UNION IS STRENGTH

AS was predicted a number of years ago by philosophers and others the newspaper is the greatest moulder of public opinion. The preacher in the pulpit and the lecturer on the platform speak to few in comparison to the voice of the newspaper. The journalistic fraternity in its dis-jointed state without apparent aim beyond advancing the interests of some political politician weakens its power and discredits its influence with thinking and sensible people. If the newspapers of the Lower Provinces would unite and in some way come to a mutual understanding for the advancement of the people's interest and general welfare it would be a patriotic and noble aim of which they would have no reason to regret. The parent does not desire his family or his friends to be at "loggerheads" with one another but is more interested in their pecuniary and social advancement. So the newspapers which should be imbued with a patriotic spirit should endeavor to discover some way of coming together—exchanging views for the upbuilding and solidifying of the country of which they form so important a part and influence. In the vernacular of the street we are weary of these petty political bickerings which seem to serve no good purpose and only cater to the tastes of groundlings.

A BETRAYAL OF JUSTICE.

ABOUT a year ago a shortage of over a thousand dollars was found in the accounts of a manager of a Cape Breton branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. As soon as his embezzlement was discovered the young man "hit out" so to speak and was not located until about a month ago when he was rounded up in Boston and brought back to Halifax for trial. According to the Boston papers he declared at the time of his arrest that his shortage was due to the "fast company" he kept while manager of the branch. His trial came off the other day and he beheld the bank officials declared that they had no evidence to offer. The young man was forthwith liberated. Is this justice? If there was not a shortage in the young man's account a grave and imponderable injustice was done him. If there was a shortage he should receive just punishment the same as any other criminal. It is not by any means the right thing to make flesh of one and fish of another in such matters. Society does not demand it and should not tolerate it.

THE other day a very serious accident occurred at Balmoral and Events was compelled to go to press without any reference to the matter simply because this paper's correspondent at that place did not send in an account of the affair to reach us before publication day.

Now this is the class of news this paper wants and at the earliest possible moment. We would urge our representatives to wire us any important news if there is not sufficient time to write, so that it would reach us not later than Thursday at noon. We want the news.

DIST. Supt. Price of the I. C. R. well deserves the commendation of the community at large for his thoughtfulness in wiring abroad the news of the burglary at New Mills and the presence of tramps in the country. This is the garb of patriotism we admire.

THE conduct of the Restigouche County soldiers who returned from Camp Sussex the other day under command of Capt. Fritchard is very highly spoken of. We are pleased indeed to note this fact.

Wedding at Newcastle

One of the prettiest weddings of the season on the North Shore was solemnized at Newcastle on Tuesday when the Rev. Hammond Johnston, pastor of the Methodist Church there was united to Miss Georgina May, daughter of Rev. George Harrison, a retired Methodist divine also of Newcastle. The ceremony took place in the Methodist Church at 9 o'clock. The edifice was very handsomely decorated for the occasion and was crowded to the doors.

The bride, carrying a handsome bouquet of roses and maiden hair fern entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Fred Yorston. She looked very pretty in a gown of cream silk poplin. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Harrison, sister of the bride and the groom was supported by Rev. Mr. Pinkerton.

Rev. George Harrison performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. James Stothard of Chatham.

A delightful reception was held at the home of the bride at 11 o'clock after which the happy couple left on the Ocean Express, amid showers of rice and best wishes, for a brief honeymoon in Prince Edward Island.

The bride who is a prominent worker in the Methodist church and immensely popular received many handsome presents. The groom's present was a fine upright piano.

Closing Exercises of Oak Point School

The annual examinations of Oak Point School were held Thursday forenoon June 30th. The large number of visitors present, including Rev. M. J. McPherson who kindly assisted were delighted and pleased with the program and work displayed by the scholars in the different grades and the result speaks well of the able and capable manner in which the school has been conducted during the past two years by its teacher, Mrs. A. A. Busted. Prizes were awarded as follows.

Grade V:—Miss Annie Harper 1st, Grade IV:—Hilda Mann, 1st James Hunter, 1st Grade III:—Willie Campbell 1st, Mable Hunter and Grade II:—Percy O'Connor, 1st, John O'Connor and Grade I:—Percy Mann 1st, Audrey Bryant and

Good attendance Sinclair McNaughton. After several recitations had been declaimed, the usual picnic took place which had become one of the events of the day and which is looked forward to and enjoyed by everyone.

A real family medicine chest in itself—Kendrick's Liniment—Do you know its value?

The Blooming Thorn Tree.
There is a legend to the effect that the thorn blooms on Christmas day. It is said that St. Joseph of Arimathea landed near Glastonbury and stuck his staff in the ground. It took root, grew and blossomed every Christmas day thereafter. The tree was hewn down by a Furtian of the time of Cromwell, but in doing this deed he cut his leg, and chips flying from his ax blinded him. The trunk, though separated from the root, grew and flourished, and for many years alps and blossoms from the tree of St. Joseph were sold by the merchants of Bristol.

Breaking It Gently.
His Cousin—We sent off the dispatch to stop your model coming. But you had put one word too many, so we stuck it out.
Real Artist—Oh, indeed! What word did you strike out?
His Cousin—You had written, "He is not to come, as I have only just discovered I cannot paint today." So we crossed out "today."—Punch.

Brought Trouble.
White—What is the matter with Finger's head?
Green—Yesterday was his wedding, and he gave his wife a rolling pin for a present, and when he returned the present with a speech suitable to the occasion.

THE CAVE OF GHOSTS.

This is One of the Wonder Places of New South Wales.

One of the curiosities of Oakley creek, N. S. W., is a cave which very few people care to enter. It is of the usual order of stalactite and stalagmite shapes and figures, but in order to get inside it the visitor must crouch down and squeeze himself through a narrow opening and grope his way in the inky darkness for a few yards till he can stand erect and light a torch. As soon as he has done this he sees faintly the weird shapes assumed by the water dripping from the limestone and he hears a whirling noise. He feels inclined to make his exit at once, but he hears something moving all round him, and presently something touches him.

He concludes that there are uncanny spirits about, and this sensation is multiplied many times in intensity when on turning to retrace his steps he finds himself confronted by a tall, ghostly figure.

If the visitor has a strong nerve or has been forewarned, which is not always the case, he recognizes that the ghostly figure is a senseless block formed by the dripping from the limestone, and that the moving creatures are bats.

There is one part of the cave which no man has dared to explore. It is called the blowhole. One adventurous visitor was about to squeeze himself through this narrow aperture when it occurred to him to throw a stone through. He did so, listening for the stone to touch bottom, and the dull sound that finally reached him convinced him that there was a sheer drop of 200 feet on the other side of the blowhole.

Condensed For Four Days.
"There was a good old lawyer of the good old southern type," said a judge, "who had a most eloquent way of pleading. His brief for three days had been a marvel of classical allusion and legal erudition."

"The judge, however, became a trifle impatient and, as gently as he could, intimated that the docket was somewhat crowded, and it might be to the client's interest if the lawyer could contrive to end his plea. And, do you know, the old barrister declared that the last four days of his argument were a marvel of condensation."

Critics.
A party of composers and printers from the country, up for a day's outing in London, visit the National gallery and pause in front of Turner's "Ulysses."
Foreman (to his companions, both lost in admiration)—It's marvelous! All done by hand too!
Second Composer and Printer (enthusiastically)—Why, it's every bit as good as color printing!

Born Diplomat.
The famous portrait painter threw down his brushes with a sigh.
"What is the matter?" asked his elderly blossom of a customer.
"It's no use!" he cried. "I can never reproduce your loveliness."
