TWENTY-ONE DEAD FRANK BARNED ADMITS IS TOLL OF PLAGUE

Doctors Determine Los Angeles Scourge as Pneumonia— Many Stricken.

Associated Press Despatch. Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 2.-Two more deaths and the addition to the health department list of two fatal cases, previously withheld because of disputed diagnosis, tonight increased the official roster of pneumonic plague victims in Los Angeles to 21. Two other deaths were reported today of men known to have been working in the infected district, but physcians said they were not convinced that the cause of death was pneumonic plague, and the names, therefore, were not written on the list of today's plague victims.

They were Father M. Drualla, a
Catholic priest, said to have administered extreme unction to several sufferers in the infected quarter and Emmett McLaughlin, an ambulance driver. Ten patients were being treated for pneumonic plague in the isolation ward of the county hospital, and three others were quar-antined for observation with no positive diagnosis.

London Man Wanted On Murder Charge Confesses Crime, Police Superintendent Declares-Captured On Saturday, and After Denials Finally Admits His Identity.

WILL BE BROUGHT TO CANADA IN FEW DAYS

Frank Barned, London man, wanted in Niagara Falls for the murder of Smylie Muirhead a month ago, and who was apprehended Saturday by police of New Orleans, Louisiana, has admitted his identity and commission of the crime, according to a special despatch received by The Advertiser from the superintendent of police at New Orleans.

The message received last night read as follows: "Frank Barned admits his identity and commission of the crime.-Signed, Guy R. Molony, superintendent police."

Arrest Confirmed.

Confirmation of the arrest of Barned and his admission of identity was received also by The Advertiser from Charles Forrester, superintendent of the London division of the Canadian National Railways, who is attending a railwaymen's convention at New Orleans. In reply to a request from The Advertiser that he identify the prisoner, he wired as follows:

"Frank Barned, confined New Orleans, admits identity; expects to return to Canada in few days."

In communication with Chief of Police Stephen Welch of Niagara Falls last night The Advertiser was Informed that either Niagara Falls police or provincial police officers would leave for New Orleans the first of this week to bring Barned back. Chief Welch learned of Barned's apprehension in New Orleans on Saturday morning by a telegram from the chief of police of that city. The wire stated that a man answering to Barned's description, contained circulars broadcasted throughout United States, had been arrested. He was travelling under the name of Harry Van Stone. No other details of his capture were given.

Identification Easy, Barned's identification is made easy by the fact that he wears a brace on his right leg and walks with a decided limp. Chief Welch had a minute description of the wanted man printed in circular form, and, working on the theory that Barned would in all probability make for the extreme southern or western states, sent the circulars to almost every olice department in those districts. Barned was arrested Saturday, exactly five weeks after he is alleged to have driven his automobile, while in a fury, onto the sidewalk at Epworth Circle, Niagara Falls, and ran down three people, killing Smylie Muirhead. Barned's wife, Ruth, was down three people, killing Smylic Muirhead. Barned's wife, Ruth, was seriously injured. She is still confined in hospital recovering from a fractured leg. There's a well-known principle which most successful newspapers follow. It's this: That their readers enjoy seeing names in print.

And there's a little machine on the Main Floor just now that's working busily and hard for almost exactly the same reason.

It's the Engravograph, that recentlyinvented automatic device which provides eight points out of the nine in that famous old adage, "Possession is Nine Points of the Law.

On all the little articles that are distinctly one's own, there's nothing that can place so firm a seal of proprietorship as the Engravograph! For if there's pleasure in seeing a name in print, there's not only pleasure but convenience attached to seeing one's own name deeply and unalterably engraved by means of the Engravograph.

At any rate, that's the conclusion I drew when I visited the stationery counter the other morning, and now my fountain pen is bristling with a "Judith" that stands out as plainly as the traffic signal at the corner of Dundas and Richmond

You'd be interested in watching the Engravograph. It provides quite a fascinating little performance, with its deft, sure movement. Fountain pens, combs, compacts, all sorts of things go into the little groove at the top, and when they emerge there is the owner's name, neatly cut right into the material!

The Engravograph is an impartial machine. It divides all its customers into just two classes, those who purchase in the store and those who don't. If you belong to the former, it works for you with just a "please" and "thank you." And if you're of the latter, it makes a modest charge of only 25c for making your
