Toronto came back yesterday in the race for the seventy-five-million-dollar objective in the Victory Loan campaign. The subscriptions for the day totaled $2,408,300, with 5445 subscribers.

Despite the fact that the publicity committee has stated that there was no extravagance in crushing up the old motor car in the tank exhibition on Monday, some people who evidently only read headlines in the press persist in spreading the rumor that Victory Loan money was wasted.

It is announced that the doors of the armories on University avenue will be thrown open to the public in general on Monday night next when Col. Theodore Roosevelt speaks on behalf of the loan.

Arrangements at the armories for handling the immense crowd are well under way. Through the kindness of General Leslie, chairs will be provided by the military.

Regarding heating and lighting, special plans are under way and this difficulty will be removed. The doors will be opened to the public at 6.30 p.m. and there will be no necessity of lining up on the street as in the case of other buildings.

Col. Roosevelt will be accompanied by his wife and will reach Toronto about noon. He will be met at the station by Sir John Hendrie.

At the armory entertainment will begin at 6.30 o'clock. The 48th Highlanders Band, under Lesou, John Shuter, will play and song sheets will be distributed.

ITALIANS HOLD BACK MUCH STRONGER FOE

Fourth Army Successfully Withstands Massed Troop Attacks of Teutons Between Piave and Brenta Rivers.

By Associated Press. Headquarters of the Italian Army in Northern Italy, Nov. 22.—The fourth Italian army, under General Robilant, is meeting the full force of the tremendous shock the enemy has concentrated between the Piave and Brenta Rivers.

Just west of this main field of action, the Italian first army pushed the enemy positions near the Brenta River and in two attacks and counter-attacks, held the occupied ground, which was strewn with many corpses.

Reports are coming in from the invaded Venetian district, of fearful acts committed by soldiers, but this is stated under reserve, as it is impossible at present to give confirmation.

London, Nov. 22.—The admiralty announces that a successful air attack in the vicinity of Constantinople has been fully accomplished by a large British bombing airplane, which flew from England to a British base in the Mediterranean in a series of eight flights.

TANKS AND CAVALRY FIGHT GERMAN FORCES IN OPEN

Enemy Driven From His Strongholds, Forced to Fight Without Shelter of Redoubts and Trenches As British Push His Troops Further Back.

London, Nov. 22.—The British are carrying forward successfully their offensive, which apparently has as its objective the encirclement and capture of the important railroad junction of Cambrai, in northern France.

For three days the forces of General Byng have been strictly keeping to their task of smashing the German positions in this region, and now, having driven the enemy from all his strongholds, are battling with him in the open, with the monstrous tanks and dashing cavalry everywhere opening the way for onslaughts by the infantry.

Already the British line describes an arc from the west to the southwest of Cambrai, with the lower point resting near Fontaine Notre Dame, two and three-quarter miles southwest of the much sought for town.

British Advanced Troops Now Less Than Three Miles From Cambrai, Having Penetrated German Lines to Depth of Six and a Half Miles.

By Associated Press. British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 22.—British cavalry, tanks and infantry were today operating along a line running from west of Cambrai to the south of that town.

Meanwhile the offensive had been successfully prosecuted on the left and in the region of Bullecourt the German line had been pushed back considerably. Thereby widening the salient which the British have given into the enemy territory to the south and southwest of Cambrai. The attack around Bullecourt was a complete success and something like 700 prisoners were captured here.

Sanguinary hand-to-hand fighting has taken place at many points. During the night three German counter-attacks in Noyelles and Rumilly were beaten off and another thrust by the enemy near Bullecourt was smashed.

The number of prisoners is increasing steadily. More than 8000 were in the hands of the British last night, and large contingents have been coming back during the early morning hours. This morning the cavalry, tanks and infantry at many points west and south of Cambrai were less than three miles from the outskirts of the town.

Gains Consolidated. London, Nov. 22.—The British official communication issued this evening announces the successful consolidation of all the captured area in the region of Cambrai, except the village of Fontaine Notre Dame, which has been recaptured by the Germans in a counter-attack.

On the southern battlefield the day has been spent in consolidating the large area over which our troops advanced during the last two days. This has been successfully carried out except at Fontaine Notre Dame, which the enemy has retaken by a counter-attack.

Much credit is due to the transportation service for the rapidity with which the concentration for the operations of the last few days was effected. Roads and railways, both broad gauge and light gauge, have been developed and, since the advance extended in a manner which has contributed largely to the success of our preparations and subsequent operations.

On the northern battlefield the artillery activity was intense in the neighborhood of Passchendaele, but no infantry action was developed by either side.

Ypres Victory Helped. "We were able to give the Germans a surprise blow at Cambrai," said General Maurice, "because they had skimmed this sector like they did along the remainder of the line, in order to prevent us from taking Passchendaele. After we took Passchendaele they brought up a division from the Russian front in an effort to retake it."

The fighting in the Cambrai operation is all in the open, enabling the cavalry to assist the tanks and infantry. There are no German defences prepared in this sector, and their next line evidently is beyond Cambrai.

The Ypres-Cambrai battle must be linked together, because the former made possible the latter, and the men who fought at Ypres deserve as much credit for the success at Cambrai. Our operations are continuing satisfactorily.

ATTACK LAST LINES OF ENEMY DEFENCES

British Success Grows Hourly and Their Wedge Is Penetrating Deeper and Widening at Its Base.

British Headquarters in France, Nov. 22.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—We have not yet reached the limit of our victory. The success grows hourly. The total of prisoners is approaching nine thousand.

Great stretches of new country and fresh villages are being captured; besides increasing in depth the wedge is spreading at the base. The weather continues most unfavorable; a heavy mist preventing all airplanes observation. Nevertheless the airmen continue to fly over the battle ground, penetrating far into the enemy territory at the level of the tree tops.

The latest village captured is Cantelung, and the troops are now in the neighborhood of Bourbon and Moeuc.

care, while fighting is promising in the region of Rumilly. The enemy are now holding only a few small counter-attacks between Rumilly and Noyelles with troops hurried up for the purpose, but all were easily repulsed.

At Cantelung and beyond Messines we have broken into sections of the last lines of defence and now hold the Hindenburg line with the famous tunnel, where the counter-attacks have been heavy and pressed with great determination. But we hold everything taken.

Our casualties are almost incredibly small. The troops are most cheerful and are roaming over new and unspoiled country where villages have not been destroyed, and tilled fields abound.
