A Balkan "Calm."

Having beaten the Turks in a swift and sanguinary campaign, the Balkan Allies are celebrating peace and their triumph by slaughtering one another in true Balkan style. Of course it must be remembered that the Greek and the Bulgarian and the Serb fought and slew long before the all-conquering Turk appeared on the scene and crushed them all. Hence their mutual hatred is older than that against their common conqueror and the recent alliance was the one and only truce between them for a thousand years. As soon as the common danger had vanished, the old dislike burst forth anew, the question of boundaries being the disturbing cause. Before the war broke out, a complete scheme of annexation of the to-be conquered territories was made out. As the war proceeded, however, and when the end came, the allies found themselves so much more successful than they anticipated and found themselves in possession off so much more territory than they had hoped to win, some of the parties to the bargain began to see that the originally proposed division would be most unsatisfactory. Whereas they had planned only the subdivision of Macedonia, and of Albania as the countries likely to be overrun, they found at the close of the struggle that Bulgaria was in possession of Adrianople and practically the whole of Thrace, a total area of perhaps twenty thousand square miles and a population of a million and a half or two millions. If the ante-bellum agreement were carried out it would give more than one half of Macedonia as well to Bulgaria, making a most inequable division of the spoils. Seeing this, Servia, Greece and Montenegro demanded a reconsideration of the original agreement, and in the meantime have held all the territory occupied by their respective armies. Another thing which led the three small States to object to the original agreement was the decision of the Great Powers that Albania—which they anticipated would be divided among them—should be an independent State and not annexed to the victors. The whole situation looked as if Bulgaria was to get almost everything in sight. The Bulgarians of course naturally demanded that the original compact be carried out and apparently refused to listen to any compromise. Their troops now seem to be attacking the former towns in Macedonia held by Greek and Serb garrisons, and the fat is in the fire. The attitude of the Great Powers is an important factor in the present situation. Russia proclaims herself the Grand Protector of all the Southern Slavs, and no doubt is anxious to see peace between Serb and Bulgar. Austria does not wish to see one or more powerful Slavic Kingdoms grow up along her borders because of the ambitions and disturbances they might arouse among her own twenty millions of the same race. Hence in all probability she is quite willing for these Slavic States to fight and destroy each other's strength to the uttermost. Roumania, the most populous and prosperous of the Balkan States, and non-Slavic, has a boundary grudge against Bulgaria, and would no doubt be glad to seize the opportunity of her neighbor's embarrassment to annex the disputed territory. Russia would, of course, strengthen all the Slavic Kingdoms, but is not in a position to fight Austria, which means the Triple Alliance. What the end may be is not easily foreseen. One thing is certain, however, and that is that no settlement can be final which does not recognize the claims of race and language in the delimitation of boundaries. Any other agreement is but temporary and leaves the way open to future troubles. Greek to Greece, Serb to Servia, Bulgarian to Bulgaria!; such, as near as possible, must be the settlement if it is to endure.

The menace of dust.

A Boston physician, in a recent address, stated that, in his opinion, the city's high death rate in throat and lung diseases is due to smoke and dust. Any one of the largest causes of dust, he said, is to be found in the way of fixing the streets. He said:

"The original macadam put down about 15 inches of cracked stone and then about 10 inches of crushed stone and five inches of gravel, and used a steam roller with loads of water for several weeks, but the city of Boston puts down about two inches of cracked stone and a like amount of earth, followed by a roller for a few days. Another cause of dust and disease is the so-called street sweeping machine, which throws the dust 30 feet into the air at night, through open windows, to be breathed by the sleeper therein."

The Gloucester Advertiser says:—As to methods of road-building we do not pretend to be experts, although we firmly believe that the extra money spent in making roads right in the first place is money well spent. Permanent roads should be so built as to last more than a year. The country method of scraping each year the dirt from the sides of the road into the centre will hardly do in the city.

But we think that most physicians will probably agree that one large cause of disease everywhere is city dust. This dust is not simply pulverized rock as in the country, but is a composition containing within itself, besides rock, all kinds of dead and decaying animal and vegetable matter. When this is breathed in by people who are in a condition to suffer harm, disease very naturally results. Methods of laying dust may vary, for some would claim that all streets should be oiled, and some prefer water. But that dust shall be laid is very important in the summer, not only from the standpoint of comfort, but also for the sake of health. And the latter consideration is the greater.

Business schools.

The introduction of the type-writing machine and the great popularity of shorthand have greatly militated against good penmanship. We are not the writers that our fathers were, and the more is the pity. The fad of "reformed" or deformed spelling has caused undoubtedly a wide spread carelessness and disregard of orthography. When the school boy takes up a daily newspaper, a reputable magazine or even a Government report and finds that words are spelled after the manner of "Josh Billings" or "Artemus Ward," he feels that spelling is no longer a science but a joke, and he makes no effort to learn to spell properly. Even the few moments, which are all that can be given to the subject daily in the schools on account of an overloaded curriculum, cannot overcome the bad influence and example outside. Yes the world wants good penmen and good spellers now as much as ever despite the type-writer and the deformed speller. It is a pity that the world should become a world of poor spellers and of illegible writers, for verily legible writing is in danger of becoming a lost art. The Business School comes right in here and does the trick. Spelling and writing are specialized upon there and with excellent results. It has become more and more difficult of late years to procure account keepers who could keep books in a hand writing clear and legible to all. This must be corrected and the establishment of satisfactory business courses in every town and city is a matter of much moment and greatly desired. The day of the "man with the pen," is by no means over.

A noble citizen gone.

In the sudden death of Dr. Hibbert Woodbury, yesterday, the city loses one of its most worthy citizens. To the public, at least, the event came with absolute surprise, as no report of his being ill had been heard. The doctor was of the purest Loyalist Puritan stock, and numbered among his immediate ancestry many members of the medical profession. He was a native of Annapolis county, and came to Halifax more than thirty years ago to practice his profession, and for many years past has had one of the very best Dental practices in the Province, his great skill being recognized by all. From first to last he was intimately associated with every movement for betterment in every form. As a religious man of deep and true Christian sentiment and life, an active moral reformer, a great temperance worker, he was a tower of strength in every good cause. Politically he was an ardent Liberal and a very effective platform speaker, always having a clear and comprehensive grasp of the great questions which stirred the State and inspired the party battle.

As a youth he was well acquainted with Joseph Howe, and often used his father's horse and carriage to drive the Great Tribune from place to place during an election campaign; and many interesting reminiiscences he would relate of his association with the greatest of Nova Scotians. Halifax society will be the poorer for his death. His genuine Christian spirit, his honorable and upright living, his keen interest in all the higher things of life, his bright intelligence and his unassuming gifts of friendship and camaraderie formed a combination which cannot easily be duplicated. Of his departure, how fitting are the noble lines of Tennyson:

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.

For though from out our bourne of time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

Editorial Notes.

—A cloud of locusts brought an airman to the ground in France recently.

—The groom is of little importance in a wedding, but let him fail to show up, and his stock suddenly rises in value.

—Messages by wireless are henceforth to be called in the United States navy "radiograms," and "wireless telegraphy" is to be known as "radio communication."

—The City of Montreal has been notified that owing to a deadlock in the London money market, the loan of thirteen million dollars that Montreal is out for cannot be floated at the present time.

—Of course the business of aviation is going to result in many new laws and much reinterpretation of old laws. Perhaps some of this will appear before a case now pending in France is settled. A farmer has brought suit against an aviator to recover $50 for killing a cow. When the aviator made his landing, the cow, which was grazing near by, it is maintained, was frightened to death.

—With the filing of an application at San Francisco for a permit to construct a $500 cottage, building applications since the fire and earthquake of 1906 reached a total of approximately $400,000,000. This is in rough figures the amount of the city's loss of property in that disaster. This last application is numbered 50,000, the series dating from the first one issued after fire destroyed a large part of that city.

—A young woman who was under arrest in a London (G. B.) police court the other day, drew from her handbag a round box and aimed it at the judge. The police officers sprang forward and grabbed the box. As they did so toilet powder flew across the reporters' benches and covered the clothes of the men. But everybody in the room believed that his last hour had come, for the capers of the Suffragettes caused them all to see a bomb in the harmless box.

—The last word in department store sales methods is advertised by a New York concern. It has established booths in the Grand Central, Pennsylvania and Hudson terminal stations, which make it possible for a person to buy all the goods he wants without going to the store at all. When the commuter leaves the station he stops at the booth and leaves an order for whatever he wants; on his return to the station in the late afternoon he calls at the booth and gets the goods. Nothing could be simpler or more convenient.

—A London despatch says: The craze for "freak" fashions is nowhere more noticeable than in Hyde Park, where almost every other woman seems to be cake walking along in impossible skirts, that are first made tight to impede their natural walk, and then slit up so that they flop and flap about the legs and ankles. The fine, free walk that used to be so characteristic of the young English girl has gone. Now she trots with silly little steps until, as one watches the parade in the park, one feels that every one is walking to imaginary ragtime music. These dresses almost defy description. Everything is done to complicate the skirt and distort the shape of the body. They bulge where they should not bulge, and are looped up and festooned so as to be wide in the middle and narrow at the ends, like an inverted vase.

LINES

Written at the laying of the foundation stone of the Wallace Monument on Abbey Craig, near Stirling, G. B., on June 24, 1861.

BY JAMES MACFARLANE.

Mr. Wm. Stevenson, the first manager of the Nova Scotia Cotton Factory, in writing to a friend, encloses the following poem, with the remark, "No Poet Laureate could have written a more beautiful patriotic poem than this:

"Ours is no venal pomp to-day, we seek no vain
But like some solemn rite of old, our tribute due is paid.
We raise no ancient rivalry, all jealousies are cast
With that old strife and hate that mark the dead and mouldering past.

On looking at those darksome times from this our clearer day,
We see but right and tyrant might contending in the fray.
Brothers of England, ye have known our Scottish valour tried.
When plunging through the clouds of death we triumphed side by side.
As the old Wallace thrill of war rang tingling through the frame,
And strung each nerve like lightning cords, and filled each eye with flame.

Then soared the flag of victory, to crown the battle day
Old England's bravest hearts, and sons of "Scots wha hae".
What though our sires were enemies 'tis only ours to know
That Wallace fought for liberty, a tyrant was his foe.
And ever first our Wallace trod in freedom's cause sublime;
Not for his country's good alone, but for every age and clime
For souls aroused to emulate the loyal patriot's mind,
And see within their nation's rights, the rights of all mankind.

Then raise in these clear summer heavens, this tribute to the brave,
As though once more that hero's form, had leapt from out the grave.
High on his native hills again, a guardian power to stand,
The pillar of our nation's strength to counsel or command.
Telling old Scotland she is free,and in her freedom strong,
While she maintains a noble front, defiant of the wrong.
But may she bear a dastard's name, to all the world abroad,
When she forgets her liberty, her patriot and her God.

CANADIANS LOSE

Argonauts and Butler defeated in first heats at Henley to-day.

New Yorks and Philadelphia increase lead in respective leagues.

ARGONAUTS DEFEATED.

HENLEY, G. B., July 3.—The Grand Challenge Cup of the Royal Regatta will remain in England this year, as the Leander Rowing Club to-day defeated in the first heat the eight of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto, the only entry from outside the British Isles. The victory was won by a length and a quarter after an excellent race rowed in the capital time of six minutes and 51 seconds, which equals the record made by Leander in 1891, and by New College, Oxford, in 1897.

In the second heat, Jesus College, Cambridge, beat the London Rowing Club by 2½ lengths, in 7 minutes and 13 seconds. The weather was cloudy when the regatta resumed.

In the Diamond Sculls E. D. P. Pinks, of the London Rowing Club, beat E. L. Waite, of the Thames Rowing Club, who yesterday beat H. M. Kaulk, of the St. Petersburg Rowing Club. R. L. Bigland, of the Royal Chester Rowing Club, beat G. T. Allen, of the Mowry Rowing Club, Ireland.

E. B. Butler, of the Argonaut Rowing Club, Toronto, was beaten in his heat in the Diamond Sculls by C. W. Wise, of the London Rowing Club.

REFEREE SAVED GARDNER.

BOSTON, July 1.—Jimmy Gardner lost to Frank Klaus in the third round of their bout before the Armory A. A. here to-night. Although very clever, Gardner's blows lacked steam, and Klaus was in the ring to win. Klaus out-pointed and outpunched Gardner through the whole of the first two rounds, and in the third round his blows had Gardner going so badly that the referee stopped the contest before the round was concluded.

INTEREST IN SATURDAY'S RACE.

There is a lot of interest among yachtsmen in Saturday's yacht race in which the new craft Gem will meet the Zetes, the winner of all the races so far this season. The Gem has been built for speed, while in the Zetes cruising qualities were first considered. She, however, has proven herself fast enough to be champion of the Squadron, so that there is much speculation as to how she and the Gem will race. Being the Gem's first race, it is not expected that she will be able to show up at her very best, but a good sailing breeze is hoped for so that a line may be established as to her capabilities. There will be two other races Saturday.

The Gem is expected to be a contender with the Sydney yacht Shirley, for the Coronation Cup at Baddeck, Tuesday's Sydney Post says:

There was no yacht race yesterday but a trial sail was given the Dione and Shirley, with the result that the Shirley finished well ahead of her rival. The new boat is improving with every trial. Yesterday's time was the best as yet made by the challenger.

YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE GAMES.

New York Nationals won their third straight game yesterday from Philadelphia. Both teams hit the ball hard. Mathewson was touched up for thirteen hits. He had wonderful control, however, compelling the Philadelphias to hit the ball, and he did not give a pass or strike out a batsman. Brooklyn overwhelmed Boston 15 to 8. The latter went to pieces in the third, bad pitching and worse fielding allowing the home team to score nine runs off three hits. Chicago made a clean sweep of the series with Pittsburg.

The Athletics won their third straight game against New York, though the latter in the ninth drove Bender from the box, getting three runs. Boehling, of Washington, won his seventh successive victory, holding the champions to three hits. Falkenberg won his game from Cleveland.

LOCAL PLAYERS HAD GOOD PRACTICE.

When word was received yesterday that we would have some professional baseball games this summer the fans started to talk and think baseball, with the result that when the "pro." players turned up for practice on the Commons quite a number of the followers were there to see them work out. If the games with Quincy on July 11th and 12th pan out, as it is hoped they will, the Shirley league will be arranged with outside teams. Jim Hagerty, who a few years ago caught for the Socials, is anxious to bring a team here for a couple of games.

TRAYERS SHUT OUT NEW GLASGOW.

Westville defeated New Glasgow, yesday, 11 to 0. Trayers pitched great ball; he struck out 14 men. Trayers, if he could be secured, would be a great attraction for the first exhibition game between Halifax and Quincy, as besides being a great favorite here, he would be pitted against Lefty Ford.

GLACE BAY RACES.

3,000 persons witnessed the horse races at Glace Bay Tuesday, and notwithstanding the inclement weather.

The 2.15 class was won by Meadowvale, driven by Allie Lewis, after he dropped the second heat to Nellie Bangs in 2.23. Lina Millet fought every inch of the four heats. The latter won third money, and Tattam was fourth. The time was 2.21, 2.23, 2.23, 2.22. In the 2.28 class Harry L., driven by Matt McAdam, won the first two heats in 2.27, 2.26. Then Robert L., guided by Charley Sweet, went out and captured the next three. Queen Benito was third, while Lady Commodore was last. Time, 2.202, 2.29, 2.27.

The 3-minute class went to Woronoco Girl, owned by Mr. William Manson, of Whitney Pier. Nellie Dot won the first and third heats; Piccola Snell won third money, and Bruce fourth money. Other starters were Lady King, Nellie K., Reta B., Queen C. and Dannie Snell. The latter, in the third heat, when coming down the homestretch, tripped in his hopples, and turned a complete somersault. Charles McNeill, his driver, escaped unhurt. The time was 2.30, 2.32, 2.30, 2.30.

McINTYRE HAD BEST OF BOUT.

The North Sydney Herald, speaking of the Glace Bay bout, says:

An unfortunate and purely accidental foul in the sixth round caused the referee to give the bout to Griffiths. In the fourth, fifth and up to the moment in the sixth round that McIntyre shot a terrific left to a region below the belt line on Griffiths' body, the fight was certainly McIntyre's. There is no doubt about that. And it was real classy boxing too. No loafing, no signs of fear on the part of either man. It was simply a display of clever headwork, judgment and speed on the part of both. McIntyre's unfortunate foul seemed to be doubtful to many, and even the referee had his doubts as he started to count the fatal seconds, before he came to the conclusion that the blow was a foul one, and ordered the men to their corners.

Griffiths, to the mind of many, was not so badly injured as he would have people to believe, and certainly relished the decision of the referee. After going to the floor, Griffiths struggled gamely to his feet, a fearful look of pain on his features. He doubled up like a ball and tried to speak, and while the referee was talking to both he shot a wicked right at McIntyre, which showed he was not quite so badly hurt as he tried to make out. McIntyre, however, obeyed the man in the ring and took his corner. Then when the decision was given against him he walked to Griffiths and shook his hands.

DECISION AGAINST BAYLEY.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 1.—"Frenchy" Vaise, a Seattle boxer, was given the decision to-day over Joe Bayley, Canadian lightweight champion, at the end of their fifteen round bout at Dreamland arena. For the first five rounds Bayley made Vaise look like a novice, but in the sixth the Seattle boy landed a right cross that broke the Canadian's nose.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Resolution passed by the Illinois Legislature.

U. S. Senate Committee makes favorable report.

EDITOR DAILY RECORDER:

The best two numbers of the Boston Woman's Journal contain so many items of encouragement to those interested in woman suffrage that I am moved to send you the following resume:

June 11th the House of Representatives of Illinois passed a Bill granting a very large measure of suffrage to women over 21 years of age who have resided in the State 1 year. The vote in the House was 83 to 58; the Bill had already won a vote of 29-15 in the Senate and only awaits Governor Dunne's signature to become a law. The measure includes Presidential and Municipal Suffrage, also a vote for all statutory offices in the State and upon all questions or propositions submitted to the electors. It is, in fact, the largest suffrage vote that can be extended to the women without a change in the constitution, and Illinois is the first State east of the Mississippi to make this advance. It seems fitting that the State which has produced such women as Frances Willard and Jane Addams, Catharine Waugh McCulloch, Margaret Haley and Ella Flagg Young should achieve this distinction. Governor Dunne, at a jubilee banquet given two days after the bill had passed, said:

"For several weeks a party of black men has been tramping the halls of the State House working in behalf of an appropriation to assist them in celebrating the semi-centennial of the emancipation. For several weeks a number of women have been tramping those same halls, not for the purpose of observing the fiftieth anniversary of their emancipation, but for the purpose of trying to win their freedom."

Next we note that the United States Senate committee on woman suffrage, the chairman of which is a senator from Colorado where women vote, has made a favorable report. It recommends Congress to submit to the State Legislatures an amendment to the U. S. constitution forbidding disfranchisement on account of sex. The report was prepared by a Senator from Colorado, where women vote, and various other members of the committee hail from one or another of the nine States where women vote.

Senator Poindexter says that sentiment for the amendment is constantly growing in the Senate, and he expects the amendment to carry. Other Senators have expressed the same view. All the Suffragists in the Senate are preparing to make a determined fight for the measure.

Another cheering item is that the Norwegian Storthing has unanimously agreed to extend full Parliamentary suffrage to all women, without regard to the amount of their income tax.

Norway began by giving the municipal vote to women who had, or whose husbands had, an income, earned or otherwise, of about $100 a year. This took in three-fifths of the women in Norway. Next it granted Parliamentary suffrage to these same women. Then it made municipal woman suffrage universal; and now, without a dissenting vote, the Storthing decides to make Parliamentary suffrage for women universal too.

This year twelve State Legislatures of the United States have given majority votes of both houses in favour of a Suffrage amendment to be submitted to the electorate, and eight of these votes were States that had never done so before. When the thirteen Woman Suffrage Legislative Committee of Massachusetts was congratulated on the recent large majority for the suffrage amendment in the Lower House, she replied, "It is the changed atmosphere that did the business." There is no doubt that the next two or three years will see other States added to the number that are fully enfranchised for suffrage amendments are to be voted on in several of them.

Victor Hugo says there is one thing more powerful that kings or armies—"the idea whose time is come," but evidently Victor Hugo had never known of such a stupendous farce as the prejudice and pigheadedness of Easter Asquith or he would have been obliged to modify his theory. In Great Britain the time for woman's political freedom has fully come, yet because of the stupid obstinacy and autocratic power of one man this overdue reform still lingers.

M.R.C.

WANTS TO BE LET ALONE.

The Tory patronage committee should sit up and take notice.

MONTREAL, July 2.—"I am going to holiday for a month in ——, no, on second thought, I wish you wouldn't name the place. Just say in the Maritime Provinces."

So spoke Mr. Borden, Premier of Canada, as on a holiday. He has left the cares of State for a while. While he must not express an opinion in his official capacity as to the best place in Canada for a holiday, the Premier has his own opinion as to where "God's country" is located.

He has cleared his desk at Ottawa, and will stay by the sea until the end of the present month. His address will be neither Halifax nor his old home at Grand Pre, in the land of Evangeline. He wants to be let alone.

GOV. SULZER DECLARES

Breach of promise case against him is blackmail.

Claims it is a part of political conspiracy.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—William Sulzer, of New York, has been named as the defendant in a breach of promise suit when a summons in trespass was issued at Philadelphia in the office of the prothonotary of Common Pleas Courts. The plaintiff is Miss Mignon Hopkins, an attractive woman about 35 years of age, who formerly lived in Brooklyn, but who is now employed in a department store in Philadelphia. It is reported that the alleged contract of marriage was made Sept. 15, 1909.

"Yes," said Governor Sulzer to-day at Gettysburg, "I read about the Hopkins frame-up in Philadelphia. There is nothing to it I am afraid of. The whole thing looks like a poor conspiracy and seems to be stale and fishy." The fact is, the suit of this woman is blackmail, went on the Governor, and more instigated by my political enemies, is a part of the plot of Boss Murphy and his political conspirators to discredit me because they cannot use me for the nefarious schemes to loot State of New York.

"If I were willing to be Murphy's kind of a Governor no one would have heard of this and other matters he is using about me. That goes without saying. But because I am fighting graft, fighting for good government and fighting for direct nominations, Mr. Murphy and his hirelings are doing everything in their power to destroy me politically. They have been threatening me ever since I became governor, because I would not be a tool, and a proxy governor.

"Suffice it to say," said the Governor in concluding, "that I knew this Hopkins woman years ago. I was a friend of her family in their distress, but I deny emphatically that I ever lived with her, or that I ever held her out to be my wife."

111 DEATHS FROM HEAT

With 300 prostrations in Chicago in three days.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Twenty-eight additional deaths yesterday from heat brings the total for Chicago for the last three days to 111. There were more than 500 prostrations, and of these victims many may not survive.

Eighty-five babies have died in this city in the last three days of heat, and 76 deaths are reported from various points in the Central West.

In one spot near the Union Station 20 horses to-day fell exhausted inside of two hours. Seven of them were shot.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Of second daughter of President Wilson.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The President and Mrs. Wilson announce the engagement of their second daughter, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, to Francis Bowes Sayre, of Lancaster, Pa. The wedding is expected to take place next November at the White House. Mr. Sayre is at present an attorney in the office of District-Attorney Whitman, of New York.

SPEEDING 77 MILES AN HOUR.

Eldest son of Mrs. Wm. Vanderbilt is killed in auto mishap.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Samuel Stephen Sands, eldest son of Mrs. William Vanderbilt, was killed in an automobile accident at Southampton, L. I., last night. The speedometer of the automobile showed that he had travelled as fast as 77 miles an hour. Mr. Sands was 29 years old.

Successful Garden Party in north-end—Red Sox trounced North Stars, 18-3.

Mrs. F. H. Pauley, Pine St., leaves tomorrow for Barachois, Gaspe, to spend the Summer with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Ellis.

Miss Gladys McQuarrie, who has been teaching in Charlestown, Queens, is spending her vacation at her home in Dartmouth.

A little boy, son of Raymond Webber, Pine St., was bitten by a dog yesterday, and the animal will likely be destroyed.

To-morrow's baseball game will be between the Red Sox and St. Peter's. The game should be a good one.

In the Sunday school league the Methodists defeated the North-end mission team last night, 4-3. William Sawler was umpire.

Farrell's field, in the North-end, presented a pretty scene last night, being well lighted with Chinese lanterns and colored electric lights, on the occasion of the garden party given under the auspices of the North-end Mission of Christ Church. There was a large attendance in the afternoon, and at night the grounds were crowded. The booths all did a good business, and supper was served and partaken of by a large number. The garden party was a great success yesterday, the most attractive feature at night being the drill, performed by 32 young ladies, under the direction of A. L. Smith. The Citizens Band, of Halifax, supplied the music, and played in excellent style. The booths, etc., were looked after by the following, assisted by a number of charming young ladies:

Strawberries and cream and fruit—Mrs. Alfred Swaffer.

Candy—Mrs. George Mitchell.

Dining room—Mrs. B. F. Nass, assisted by Mrs. J. Keddy, Mrs. Thomas Bell, Mrs. (Capt.) Hare, Mrs. Beehan and Mrs. Dorwood.

Fancy booth—Miss Gladys Dorey.

Ice cream—Mrs. J. G. Smith.

Temperate drinks—Miss Daisy.

Mystery bags—Miss J. L. Baxter.

Carnations—Miss A. Judge.

The party will be continued to-night, with all the attractions, and an evening of enjoyment is in store for those who attend.

The Bangor Dance Club Natal Day committee met to-night to make further arrangements regarding the big celebration.

The Red Sox had a walk over in the baseball match with the North Stars last night, when they succeeded in piling up a score of 18 runs to 3 made by the Stars. The game, which was postponed from last Friday, opened with Baxter pitching for the Stars, and in the 4th eight runs were made. Jas. Martin then took the mound, but retired in favor of McInnis, who pitched the remainder of the game. D.R. Patterson was on the mound for the Red Sox, and but 22 men faced him in the whole game, two being given gifts of the initial bat. The Red Sox held the lead from the 2nd. Each team scored twice in the 1st, while the Red Sox got 3 to the Stars' 1 in the 2nd. The Stars failed to score again, while their opponents got 3 in the third, 8 in the fourth and 3 in the fifth. The Red Sox played snappy ball, making but few errors, while the opposing team, which had two new players, made many errors. The Red Sox, however, did some good batting.

Congdon is a fast player and a hard worker, and covers 3rd in good style. Wentzell played a splendid game in the field, and also running to bases. Bailey covered 2nd in good style.

Richards at first, and Martin on 2nd, played well for the Stars. Moore also did well behind the bat. Webber made a pretty steal home in the 4th.
