It now has been virtually decided that the an nexed provinces will be absorbed in some manner into the general unity of the empire, and no longer administered under the abnormal conditions prevail ing since the war of 1870, according to high administrative officials here. What form this change will take is as yet uncertain. The discussion of the problem was one of the reasons for Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's recent visit to the south, Germany's states and Prussia being the most interested parties to the

30 AIR COMBATS IN A SINGLE DAY ON BRITISH FRONT

Better Weather Conditions Keep Airmen Busy.

LOSES MACHINES

One British Aviator Attacks Eight of Enemy and Brings Down Two.

LONDON, June 18.-11:28 p.m.-The British official communication dealing with the fighting in France and Belday, says: "In the better weather conditions yesterday a great deal of flying was done. There was a marked increase in the activity of hostile aircraft. One of our machines attempted to intercept a hostile reconnaissance, consisting of eight machines, driving one machine down close behind the enemy trenches. Our machine was trying to cut off the remainder and engaged the rear machine and drove it down a few miles behind the enemy's lines. It all there were 30 air combats, but no other decisive results. "Except for aerial activity the las 24 hours have been quiet. During the night one of our patrols east of Armentieres broke up a German working party by a bomb attack. The enemy exploded three small mines at variou points between Arras and La Basse Canal. No damage was done. There were no artillery engagements, particularly, to report, and there has been no infantry action

Activity Friday Night. The British official statement issued last night reads:

"There was a considerable amount of activity last night in various parts of our front. The enemy bombarded our trenches vigorously at many points from the River Bouve to Wieltje about midnight. This bombardment was ac complished by two ineffective discharges of gas westward of Vimy

To be more than a mere "scrap of paper," a guarantee must be absolute—and backed by a concern able and willing to make it good. The General's guarantee is not only absolute; it is backed by a business operating the world's largest roofing mills, and making one-third of all the roll roofing made in America. That's the guarantee behind Certain-teed

Roofing The guarantee is for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). There is no evasion about it-no attempt to substitute a high-sounding something "just as good." There is no substitute for a real guarantee. You get an absolute guarantee on CERTAIN-TEED because the General knows that no better roofing can be made. Its raw materials and method of manufacture are both certified by the General's board of graduate chemists, and he knows he's taking no chance in guaranteeing them to you. That's what "CERTAIN-TEED" means-certified and guaranteed. Experience has proven that the guarantee is conservative, and that CER-TAIN-TEED will outlast the period of guarantee. The roofing felt, as it comes bone dry from the rollers, is given a thorough saturation of a special blend of soft asphalts, the formula of the General's board of expert chemists. It is then given a harder coating of another blend of asphalts. This keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing. Roofing is impervious to the elements only so long as the asphalt saturation lasts. CERTAIN-TEED retains its soft saturation, and is in good condition for years after the harder, drier kinds have become useless.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-covered shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building. CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type General Roofing Manufacturing Company
