To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:
A recent issue contained a letter over the signature of "Veritas," in which the writer made several very serious, and as I hope to show, very unfounded charges against the

He first of all brings a general charge against the society, of paying "unwarrantably large salaries" to its "too many agents and officers," and of excessive "expenses in connection with the depository at Torone."

in connection with the depository at Toronto."

He then alleges more specifically "that the receipts for the past year were $39.40164, and of this sum $13,54637, or 33 per cent., is absorbed in salaries and expenses; and, further, that not less than $10,59138 is spent in salaries alone."

Now the only item given correctly by Veritas is the income of the society, but let us see what the facts are as regards the salaries. They are as follows: For agency and secretary, $4,77827. For depository and assistants, $2,40844 together; $7,18811, instead of $10,59138 as alleged by Veritas."
