Begin With The Children!

There's a long stretch of cold weather ahead, and the new season develops new wants at every turn. Men and women are thinking of new clothes and new pleasures, and parents for the most part are puzzling about the children. We're audacious enough to suggest that they begin with the little ones, partly because we've a larger interest in boys and girls and partly on account of lower prices on the very goods they need.

Taken collectively, our anticipation of children's wants is something surprising. To women this store is a panorama of newness and novelty, immense variety and tempting bargains. The business appeals to men with the emphasis of a sweeping success and the inspiration of downright economy. But the goodwill of both men and women doesn't begin to compare with the enthusiasm that makes children love to come here and their parents glad to bring them. There's so much to see without being obliged to spend money, and such a spirit of welcome about the place that children realize it and feel it and enjoy it. We reap the benefit in better advertising than the newspapers can ever give and the sincere devotion of thousands of little ones to the store they like best.

So that we're very much in earnest in asking you to bring the children, and very particular in making prices to warrant their trade. Some of the attractions are hinted at here. Others will suggest themselves as you look around the store—

SUNDAY BICYCLING.
The Rev. S. D. Chown of Carleton Place Methodist Church, says the joys of religion are much more than those of bicycling. If they were not religion would hardly have lived down during the ages. The bicycle is rapidly becoming not a thing of joy, but a utility machine. It is still, however, a joy to the beginner—that is, after he has mastered the rudiments—but to the man of business it is only another pair of legs, like the wonderful seven-league boots of our childhood.

Mr. Chown also says that if the bicycle were used as a means of transportation to church, Mr. Chown consequently is of opinion that the evil of Sunday bicycling is not in the act but in the abuse. If Mr. Chown would apply the same reasoning to other things of life he would find himself able to teach his brethren much. Either that or he would feel compelled to break away from them entirely.

The same argument applies to walking on Sunday. Men's legs and feet take them into all sorts of evil places on a Sunday the same as on any other day. But Mr. Chown does not eschew walking on the Sabbath. Why then should he forego bicycling because some men overdo it in his estimation? Perhaps some of those people that Mr. Chown thinks are abusing the privilege are really using it to a good purpose. Perhaps they are riding to a church other than his. Perhaps they are going to their own church—the church where the Rev. S. D. Chown is. Heaven that nature preaches to all ears that are hastening towards a sick friend. Perhaps 90 per cent. of those who Mr. Chown imagines are abusing the wheel on the Lord's Day are putting it to the best possible use. How can he judge? How can he know? And yet for a fancy, for an unproved belief, he would sacrifice an instrument that he acknowledges even on Sunday is a helpmeet to man!

It is the same shallow, untenable, false reasoning that prevents Toronto from having Sunday street cars. Its opponents know that their position is weak. They know that the cars will be more often used for good than for bad; but, taking refuge in what might be, they ignore what is.

We ask Mr. Chown, does he think the world is better or worse for the invention and application of the bicycle? If better, then it is a blessing that should be made the most of with reason at all times. If worse, then it should be abandoned altogether; but because another abuses the wheel it can be no sin in Mr. Chown to use it. We have all heard of the doctrine of self-sacrifice, but the lesson of moderation is far more easily taught than that of self-abnegation.

Mr. Chown would seemingly like too many gentlemen of his cloth, seek refuge in his own sanctity rather than take the trouble to teach his congregation to limit their use of beneficial things to their proper application. Because his older brother abuses the talent he would bury his, lest his younger brother should be tempted to follow the example of the eldest. Rather would it be better that Mr. Chown should use his talent to the best possible advantage and show his junior how to do likewise. So would it be wiser for Mr. Chown to use his bicycle on Sunday and endeavor to induce his congregation to follow his example of moderation.

As with the bicycle, so with the street car. If clergyman, Joseph, would encourage their moderate use there would be more people go to church than now. More people would commune with nature, and neither man nor woman can survey the glories of the creation in the present spirit with being brought nearer to God and being the better for it. Mr. Chown has but to direct the thought to accomplish the good for which he presumably was ordained or called.

We extract the following remarkable statement from the September number of Harper's Monthly: "For the first time since the Confederation was proclaimed, the Liberal party won in the Canadian elections, the chief issue being home rule." This is not from the "Editor's pen," but from the monthly record of current events (p. 640), intended no doubt to serve as a reference hereafter. We have searched the October number for a correction, but in vain.

BACK IT UP.

That's what we do. MANLEY'S CELESTINE COMPOUND "re-backs" weak backs and the "re-backed" people "back" up our statements with their testimony. Here's a sample:

For a number of years I have been troubled with a lame back, which at times became so painful that I had to lay off work. Not a month ago I was lucky enough to be advised to try Manley's Celestine Compound, and after taking two or three boxes the pain entirely left me, and I feel certain that my cure is a permanent one, as I have had no return of the pain for eight months now. Australians Completely Outclassed the Phillies in This Match.

The Quakers Managed to Make 94 in Their Second Innings, Woods Contributing 58 and Coates 49—The Third Match Will be Played as Scheduled, Beginning on Friday.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—The second of the series of three cricket matches between Philadelphia and the Australians was finished this afternoon and was an easier victory for the visitors than even the first match. The Australians in one innings scored 422 runs. (The Philadelphians then went in and made 144, and were compelled to follow on.) Their second innings started them 207, making a total of 351 runs for the Australians. The real test of the match was the match by an innings and 71 runs. In the match finished today the Australians, led by the real force, and completely outclassed the local cricketers in the first innings. The match-up was the third and concluding match of the series will be started next Friday.
