Appeal Against Fifteen Years' Imprisonment Fails.

His Rise From Disaster Furnishes Extraordinary Story.

New York, Oct. 11 .- The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals to-day affirmed the de cision of the Lower Federal Court sen tencing Charles W. Morse to 15 years ment in the Federal prison a

The decision of the Circuit Court o Appeals is final so far as direct appeal is concerned, but it was said to-day that counsel for Morse may apply to the Supreme Court of the United States for

Mr. Morse was convicted of violating the National Banking laws in misapply-ing the funds of the National Bank of North America of which had Bank of North America, of which he was president at the time of the last financia panic. He was charged with making false entries on the bank's books. He was sen on Nov. 8, 1908, after a long entries on the bank's books. He was sentenced on Nov. 8, 1908, after a long jury trial.

At the office of Mr. Morse's commsel to-day it was stated that the case would be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, and an aplication for half would be made. Meantime Mr. Morse would be sent to the Tombs prison, or might be sent to Atlanta to begin his sentence, unless the Circuit Court of Appeals in New York granted a stay in the execution of his sentence.

Mr. Morse appeared at the office of the United States marshal soon after the decision was handed down, and surrendered himself. He remained in the Marshal's office while his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, asked the Circuit Court of Appeals for a stay in the execution of the sentence, pending further proceedings.

A WONDERFUL STORY.

New York, Oct. 10.—"It requires more brains to make a second fortune than it does a first," Charles W. Morse war quoted as saying a few months ago, when the doors of the Tombs prison, quoted as saying a few months ago, when the doors of the Tombs prison, where he had been confined for many months, swung open under an order from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the federal court and he was allowed to the confined from the confined from months, swung open under an order from the federal court and he was allowed to take his way once more back to Wall street to tackle the job of getting back the fortune he had lost.

Over his head there hung then and still hangs the sentence of fifteen years imprisonment in the federal penitentiary in connection with his conviction of misapplying the funds of the National Bank of North America. Mr. Morse now seems fairly on his way to financial power and affluence. This was shown the other day when he was elected president of the Hudson Navigation Company, which controls the lines on the Hudson River, and with some of his friends quietly acquired the Metropolitan Steamship Line.

The rise of Morse from defeat and disaster to a position of power in the market places where he was laid low furnishes one of the most extraordinary stories that Wall street has known. How great has been the task confronting the former ice king in building up a soecond fortune may be gathered from the fact that the financial storm which broke over his head in the panic of 1907 stripped him of a fortune conservatively estimated at $22,000,000 and left him with $7,000,000 of debts to face.

Mr. Morse, just before the panic, ped him of a Jortune conservatively estimated at $22,000,000 and left him with $7,000,000 of debts to face.

Mr. Morse, just before the panic, while not a financial potentate of the first magnitude, belonged to a group of men whose fortunes and connections entitle them to be called financial powers. He controlled with his friends a chain of banks with deposits amounting to $200,000,000 or more; a steamship trust which he had formed some years prior. After the storm had wiped out his fortune and left him with those $7,000,000 of debts, the courts came along and said that Mr. Morse must serve fifteen years in prison to wipe out a little debt he owed to the community for doing the things he had done in his bank.

When they put Morse in a cell after his conviction just a year ago, his brain began to be busy devising ways of pay-

When they put Morse in a cell after his conviction just a year ago, his brain began to be busy devising ways of paying his debts and getting a second fortune. He left to his lawyers the job of getting him out.

The plans for recouping his fortune which Mr. Morse conceived while he looked through the bars of a cell soon began to materialize. First there was incorporated in Maine. Morse's old State, the Morse Security Company, with a capital of $10,000,000. That was Morse's little plan for paying off the creditors of his bank, whose claims amounted to $1,300,000. This has practically been consummated.

ed to $1,300,000. This has practically been consummated.

The next thing that Wall street knew, Morse and some of his friends who had remained by him in the days of his trouble had formed the Assets Realization Company. This was to pay off other debts Mr. Morse's personal direction since he got out of the Tombs, has taken over a lot of the od Morse securities which had been hypothecated and has issued its own obligations against them. Meanwhile, Mr. Morse has been working on these old securities, helped out by a rising market. In fact, Wall street has been kind to him since he began this rebuilding so that some securities have more than doubled their value.

It was announced only yesterday by Mr. Morse that he had paid off about $5,600,000 of his $7,000,000 indebtedness.

Wentworth and Halton County W. C. T. # MARRIAGE IS A SIN.

Cause of Trouble Between Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. Stetson—Practitioners Lose Licenses.

MRS. AUGUSTA E. STETSON, ROUTED BY MRS. EDDY

(Special Despatch to the Times.) New York, Oct. 11 .- Whether it right or wrong to marry and have children is a question that is ascribed observers as one cause of the downfall of Mrs. Augusta, E. Stetson in the councils of the Christian Science Church.

Mrs. Stetson has been denosed by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy as leader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in this city. She has taught more Christian Science pupils than any other member of the faith outside Mrs. Eddy herself.

The Christian Science board, which withdrew Mrs. Stetson's license to teach or to practice Christian Science, declared she was teaching that the church here was the only authorized church in New York.

New York.

At the height of the dispute between the two women leaders, a third woman, Mrs. Della M. Gilbert, now head of a reformed church, announced that Mrs. Stetson taught that marriage was a sin. This, according to Mrs. Gilbert, caused her undoing.

"She thought it was a sin to marry or to have children," announced Mrs. Gilbert, who has been a conspicuous figure at religious meetings at Hotel Plaza. "Many young folks who wanted to be married were forced to hang their heads in shame at the thought. "When some of them have the backbone to marry she puts the "thought of sin" upon them."

The "thought of sin," discussed by Mrs. Gilbert, is one of the things unexplained by Mrs. Stetson's friends. Whether a woman, by her will power, can make others sinful or good is a problem yet to be worked out, skeptics believe.

One of the followers of the woman who reached for Mrs. Eddy's crown, but failed to grasp it, is John C. Thompson,

Eric Wilson, 161 Oak avenue, was committed for trial in Police Court this morning on no less than three charges of obtaining large sums of money by false pretence. He pleaded not guilty.

Attorney. Wilson was complainant in the first charge. He said that he paid $750 for an interest in a patent carpet cleaning machine, which defendant rephe had bought from the pat entee. Prisoner also said a Mr. Munsen and a Mr. Bowerhead had paid $1,250, the former $750, the latter $500, and the four of them would get a patent for themselves. Complainant said he relied absolutely on the representation of the prisoner, though he did not see the power of attorney or power of agreement that prisoner said he held.

Mr. Conover, 39 Elgin avenue, Toronto, said the agreement between him and Erie Wilson expired on June 9, 1908.

"Did prisoner pay you $3,500?"

"No, $600 only."

James E. Day, K. C., 34 Victoria street, Toronto, who is Conover's solicitor, said prisoner paid his client $600. Both parties seemed vague as to what their interests were when Conover called on him, explained the lawyer. Mr. Day said Wilson had power of attorney to sell the patent rights in Hamilton, and wanted to arrange a settlement. There was a third party in the transaction with Wilson and Conover, whose name was Dickson, but he was bought out. Guy Munsen, 22 Ray street north, was complainant. He said his wife paid $750 on June 26th, 1908, to Eric Wilson for an interest in the patent carpet cleaning machine in question. Prisoner, he said, told him there were other Hamiltonians in the deal, and represented himself as buying from Conover for $4,000 in eight shares of $500 a share, the price of one share being to pay his expenses to England. Since then he had received no returns for his money.

Prisoner was committed for trial on that charge.

In the third charge George C. Biggs, $904 James street north, was the complainant. He said on the 16th March he paid $1,500 for shares in a company Prisoner told him that an order for 2,000 machines had been placed with the company, and they intended moving their factory from Winnipeg to Hamilton, and he, complainant, was promised a job. That was the last he heard about the factory.

Prisoner was sent up for trial on that charge also.

POWER QUESTION LAID OVER AGAIN.

Stands For a Few Days at Hon. Beck's Request-Re-division of the Citus

Once more the power question stands would do it was if the power question it was generally believed that was a live issue in January. over. It was generally believed that the matter would be disposed of to-night by the council endorsing the application for a supply of a thousand horse power from the Hydro Commission, but word reached the City Hall this morn ing that it would be impossible to get the form of contract here before to-morrow night. In view of this the meeting of the Power Committee called for 11 o'clock this morning was cancelled. The committee will likely meet on Wednes-day, and the council later in the week reason for the delay is the desire of Hon. Adam Beck to have the commis sion approve of the form of contract before the council deals with it. MP Lobb notified City Solicitor Waddel this morning that the commission would meet to-morrow to take the matter up meet to-morrow to take the matter up.

The principal business for the council to-night is the Finance Committee's recommendation to divide the city into five wards with three aldermen from each. From the way the aldermen are talking this will be voted down and a by-law submitted to the people in January for the division of the city into cight wards with two aldermen from each. The latter plan is favored by the Board of Education and the politicians, who say that cutting the city up into five wards would upset their organizations for Parliamentary elections. A majority of the aldermen are said to favor the eight ward division, which means that next year's council will be composed of twenty-four aldermen, four controllers and the Mayor.

The fact that the council before the end of the week will close a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission promises to dispose of the power question as an issue in the next municipal elections, and even the Hydro-Electric supporters who promised two or three weeks ago that Mayor McLaren was sure to be opposed for a second term admitted to-day that his Worship would have no serious opposition now. Their main hope was in getting ex-Mayor Stewart to line up against McLaren. It is said that Mr. Stewart informed those who were urging him to oppose the Mayor that the only condition on which he

He will stipulate that dogs during those months must be under the control of a responsible person.

There is no reason why the Council should have a long session to-night. The aldermen have already aired their views on the re-division of the city into wards, and that is practically the only business of importance to be dealt with. The intention is to adjourn for a month.

Chairman Peregrine, of the Finance Committee, said to-day that the finance committee of a friendly society with which he is identified authorized him to purchase the $80,000 school debentures at 98, which would have netted the city $104 more than the bid of the Dominion Securities Company. Many lighters and other small craft in the harbor have been sunk or driven ashore. All telegraph wires in the city are down; the electric power service is crippled, and scarcely a tree is left standing.

Torrential rains have fallen cease-lessly during the past two days. At 2 o'clock this morning a storm of tremendous severity, which had gathered to the west, swept down upon the city and for six hours wrought damage similar to that done by the great cyclone of Oct. 17, 1906. The wind tore down telegraph and telephone wires throughout the city, uprooted or broke down every tree in its path, and put out of operation the electric light system, the overhead trolley lines and the many works dependent upon the electric power lants. At 9 o'clock the storm had lessened sufficiently so that some idea of the damage could be had. It is enormous, apparently, but what it will represent in dollars cannot be said as yet. No papers were issued this morning, the newspaper plants being crippled by the floods.

In order to safeguard the life of the weather bureau observer at Sand Key a small island to the southwest of Key West, Chief Moore ordered the man to abandon his post.
