Denver, Colo., Sept. 16, 1916.

My dear Mr. Kerr:

It is very kind of you to have extended to me the invitation you have to speak to the men of your church some time this Fall or Winter, and it was very kind of Mrs. William Hendrie, at Hamilton, to have suggested my name to you.

Were it possible to comply with your request I should gladly do so, but the engagements I have already made for the present year, and in fact until the spring of next year, involving as they do a considerable amount of travel, will make it impossible for me to consider other engagements. Though being regretfully obliged to write as I do, I nevertheless very much appreciate your kindness in extending the invitation you have, and thank you for it.

Yours sincerely,

W. L. MACKENZIE KING
