

PROGRESS, SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1899. GIVING TREES NAMES TO LAWS.

m-"I was badly afflicte enabled me to go to wor DACH, Margaretville, N. S.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irrrits of his long experience, he never could entirely rid himself of stage fright. During the first filteen minutes when I face an audiehce,' he said, 'my knees will knock

KEEPING TOUNG

A Woman who Knew how to Krep Her Good Looks,

The secret of prolonged youth-or a

She was as fresh in color as a girl her

'How do you keep to fresh and young mother of ten children.

"The Least Hair Most Legislature Fail to get More 11 Temperary Fame Thereby. Casts a Shadow."

negro.

stand her.

said.

It is said to be the ambition of nearly wary American legislator, who devotes inself diligently to the business of law saking, to give his name to some popular r important code, law, or statute. Yet A single drop of poison blood will, unless checked in time, make the whole impure. he fact is that few public measures, even these of most importance, are after a lapse of years remembered in connection with the individual responsible for their adopt tion. Comparatively few percess at pre-ent, for instance, remember that the Inter-State Commerce Commission bill was for Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great leader in blood purifiers. It casts no shadow, but brings sun hine and health into every household. Running Sore-"My mother was troubled with rheumatism in her knee for a number of years, and it broke out into a running sore. She took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. Hood's Olive Olintment helped to heal the eruption." Mas. Jour FARE, Cloverlawns, Ancaster, Ont. many years known as the Thurman law, named after Allen G. Thurman, a United States Senator and a candidate for the Vice-Presidency in 1888. Very few remember that the Chinese Exclusion bill was, when ic rheumatism. Consulted doc-put relief. Was persuaded to try arsaparilla, and five bottles gave and enabled me to go to work." under consideration in Congress, known as the Geary law. Mr. Geary was a Cali-fornia Congressman. In like manuer the Federal Civil Service law, introduced in Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints

the Senate in 1882 and passed by the House of Representatives in 1883, was long known as the Pendleton bill, but it is probable that few percons now remem-bor Pendleton. Yet Mr. Pendleton wa. a candidate for Vice President of the United States on the Democratic ticket in 1864, the most formidable candidate before the ate of the convention for President in in 1868, a candidate for Governor of Ohio, tor six years a United States Senator from that State and alterward United States audiehce,' he said, 'my knees will knock together.' When he got tairly into his subj'ct, however, this nervouences, which all speak-ers have sometimes telt, passed away. He put his points well in any argument, and his elequencs was of a high order. His tribute, in one senterce, to "Abraham Lin-coln is an unsurpassed compliment. 'Mr. Lincoln,' he said, 'is the only white man into whose presence I was ever usher-ed who did not make me feel that I was a nearc. Minister to Germany. In the emaller field of State legislation the expectations of ambitious statesmen to te 'lorever known' as the chempions and defenders of certain bills are equally marked, but, in most cases, with like results. The application to voting in New York of the Australian system of marked ballots furnished by the State was for years the special effort of Charles T. Saxton, and the bill as originally offered and as finally passed in 1890 was known as 'the Saxton law.' Now that the law has been in pracpart of the secret-seems to be revealed in the modified form ot 'rest-cure' described tical operation for less than ten years how by Clarissa Sergeant in Harper's Bizar. She pictures a little German woman, the many persons remember Mr. Saxton as the author of it ? There are probabl& very few who remember the 'Cantor Bill,' which was expected to immortalize, in New York hair without a touch of gray, her face withat least, its author, Senator Cantor. It out a wrinkle, and she telt I am sure as she provided for a schedule tax on public francertainly locked far younger than I. So chires suplying to all the railroads in the So I asked her finally: state. It was thought to solve, in an equitable way, many problems as to the with all your great family ?' She looked at me a momentf and then laughed her merry little laugh. 'You see,' she said, 'I hat my von little nape.' estowal of and the payment for street tranchises, but there are now very few persons who connect Mr. Cantor with this measure or have any knowledge of its provisions.

When in 1892 the Democrats gained control of the Legislature, they presented what was known as the Foley bill, named after the chairman of the Excise Committee in the Assembly. The Foley bill was for some time the subject not only of political con-troversy, but of legal interpretation as well. It remained the law of the State urtil superseded in 1896 by the Raines bill, but was not long remembered as the Foley bill. The present successful liquor tax bill, because it so r.dically changed the excise system of the State and produced such new conditions, stands a better chance than most laws of keeping an author's name before the people of the State. The Horton law, relating to conditions under which sparring contests may be beld in this State is another measure which has for some time retained its author's name, especially among the class of citizens which it most affects. Recently a member of the State Senate introduced what was known as 'the Ahearn bill,' regarding the salaries of the teachers employed in New York schools, a measure which might not unreasonably be expected

'Vy. se,' she said, in her pretty broken English, 'aboud twelf o'clock, or maybe two, as you like it besser, I takes de baby, vichever iss de baby, and I gres to de oom and takes my saps.' 'Bat if the baby won't sleep at that the

She shrugged her shrulders. 'Oh, he sleep all right.' 'But there are so many things to de while the baby sleepe,'I went on.

'I vil haf my naps,' was her smilin

'But,' I urged, 'supposing comething appens to the other children while you and the baby are asleep ?'

Then she did stare at me

Then she did stare at me. 'There could not noting happen to dore children vorse dan I not get my von little nape, 'she said, indignantly. I gave it up. This closed the argument. And the writer hands on the advice to all other tired mothers to try the little nape, even if it upsets to a degree methodical housekeeping. Method is good, but if it comes to a whip which makes rest impossible, it should be dropped.

Brave Reuben James

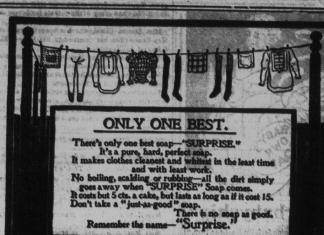

The naval history of the United States replate with instances of individual bravery. Golden Days prints the story of one of the most remarkable of such deeds, that of Rheuben J: mes, an ordinary seean, who saved the life of his com he famous Com. S'ephen Decatur, by an act of deliberrte self sacrifice. Daring a battle with Tripolitan war essels in the early part of the present contury, Decatur boarded one of the enemy's ships to avenge the death of his brother, who had been treacherourly killed by a Tripolitan commander. The commander was rangled out for attack by Decatur as soon as he got aboard, and a fierce hand to hand cor flict ensued.

grappled with Decatur, and both fell on the deck. Just then another officer aimed a blow with his sword at Decatur's defenceless head.

dashing forward, he interposed his own head to save that of his captain. Fortunwhich granted him a pension, although he he coutineed in active service. When his injuries had healed and he was again ready for duty. James was arked by Decatur what he could do for him. The sailor, who was quarter gunner on the vessel and had charge of the men's ham-mocks, touched his hat in a customary salute, and after a moment's reflection replied : 'Your what ?' I asked, puzzled to under

'Nothing, sir, as I know on, 'copt you might let some an else give out the ham-mocks when your piped down.'

added, struck with a sudden brilliant thought, the fish to live in the water and the mole to live in the ground. 'Pat the first in the element of the sec-oud, it struggles feebly for a short time and then is strangled. Put the second in-to the third, it flunders, gasps and dies. And should the lowly mole attempt to scar-like the bold cagle above the gray moun-tain crage and cliffs he—it—it would make-him dizzy !'

Bow Expert Ten Tastors Test Ten. The expert tes tester carefully weighs the test poter a certain quantity of fresh boiled water on it Thing, far for a few minutes, then tasks it-Thing, and for a few minutes, then tasks it-tifter not from the right way of multip test which differ not from the right way of multip test.

How He was Oured

'I don't believe all I hear about the unwholeaomeness of cigarettee,' said a young man who was addicted to the cigarette habit. 'I acknowledge they are nasty things to smoke, and very offensive to some peo ple, without doubt, but I won't be abused into reforming, and I won't 'swear off.'

'It always seems to me,' he went on, 'that a fellow can't trust himself it he has to quit anything by swearing off. If anybody will show me some good, sound reason why I should be ashamed to smoke cigarettes. I'll quit for good and all without taking a VOF.

An quit for good and an without taking a vow."
Do you mean that ?' asked the triend to whom he was speaking.
'I do.'
'Then come with me.'
The two young men went out on the street, stationed themselves at a prominent corner, and waited. Presently a little Italian boy came along. He had a basket on his arm. It was halt tall of the atumps of cigars and cigarettes which he had picked up from the guttro, and he was adding to his stock momentarily from the same sevence.
'What do you do with those, my boy ?' inquired one of the young men.
'Soll'em. Cigarette thatotory. Ten centa quart,' replied the lad.
'Do you believe in doing anything to encourage that sort of industry ?' asked the triend.
'On my honor, no !' answered the cigarette smoker.

NOTICE.

C.

pre two ma the

thr Loand

fier

the loca which the duri paid forty bald regio thing year speci ral. snake coyot and is caunce on an which may l away ing he may l couthe fornia Piver A the conto into o there i NOTICE is here by given the' under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a cortain Indesture of mortgage bearing date the twenty-third day of January in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety four, and registered in the flice of the Registrar of Deeds in and for the Gity and County of Sta-John as number 65857, in Book 50 of Records pages 20, 31, 32 and 33, on the seventh day of February A. D. 1694, and made between Wil-liam Thompson of the Ci y of Saint John in the City and County of St. John and Province of New Buuswick and Mary Enox of the same place, widow ci the late James Kn x of the one part, and George E. Fenety of the City of Prederioton in the County of York and Prov-

-and those popular magazines-

Tested his Strength, Charlie M. was at home from college, spending his sum may veshich. The M.'s were fairly well to do, and Charlev was passing the forences, early comfortably on the cool and shad y setting. Down by the test yeard' fence, in a anglected place, is group of strong, healthy weeds had spring up and flourished under the summer sun. "Left unmolested in the rush of work on the farm, they were fast becoming a blot on the otherwise orderly promises, and that morning Charlie's father—the 'old man'-had sallied forth, and was now making a vigorous assult upon the patch. father-the 'old man-had sallied forth, and was now making a vigorous assult upon the patch. Suddenly he left off his work and came up into the yard. Taking a broomstick which happened to be leaning against the verands, he laid it on the graar, then turn-ed to Charlie and said: "Git down here and see if you can pull me over that stick." He held in his hand a small chain, in each end of which was inserted a stout stick to serve as a handle. Then the tag began, and developed into quite a spirited contest. But at last Charlie succeeded in dragging the old man scross the line. "There, that'il do,'he said, dropping his end of the chain. 'I guess you've got strength enough to pull them weeds down there by the barn." 'I never said a word,' said Charley, tell-the story atterward, 'but before noon there weren't any weeds left standing.' The Tripolitan, a large, powerful man, Reuben James, an American sailor both of whose arms were temporally disabled by wounds, saw the impending blow, and ately the blow was a glancing one, but it made a terrible gash in the man's skull. It was a long time before he recovered from the effects of the wounds. His brave act was suitably recognized by Congress which granted him a pension, although he

It is well before scaring too far aloft on

Tosted his St

the wings of eloquence, to make a trial flight in private, and settle upon a spot on which to alight with case and dignity. 'It is of no use for people to strive to live outside of their own element, that for which they wore born, and in which they are at home,' said the lecturer of the even-ing addressing the Potucket Club on 'Socialism and Where It Leads.' 'The bird is made to live in the air, he

- and those popular magazines-Munsey McClureAND..... Cosmopolitan sent to your address for one year. DON'T MISS IT ! Nou can't AFFORD to miss it, if you have time to read, and want CHEAP and GOOD read-ing matter. P. S. Old subscribers can secure the magazines upon re-newing, for 50c. extra or $4.50 in all.

preservices in the County of York and Prov-ince aforeaid, Queen's Printer of the other part, there will for the purpose of satisfying the moneys scoured and made psyable in and by the said Indenture of mortgage default hav-ing been made in the payment thereof, be soid by the said Indenture of mortgage default hav-ing been made in the payment thereof, be sold at public suction as Chubb's Correr, so called, in the said City of 54. Johr, on SATURDAT, THE I TWENTY-RECOND DAY OF JULY NEXT, as the hour of twelve of the clock nor m of that day, the lands and premises in the said Index ture of mortgage described as following ² That is to say 1-

"A LL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR. "A LL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIRCE OR A percei of lend situate lying and boing in "the city of Saint J.the airressid and bounded and "described as follows.-Beginning at the South "West Corner of Duke and Wentworth Strette "therce running along the Southern side of Duke "Etrest forty feet in a Westerry direction thence "Boutherly and parallel to Westworth Strette one "hundred and are feet thence Basterly parallel "Duke Strett forty feet to Westworth "Strett to the place of brginning." ALBO, "All that cortain other place or parallel "Bast front fronting on said Westworth "Stret to the place of brginning." ALBO, "All that cortain other place or parallel described as follows brginning at a point on the "Westry side of Westworth distant Boutherly" "One hundred and for feet for Duke Street

red and five feet from D ath day of May A. D. 1899

GEORGE E. FENI