the United States funding bill will be fixed at 3½ instead of 3 per cent. as once pro-posed. Many believe that 3 per cent. bonds to the amount of the national debt could be floated at par, but failure would mean an impairment of public credit, and the duty of placing specie resumption beyond doubt would be worth ten, times the difference between 3 and 3½. If the bill passes at 3½ it is likely that almost in the whole issue of bonds can find purchasers in the home mar-ket. Moncy is plentiful now, and invest-ment in the funds is sure. PARENTAL ORUELTY. If that is a true story told of a Moore township farmer's treatment of his five-year-old boy, the man ought to be brought before the judge of his county and sentenced to the tripod and the lash. It surpasses be-lief that in this civilized country any father should do a thing so outrageous as to throw his own child into the snow on the high-way, and leave him there to perish. But after all there is too much of brutality exhibited by parents in the treatment of children, and a severe lesson to one now and then is urgently meded.
