

disposition and Intercourse which subsists between Us and the United States of America our neighbours, in consequence of the late Treaty of Amity, Commerce and Navigation entered into between Our Gracious Sovereign and the Executive Government of those States, and the Important successes with which Almighty God has vouchsafed to bless His Majesty's Arms, whereby the hostile Power of our inveterate Foe is greatly reduced ; It is at the same time incumbent upon us to bear in our minds the character of the Enemy with whom Our Gracious Sovereign is contending for the safety of his People ; and the secret machinations which have been carried on in every country to which our Foes have had access, for the purpose of misleading the Credulous from their duty, and subverting the Governments by which they were protected : These considerations render it necessary that our Care and Vigilance for the Security of our Internal Tranquility should not be relaxed.
