming passive phrases, 162-164; other verb-forms, 164; auxiliary and notional, 145, 363-364.

Verb-phrases: nature, 88-89; classes: emphatic, 144-145, 150, 160; negative and interrogative, 145; progressive, 145-146, 150; future, 146-150; perfect, and past-perfect, 150-151, 155; subjunctive, 151-155; imperative, 155-156; passive tense and mood phrases, 159-160; passive and non-passive phrases, 162.

Vocabulary: composition of, 13; how increased, 70; foreign element: chief sources, 327-335; minor sources, 334-335.

Voice (sound) 50; voiced and voiceless sounds, 53; plurals, 173; voice, or conjugation, 162.

Vocal organs, or, organs of speech: 50.

Vowels: nature, 51; classes, 54-57; change of vowel sounds, 326; vowel-mutation, 63-64, 73; vowel-gradation, 61-62.

W.

West-Saxon dialect: 318, 319, 320.

Words: chief classes, 19-31; different values of, 31-32; values outside of sentence, 31; peculiar words, 32-34; combinations: phrases, clauses, 35-37; adverbs, 252-257; prepositions, 266-270; conjunctions, 277-279; spoken word, 50.

II. WORDS AND PHRASES.

A.

a, 238-242
a-, 112, 251
abbreviate, abridge, 328
about, 326
a-building, 160
adjoin, 163

admit, 263
after, 266
ago, 265-266
almost, 254
aims, 178, 329
along, 312
alone, 69
also, 277

a man, 221
an, 261
and, 278-279, 301-302
and, or, etc., 274
and that, 273
annexation, 68
any, 219
apricot, 14

as, 217, 278, 290, 303, 304, 308
as if, 261, 275, 304
askance, 75
assemble, meet, 332
as lief, 283
as-much-as-say, 164
as regards, 266