Dundee May Meet Champion.

Johnnie Dundee, who in the opinion of the majority of critics, outpointed Willie Ritchle in ten rounds at Madison Square Garden on last Tuesday night, is likely to get the first chance at the world's lightweight title held by Freddie Welsh. The management of the Garden A. C. has already sent out feelers to both of these boxers and is ready to bid against all other fight centres for the match.

Dundee's victory over Ritchie did more to further his pretensions toward the title than any five fights of his career. He gave away practically ten pounds to the Californian, yet finished strong and willing and was always ready to stand up and swap punches with his man.

ent of Surprise Still Important

-Germans Expected Attack

Elsewhere Them at Loos

Misled G semans,

Attack s were made that morning at several places; but the Germans expected the real attack elsewhere than Loos.

"Then has been a good deal of talk," said a staff officer, "to the effect that the element of surprise has disappeared from war. It is as vital as it ever was. Only concealment was never so difficult."

Troof as and guns had to be moved at night when the German planes might not note the concentration. British planes wust ward off German planes by day.

Infinite labor, and pains in detail are required, of handreds of thousands of men for such an attack. That of the medical corps alone is stupendous. On the morning of the attack beds were ready; and the countless ambulances and the elearing stations and all the intricat; organization for caring for the wounded ready.

As the attack proceeded a veritable flock of planes was cutting circles and dipping and turning over the battlefield as if in an exhibition of airmanship. They, appeared to be disconnected with the lattle; but no participant was more busy or intent than they. All the panorama of action was beneath them; they alone could really "see" the, battle if they chose. But each aviator stole only passing glimpses of the whole; for each one was intent on his part, which was to larep watch of whether the shells of the battery to which he reported were on the target or not.

To distinguish whose shell-burst was whose in the midst of that cloud of dust and, smoke over the German positions see med as difficult as to separate the Sp and of yapor.

The Air Service,

Every youth in England apparently wants to get into the acrial service. So the corps has its pick. Promotion is rapid, the romance and the excitement of the work appeal. It is easy to learn to fly in the very stable latest types of machines which, as the saying goes, are "flool-proof." It takes only two months to train a man with aptitude to do the routine work of reconnaisance. But he troust be young. Men do not learn readily after they are thirty, with few exceptions, and they are very poor pupils indeed after they are thirty-five. It is not difficult to spot saells when only a few batteries are firing, but when perhaps a hundred guns are dropping shells an a half-mile front of trench a highly thained eye is required. Occasionally a plane was observed to slip down like a hawk which had located a fish in the water. At all hazards that intrepid aviator was going to identify the shell bursts of the batteries which he represented. The Germans might have him in rifle range, but they were too busy trying to hold back the English infantity to fire at him.

Other, planes were dropping shells on really and trains and bridges to hinder the

Other planes were dropping shells on allroad trains and bridges, to hinder the Germans once they had learned where the force of the attack was to be exerted.

from rushing reinforcements to the spot. For that kind of work, as for all long l reconnaisances, the aviators like lowlying clouds, They clip down out of these to have a look around and drop a bomb and then rise to cover before the Germans can bring their anti-aircraft guns to bear.

The first thing was to hold what was taken in this advance. All the labor of
