Russian War Correspondents.

On Saturday we pointed out that the news sent from correspondents bore on its face signs that all kinds of street rumors were being sent as genuine news. We pointed out that the story of the decisive Russian victory at Lodz was not confirmed by any of-ficial news from Petrograd, Paris or London. An unpleasant confirmation of cur surmise came to hand last night, when instead of a confirmation of a decisive Russian victory at Lodz, it was officially announced at Berlin that the Corman had occupied Lodz. that the Germans had occupied Lodz. Newspaper correspondents in the Newspaper correspondents in the Eastern theatre of war have earned a most unenviable reputation during the present war. The stories of German army corps surrendering, being routed, and in dire straits have not been confirmed by the Russian War Office. In the earliest stages of the war these correspondents were even worse than they are now, for the number of Austrians they reported killed, wounded and captured was sufficient to reduce to nothing, greater numbers than the Austrians ever had in their army. Indeed, the wonder grew, as the casualties increased, where the Austrians were getting the men to keep up the fight. If it were not that we have the solemn assurance that Vodka has been absolutely barred in Russia, since the war began, we might be inman army corps surrendering, being has been absolutely barred in Russia, since the war began, we might be inclined to hazard the guess that these correspondents reports are written in the Vodka's shops. One matter, however, is absolutely clear, stories of correspondents in Russia about the war cannot be relied on. The Russian war office will not allow any correspondents to go to the front, and it is clear they do not allow them to know what is going on.

A Recognition.

Yesterday at the special meeting of the T. A. Society, Mr. W. O'Brien, Health Inspector, donated a prize of a half soverign, and the Society's Savings' Bank book to the member of the Juvenile Branch who was considered by the Guardians, to be the most hygienic in habits, and most clean and tidy in dress. It was also stipulated by the donor that the boy should be an abstainer from tobacco, especially cigarettes. The award was made to Master Thomas Mollow of Parkers and Master Thomas Molloy, of Parker and Munroe's East End Store. A similar prize has been offered by the same gentleman for the coming year,

Back From the Farm at Rossley's

There is a first class show at Ross-ley's to-night, Kelly and Mack in a rural sketch "Back from the Farm," with songs, dances and instrumenta music. The pictures too are splendid. Mr. Rossley has just engaged for the third annual pantomime, the celebrated tenor Vincent Vernon, character change artist, the man with the voice. Vincent Vernon received his training with the Carl Rosa and his training with the Carl Rosa and Moody Manners operatic company, London, and is the finest singer in vaudeville to-day. His business is the interpretation of songs, and impersonation in character. The Baltimore Star says: Mr. Vincent Vernon a character change artist, and a famous tenor. His opera costumes are beautiful and he is talented to the top notch. Now we will have some singing.

Obituary.

LILIAN HACKETT. On Saturday, at 5 p.m., there passed peacefully to rest the beautiful and sweet young life of Lilian Hack-ett, niece of Mr. and Mrs. U. Rowsell, with whom she had made her home for many years. After an heroic struggle against the dread disease for several months, with all the assistance that medical aid and the help that loving hands could give, it was seen that serious inroads upon her health had made recovery impossible. Congenial, gentle and unselfish, she was a general favorite in the Sabbath

School and Young People's Association of Cochrane St. Church. She be much missed in her late home and by her companions and friends in her social and church life. WILLIAM J. McKAY.

After a very short illness, Mr. William J. McKay died at his late residence, Water Street, yesterday after-noon. The deceased had been only two days confined to his bed though he had been in poor health for some years past. About 9 a.m. yesterday he became suddenly ill and a doctor and priest were summoned. The end came four hours afterwards. Mr. McKay was a well known citizen and at one time was a prominent athlete. He leaves a widow, two daughters and one son to whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy. MRS. AGNES J. EVANS. There passed away at her home, 3 Atlantic Avenue, Saturday, after a this port. brief though painful illness, Mrs. Agnes Josephine Evans, wife of Mr. Robnes Josephine Evans, wife of Mr. Robert E. A Stolen Identity Two Big Films Are

The big two-reel feature, the Crescent Picture Palace begins the week with, is perhaps the best two-reel This great work is produced by the Powers Players Company, and the role of the crank is played by Edwin August, Marx the Crook assumes the identity of Robt. Canton, the son of millionaire, whom he resembles in order to get control of his property. The perfect photography and master-ly acting of the Powers Company make this a picture worth seeing "The Universal Animated Weekly," the most famous in the world, gives us all the news in pictures both in the old world and the new. "Comedian Love" a whole reel of fun, produced by the Eclair Company; the schemes the girl and her lover undertakes to get rid of the father's choice, are awards. ally funny. The Crescent has been ortunate in securing an engagement with Mr. J. O'Neil Farrell, the popular baritone, who will make his first appearance to-day singing the latest

AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.

The Nickel Theatre has another at ractive programme for to-day. There are two two-part films. One is the "Crucible of Fate," by the Vitagraph artists. The scenes are splendid, visualizing a potential plot. A wife's vacillating nature aided by a lack of domestic duties induce her tackble. domestic duties induce her to dabble in amateur dramatics. Forgetting her husband and child she ruins her own life and also her husband's. It is an appealing picture well acted and produced. The other two-part pic-ture is "The Stronger Hand" by the Majestic Companny. It is a sensa-tional description of a fight against a trust, and will appeal to all. The comedy is by the Keystone Co., and is entitled "Twixt Love and Fire." The name Keystone is a guarantee that it will be laughable. There will also be a full reel of Hearst Selig News Pictorial, showing the principal events in the world's history. Arthur C. Huskins will sing two ballads. The first is "I Hear a Thrush at Eve" and the other, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," which he is singing by re quest. No one should miss to-day's performance as it is a splendid one. Wednesday there will be another great feature film by the Gaumont actors entitled "The Imposter." It is in three reels.
