LIVE HOGS WERE A LITTLE EASIER

Sold on London Market Today for $8 Per Cwt. Slight Drop.

FRUIT WAS VERY SCARCE

New Oats Brought $1.15 Per Cwt. While Old Oats Sold for $1.40.

There was a very fair Monday market this morning. Over 25 loads of hogs were offered for sale and found a ready market. The price varied from $12.50 to $15, according to the quality, some few loads bringing the higher price, but the majority running about $14 to $14.50 for good quality.

The supply of oats offered was very small, only two loads being marketed. A load of new oats, rather poor in quality, brought $1.15, while a load of old oats sold for $1.40.

Live hogs were somewhat easier this morning, selling for $8. There was a good supply.

There was practically no fruit on the market, and what little there was remained at the same prices. The Crawford crop is about over, and the Long-horn and Smack peaches will soon be beginning. Some of the former were on the market on Saturday. They are both very good canning varieties, especially the former.
