The army worm is creating great havoc in the fields of some farmers in the surrounding townships. The pest came into Middlesex from Elgin county, and was first noticed in Caradoc township, where several fields were visited by them. Asa Waters, of the sixth concession of Caradoc, had a large field of oats destroyed, and his neighbors also suffered. H. Ryckman and S. Ray were also sufferers. They live near Longwood. Corn was the crop that the caterpillars took a fancy to on their farms. The oat field of D. Carroll, of Westminster, was visited, and the grain destroyed. J. Morriss, who works for a farmer on the Governor's road, showed a cob of corn on the market yesterday which had been attacked by the worm. The corn was eaten cleanly off the cob.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 29.-The Ohio River and Panhandle Railroads are the only ones in this vicinity running trains on anything like schedule time, other roads ranging from a complete shut-down to eight hours behind the schedule time on account of the storm. The Cleveland, Loraine and Wheeling was completely closed out by the caving-in of a long tunnel at Fairpoint and the washing away of several sections of the track. It may take week to re-open communication. Denver, Col., July 29.—The fact has just become known here that last Saturday's flood entirely destroyed the Catskill branch of the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Road, forty miles in length, running from Trinidad, Colorado, to the Maxwell land grant in New Mexico. So complete has been the destruction of the roadbed that the receiver said today he thought the old line would be abandoned, and a new survey made over a more desirable as nearly all the railroad ties used in this section of the country come from the vicinity of Catskill. Pittsburg, Pa., July 29.-Tales of death and devastation from the awful storm which swept over Western Pennsylvania Monday night continue to pour in. Four more drownings are reported, and another victim of the Sugra grove accident is not expected to survive the day. This will make the death list fifteen, including the seven drowned at Cecil. The damage to property was particularly heavy in Washington and Fayette counties, and will probably reach a million dollars.

General Manager Hays, of the G. T. R., has under contemplation a scheme involving the removal of employes from Point Edward to Stratford. When the company obtained control of the Great Western many engines, with their crews, were removed from Stratford and St. Thomas to Point Edward. It has now been found that about $20,000 a year is spent in running the engines from Sarnia to the roundhouse at the former place. The present proposal is to transfer the 200 or 300 employes, who now live at Sarnia and Point Edward, to Stratford. It is claimed that great saving to the company and increased com fort to the men will result, seeing that repairs could more conveniently be performed at Stratford, owing to the comotive shops being there, and bewhich the men are sent is from Sarnai, via the Great Western and other southern lines to York or Fort Erie, and then home, via Stratford.
