HENRY FORD WAS MAROONED IN MUD

Flivver Was Finally Freed With Aid of Fordson Tractor.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 16—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, knows what it means to be stuck in the mud in a flivver. Mr. Ford was in Clayton, stopping with his yacht Siala, on which he is cruising the St. Lawrence River and thence to Seal Harbor, Maine, made himself known to George Gillick, Ford car dealer, and the two started for the river bank in a Ford sedan.

VIVIAN TO WRITE BOOK.

Quick and Full Response to Ex-Kaiser's Memoirs.

Berlin, Aug. 12—The Kaiser will receive quick and full response to his memoirs from an authoritative source. Clinton T. Brinard has just succeeded in signing up France's war premier, Vivian, to write a book of 75,000 to 100,000 words as France's answer. The title of M. Vivian's book will be "The Mistakes of the Kaiser."

Serial publication will begin throughout the world one week after the last instalment of the Kaiser's book in France. It will be serialized by the Matin, with Hachette as the book's publishers. Mr. Brinard acquired the world rights for the largest figure ever paid to a French author.

M. Vivian has already begun writing the book. Later he will drop all other business and private affairs and go to Algeria to devote himself exclusively to completing the work. It was difficult to persuade M. Vivian to undertake this task, which entails heavy sacrifice, including neglect of professional work. He finally decided when the patriotic side of it was pointed out to him, exclaiming: "For France! For France! For France, I would do anything!"

A Peppy Sandwich

Lots of folks think sandwiches are costly. There is no cheaper way of entertainment, or a summer supper tid-bit. This one costs under a half cent.

You grate a quarter of a pound of cheese, moisten with mayonnaise and add just a pinch of paprika to give it a nipper tang. Then to choose the nicest bread to slice and butter. Is there any richer than Butternut?

TELLS OF WAYS TO ATTAIN HEALTH

Miss Hallam Announces Herself as Against the Eating of Meat.

Toronto, Aug. 16—Academic teaching does not go far enough in treating the subject of psychology, not showing how to build into the sub-conscious self the means of achieving the health, success or happiness desired by the modern student, declared Miss Anna Maud Hallam, visiting exponent of "practical psychology" in delivering in Loe's University Theatre, before an audience of 3,000 people, the first lesson in connection with a special course, but which was at the same time the final public lecture to be given by her in Toronto. The subject of the lecture last night was "Health Culture."

In her discourse on ways and means to attain perfect health, Miss Hallam said there were four physical essentials to good health, these being proper use of air or development of the lungs through deep breathing, proper use of water, both within and without; proper use of food, and proper exercise.

In speaking of the importance of full use of the lungs in breathing, the lecturer asserted that the latest scientific investigation had proved that the oxygen taken in through the lungs supplied 60 per cent of the body's nourishment. In advocating a non-meat diet, Miss Hallam declared that one great disad-

ANOTHER HIKER COMES TO TOWN

Another hiker came to town yesterday. He is Frank Spry, of Hamilton (Ont.), who served in the 16th Battalion in France for nearly two years. He left Hamilton on June 7 on a wager that he could walk to Halifax by October 12. He bet an automobile against $400, and when he left for Rothesay yesterday afternoon he expressed the opinion that he would win easily. Spry came from his home city, via Quebec, Edmundston, Grand Falls, Woodstock and Fredericton. At every place he calls he gets the signature of the head official of the town or city to show as proof of his journey.

Spry is twenty-four years of age and appears to be living up to his "moniker."

FUR FESTIVAL A 10 DAY SALE

The curtain is up for the Fashion Show of 1922-23—and the prices are down! It has been voted that never in three generations have Magee's excelled themselves so in the master furrier's art. And no wonder, for inspiration has been drawn from the great designers of Paris, of Fifth Avenue, of Montreal—and the models have been made up for less here, bought direct from the hunters.

Excellent purchases were made ahead of a rising market—reductions result. Reductions doubled during this ten day sale to urge you to arrange for your fur while we can do our best. And so—

A Novelty in Mole

A silkier lightness and flexibility was obtained by specially treating Scotch Mole skin. The shawl collar is notched to button across when wanted—a 19 inch row of fur. The border is a seven fur width of 19 inches. Flare cuff in keeping, there's a sash belt and the lining of crepe is wide-bordered in gold and peacock satin. Reduced for sale from $625 to $374.

The Majesty of Beaver

A new achievement—a coat of King Beavers in one skin length, deep shawl collar, large bell cuffs, sash belt also of self, and in keeping with its regal texture a lining of broad satin in a flowered motif of old gold. Reduced for Opening Sale only from $700 down to $625.

Crossed Fox Comes Down Here

Scarves that would cost twice the price otherwise are through fortunate purchases as low now as $76—either open satin lined or full furred. Canadian Mink vying with Sable are found in seven different styles—Cape Collars to $68; Stoles to $134; Side Pockets and Trimmings of Heads, Tails and Reversed Furting. 72-inch Hudson Stoles in great variety down to $68.
