

WILLIAM FOREMAN & CO.

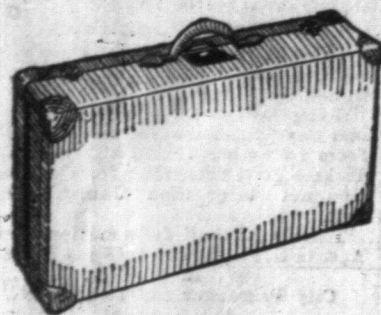

WE are not advertising to-day. We want to use this space, and take this opportunity to thank our patrons for helping us to end this old year well.

WE WISH YOU ALL

A Happy And Prosperous

: : : : New Year : : : :

WILLIAM FOREMAN & CO.

Nothing Nicer For a

PRESENT

Than to select one of our

Trunks, Bags, or Suit Cases.

the best goods in this country for the money, largest selection to choose from. Our prices always the lowest.

J. L. Campbell, Boston Shoe House

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in all cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL

WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. E. Wells, of Villa Ridge, Ill., writes: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with a putrid sore throat and asthma for some ten years. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER, Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel, New York, Jan. 3, 1901.

Gentlemen,—Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform, or ether. Very truly yours, Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler.

Arvon Springs, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

Dr. Taft Bros. Medicine Co.,

Gentlemen,—I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I came to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York. I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

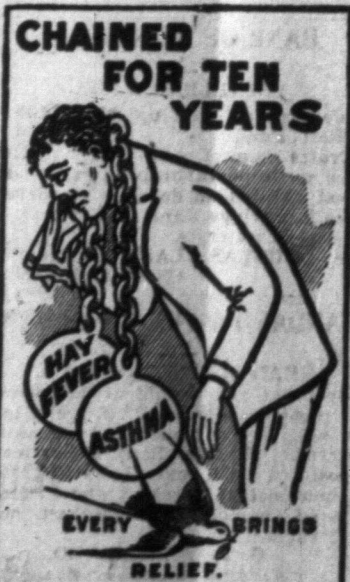

Yours respectfully,
O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

Dr. Taft Bros. Medicine Co.,
Gentlemen,—I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years I was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit.

Home address, 238 Livingston street, S. RABHAEL,
67 East 129th street,
New York City.

Trial bottle sent absolutely free on receipt of postal.
Do not delay. Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., 79 East 130th street, N. Y. City.

Sold by all druggists.

SNOW PLOUGH

Maple City Become Possessed of one in a Rather Remarkable Way.

It was only an old, dilapidated corn cultivator, and having served its time of usefulness, was being offered for sale on the market. The apparent uselessness of the old wreck appealed to the ingenuity and constructive ability of Engineer McNabb, and he purchased it.

Then, with precision and the use of logarithms and other sciences known only to a civil engineer, he figured out that there was a snow plough concealed in that ancient agricultural implement, and with the aid and assistance of a blacksmith, the City Engineer evolved a snow plough from the corn cultivator that was carefully and marvelously made.

The snow came and the plough was used.

The machine had been built on scientific lines and was bound to do the work, only the Engineer hadn't allowed for the corn cultivator snow plough running straight. It ran most every way except straight, and sometimes it cleaned the snow from the sidewalks and sometimes from the boulevard. Despite its little eccentricities the snow plough was a little better than no snow plough at all.

GOOD SHOTS

Some of the Local Marksmen Made Strong Scores in Tests Yesterday.

The following are the scores secured by the marksmen at yesterday's shoot:—

1st Sweep, 10 pigeons—W. D. Tristram 5, J. Moore 3, A. C. McKay 7, J. O. Oldershaw 6, T. Gutteridge 3, Jas. O. Nichol 7, W. Nichol 7, H. Hall 7, H. Cade 4, P. Taylor 5.
2nd Sweep, 10 targets—W. Hall 9, Tristram 10, McKay 9, Richards 6, W. Nichol 5, Wilson 8, Joe Oldershaw 7, Fraser 7, Jas. O. Oldershaw 4, Lunn 6, Thomas Nichol 5, E. Gutteridge 4, Kime 5, McLean 4, Taylor 6, Herse 4, Hicklin 6.

WERE HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Marshall Receive Gifts from Choir and Congregation of St. Andrew's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Marshall, who leave to-morrow for Guelph, were on Tuesday evening presented by the choir of St. Andrew's Church with a handsome silver tea service as a slight mark of the esteem in which they are held by that choir. Accompanying the presentation was an engraving by J. W. Wilson. "Presented to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, choirmaster and organist—To the best choirmaster and organist St. Andrew's Church ever had. By the choir." The occasion was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, both of whom made suitable replies.

Last evening, at the residence of Mr. D. McLachlan, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were again surprised by members of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church and presented with a well-filled purse, accompanying which was the following address:—

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 1, 1902.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Marshall:—Learning, with regret, that you are about to sever your connection with St. Andrew's Church, we feel that we cannot allow you to leave without pressing to you in a measure, at least, our very high appreciation of the excellent service which you have rendered to our church during your five years' stay with us. We have no hesitation in saying that our estimation of the church was never so well and faithfully served, either in the handling of the organ or the leadership of the choir, as it has been during your engagement. While we will miss you very much, yet we cannot but rejoice to know that since we are to lose you that what is our loss in this particular case is to be your gain, as we understand your new engagement will give you a wider sphere of usefulness and service. Before separating we ask you to accept this purse and its contents as a slight token of the high esteem in which you are held by us. We wish you both a most happy and prosperous New Year, and that you both may live long to conduct the service of song in other fields. We remain,

Yours most sincerely,
Signed on behalf of the friends,
ROBT. GRAY,
ROBERT RIDDELL,
ARCHIE PARK,
D. MC LACHLAN.

AID TO UNIVERSITY.

At the inaugural meeting of the Alumni Association of Toronto University, at the County of Kent, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas during its last session, the Ontario Legislature, in its desire to further the development of the mineral resources of the province, set aside a certain sum of money for the maintenance of several of the science departments of the University of Toronto.

Resolved that this association hereby record its high appreciation of such action on the part of the Legislature, and respectfully urge upon the Government the advisability of carrying out its liberality policy by erecting at an early date the science building, as provided for in the estimates of the last session of the Legislature.

GRACE McDONALD, Secretary.

WM. DOUGLAS, President.

Chatham, Ont., Dec. 17, 1901.

A copy of the resolution has been forwarded to the Government through Mr. Fardo, M. P.

Theatrical

"The Hottest Coon in Dixie" was the title on the boards last evening, under which a number of colored specialists went through a little extravaganza of their own.

While there was nothing elaborate in the production, taken on the whole it was very fair.

"MAMSELLE AWKINS."

The Toronto News of Dec. 10th says concerning an early attraction at the Grand, which Mr. Cairns has arranged to play Chatham at a scale of prices ranging from $1.00 to 25 cents. This is the first time such an attraction has played any town the size of Chatham at such prices.

Fresh and light as the air is "Mam" "Selle Awkins," and withal as pure.

Such a delicious musical comedy has not been seen at the Grand in quite a while, and of a truer, but few so unctuous in their humor, so softly winning as it were, can be recalled from the happy memories of the past.

The piece is a capital vehicle of four—plot, score and orchestration being agreeably good. It's the same old story, however, with not even a touch of novelty.

The penitence of Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure and imparts the good feeling to her audience. A vivacious actress of many physical charms is Miss Carolyn M. Huestis. The leading men are all good. Harry W. Wilson, making an ideal young Lord, J. J. Cluason, an interesting physical culturist, and J. E. Sullivan, a laughable Scotchman. Eddie Smith, a Boniface, is inexpressible funny.

Lord weels the rich lady who knows not of his bankruptcy. He keeps her ignorant of his financial standing with the aid of a Jew, a Highlander and a mooned country girl. Comedians crowd on each other, then follow explanations, and all rounds out harmoniously. Richard Carle has a dialogue to be proud of, and Al. Adams a truly beautiful lyrical collection. The large audience of first-nighters greeted Miss Della Stacey cordially. She talks, sings and acts with gracious ease, and her enthusiasm seems infectious. A generous bouquet of white mums was presented to her in the first act. They were from the members of the company, and formed a slight mark of appreciation for loving kindnesses shown a chorus girl who was taken ill last week. Miss Ella Vine, as Lady Janet Belford, is pretty and accomplished. She sings "Mary Green" in a spirit of genuine pleasure