

In Britain Collected by [unclear]

Here, then, in inter-imperial relations, as well as in international relations, are two attitudes of negotiation diametrically opposed. The one, placing its reliance upon the furtherance of mutual interests, by the discovery of common ground, by the fostering of an atmosphere of goodwill, of voluntary, kindly and generous approach, having faith in the powers of persuasion, in the willingness of +

C 65716

W.L. Mackenzie King Papers
Memoranda & Notes

PUBLIC ARCHIVES
ARCHIVES PUBLIQUES
CANADA